Reds Rendezvous In Space

MOSCOW (CP)—The Soviet Union today launched Soyuz 5, carrying three cosmonauts, apparently to rendezvous with fourth cosmonaut, Vladimir Shatlov, who hurtled into earth orbit Tuesday aboard Soyuz 4.

Tass said the three rookie cosmonauts aboard Soyuz 5 all "feel fine."

They are ship commander Boris Volynov, flight engineer Alexei Yeliseyev and research engineer Yevgeny Khrunov.

Radio Moscow said the two spaceships have begun to carry out "joint experiments." Aims of the dual manoeuvres were not immediately made public.

This is the first time since June, 1963, that the Soviet Union has attempted a space feat involving two manned ships. It is also the first Soviet mission with four cosmonauts in orbit simultaneously.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the new ship was placed "on a calculated orbit around the earth," and observers here felt the two ships would possibly link up in space.

Radio Moscow said Soyuz 5 established radio contact with Shatalov aboard Soyuz 4 within seconds of going into orbit.

Both craft are within sight of each other.

Soyuz is the Russian word for "union."

Manned Space Station?

BOCHUM (Reuters) — West German space expert Heinz Kaminski, director of the Bochum tracking station, said today that the Soviet Union apparently is preparing to build a manned space station in earth orbit.

He predicted that the launching of the three-man spaceship Soyuz 5 today to join the Soyuz 4 craft already in orbit would be followed by a novel rendezvous experiment.

Secret Constitutional Talks

Retain Monarchy!

OTTAWA (CP) — A republic instead of a monarchy and a congressional legislative system instead of a Parliament, met little enthusiasm at secret federal-provincial constitutional talks in the past year.

This is revealed by confidential reports of the continuing committee prepared for the conference resumption next month.

The reports also show that changes were proposed for the Senate and the Supreme Court of Canada.

A proposal to change Canada's name to "The Canadian Union" is included among a variety of suggestions, some discussed in detail and some not yet examined.

On the name change, the committee says the aim was to "better reflect the nature of Canada as a federation of states and an association of two nations."

The committee of top public servants representing the 11 governments took a preliminary look at a republican government and congressional system, evidently proposed by Quebec.

In reporting on the monarchy versus a republic, the report says:

"These propositions seem to indicate that while opposition to a change would exist in some parts of the country, other parts feel that serious consideration should at least be given to the alternative.

"It seems apparent that symbolic factors associated with these forms are of great importance in Canada."

And on a congressional versus a parliamentary system, the report says:

"Again these propositions seem to suggest that views across the country vary, with considerable opposition to change, but with a view in some quarters that possible advantage of a different system should at least be explored."

In the committee's debate, a suggestion was made that one form might be preferable for the federal government and the other for certain provinces.

Snow To Fall Overnight

The snow which started in Victoria this morning likely will accumulate tonight.

Weather officials say depths should vary from one to six inches depending on locations.

Northern sections of the Saanich peninsula and higher elevations are in line for the heaviest snow shovelling.

Warmer temperatures Thursday should hasten the melt with mixed rain and snow showers.

Unstable air for the past week has brought intermittent snow to almost all parts of the island except Victoria. Now a low pressure area sitting off the coast has split and is bringing air from the north and northeast.

This will bring temperatures down and slow the melt until Thursday when snow showers may persist but should melt on contact.

FILL OF SNOW

Elsewhere on the Island and lower mainland, residents have had their fill of snow. Nanaimo has 11 inches on the ground, Comox-Courtenay area still has an inch and Port Alberni now has 33 inches and shovelled walks resemble tunnels.

Heavy snow brought down a storage shed roof there Tuesday and some residents were fearful homes might collapse. Fuel delivery is a problem, particularly for the elderly.

On the bright side, police have reserved four hills for sleigh-riding — ironically on the same day that schools were reopened. Board officials said snow has stopped and city roads are open and no further school interruptions are anticipated.

SNOWING HEAVILY

Tofino still has 11 inches. A 14-inch fall closed Tofino-Port Alberni highway. Duncan and Cowichan area generally had only a dusting of snow overnight but it was snowing heavily in all areas at press time.

Duncan RCMP have asked that all trucks use chains because some with snow tires have been jack-knifing on hills.

At Port Alice snow and ice were blamed for a school bus

Nigeria Ready To Talk Peace

WILSON URGES TALKS IN '70, VENUE CHANGE

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson suggested today the next prime ministers' conference be held next year in another country.

While several countries have offered their capitals, Canada hasn't made up its mind whether to make an offer, an official said.

Wilson's suggestion came during the morning session.

Prime Minister Trudeau attended the morning session but an official said he didn't offer Ottawa as a possbile site for the next conference. Kenya and Barbados offered their capitals.

Biafrans Approached —Trudeau

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau said tonight that Nigeria has informed Canadian officials that it is prepared to negotiate with the secessionist state of Biafra without conditions.

He said Canadian officials, on his instructions, approached Biafran authorities here after a group of Commonwealth prime ministers urged Nigeria to negotiate.

The meeting of the prime ministers took place just before noon today.

Red China Role Urged By PMs

Times News Services

LONDON — General agreement that Red China "has the right and duty to participate in full in all the world's efforts towards peace" and that Peking should be able to "take its rightful place in the international community" was expressed by the Commonwealth leaders in today's official communique.

This was seen as a call for worldwide recognition of the Peking government.

Australia and some of its friends added the qualifier that the people of Nationalist China should have the right of "an independent existence" if they choose.

A majority urged that any British-Rhodesian settlement should be put to the test of a popular referendum or some similar democratic process.

ASSURANCE GIVEN

British Prime Minister Wilson met their call with an assurance that a referendum could be one of the methods used to test the reaction of all black and white Rhodesians to any deal he may reach with rebel Premier Ian Smith, the white-minority leader.

The passage on Rhodesia and southern Africa generally, packing politically the most explosive issues of the eight-day talks, dominated the document.

But the communique covered most other aspects of the discussions by the heads of government — from the war in Vietnam to Guyana's feud with Venezuela over disputed frontiers.

They expressed hope that the French Force To Aid Lebanon?

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle and his cabinet met here today amid growing speculation that France might send a military force to Lebanon.

Such a move probably would prove highly unpopular with Frenchmen, many of whom are still indignant with the authoritarian way in which de Gaulle last week clamped a total ban on arms shipments to Israel following an Israeli raid on Beirut airport Dec. 28.

The French foreign office said that France "would not stay indifferent if Lebanon is threatened"—a statement interpreted by political observers in Paris as at least a moral commitment to help the Arab country in the event of an Israeli attack.

France administered Lebanon under a League of Nations mandate from 1920 to 1941.

The statement confirmed similar remarks made Monday in Beirut by former French information minister Georges Gorse after a meeting with Lebanese President Charles Helou.

Gorse ostensibly went to Beirut to open a concert hall but before leaving Paris he met de Gaulle and his statement gave rise to speculation in Lebanon that France might station a military force there.

Crew Errors Blamed For Jetliner Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — Crew errors were the probable cause of the crash of a Boeing 707 airliner at Vancouver last Feb. 7 that claimed two lives, the transport department announced today.

The report of transport department investigators said the aircraft captain, Albert Edward Burkhalter, 49, failed to evaluate weather information and to discontinue a landing attempt when visibility was too poor.

The airliner, a Standard Airways plane operated for Canadian Pacific, crashed on landing at Vancouver International Airport on a flight from Honolulu.

The report says there was "recorded evidence of dissension" between the captain and First Officer Thomas Harold Johnson, 37, during the approach and landing.

Although the crew was advised 15 minutes before the accident that visibility was zero at Vancouver, adequate preparations were not made in the event they could not see to land and would have to circle the area, the report says.

The investigators found that the flight crew had been on duty for about 17 hours when the accident occurred, and had been without sleep for about 21 hours.

"It is possible that a degree of fatigue was an element in this accident," their report says.

The aircraft was operated by Standard Airways of Seattle, through agreement with Canadian Pacific, as Canadian Pacific flight 322 from Honolulu to Vancouver.

The report noted that First Officer Johnson, who had limited flying experience, suggested that Captain Burkhalter make the approach to the Vancouver airport. But the captain indicated that the first officer should do the landing.

The lane made a faulty landing, left the runway and rammed an airport building after striking several small aircraft. An airline cabin attendant and an airport employee were killed. One flight crew member and 17 passengers were injured.

JAIL TERM FOR 2 CONVICTIONS

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson today indicated he is intensifying his crackdown on flagrantly erring motorists.

He said he has recommended to the federal government that the Criminal Code be amended to provide mandatory jail sentences for a second conviction of driving while a licence is under suspension.

Mr. Peterson said he also has asked the Motor Vehicles Branch to look into the possibility of increasing provincial penalties for similar situations.

Record U.S. Budget, Cut in War Spending

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—President Johnson today forecast a 12 per cent cut in Vietnam war spending as he presented his final federal budget, calling for record spending totaling $195,300,000,000.

The outgoing president said his decision to end the bombing of North Vietnam would help trim military and aid costs of the Asian war for the first time—by nearly $3,500,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Johnson announced the Vietnam economy plan in submitting his final budget to congress, just five days before retiring from the White House. It was the first balanced federal budget since 1960.

He predicted a $3,400,000,000 surplus for the 1969-70 financial year, and said the balance sheet for the current year, 1968-69, also would yield a surplus of about $2,400,000,000.

Johnson's projections — reversing a post-war record $25,200,000,000 deficit in 1967-68 — were based on plans to continue a 10-per-cent income tax surcharge, enacted last year to check growing inflation.

Total government outlays for 1969-70 were estimated at $195,300,000,000, up $11,600,000,000 over the current year and an all-time record. Budget receipts were projected at $198,700,000,000.

Johnson allocated $81,500,000,000 for total defence spending, an increase of $500,000,000. Foreign military aid is planned to stay at the current level, $375,000,000.

Johnson called on Congress to vote for new welfare programs costing nearly $8,000,000,000.

SOCIAL SECURITY HIKE

His most striking new proposal was for legislation to increase social security benefits an average of 13 per cent with higher payroll levies to pay for them.

There would be a basic 10 per cent increase for all 25,000,000 Americans now on Social Security, an increase to $80 from $55 in the monthly minimum payment, and a $100 minimum for individuals who have paid social security taxes for at least 20 years.

To finance this, the president recommended raising the taxable wage base to $9,000 from the present $7,800 and advancing by one year, to Jan. 1, 1970, the next scheduled jump in the payroll tax rate for both employer and employee to 5.2 per cent from 4.8 per cent.

Johnson proposed that Medicare be extended to 2,000,000 disabled persons, that an additional $2,000,000,000 be put into the state-run Medicaid program of health care for indigent families.

PEACE HOPES BRIGHTER

In a farewell to the Congress Tuesday night President Johnson declaied that prospects for peace in Vietnam "are better today" than at any time since U.S. intervention more than four years ago.

Speaking of "challenge and opportunity" facing the United States, Mr. Johnson took pride in the domestic accomplishments of his more than five years in the White House. He coupled the pride with a warning that to break the unfulfilled promises of his administration "would be a tragedy for our country."

There was no partisan word, however, in the Johnson finale. There was praise by name for Republican and Democratic presidents and congressional leaders as the president recalled his first appearance in the halls of Congress as a doorkeeper 38 years ago.

There was good news for members of Congress, a recommendation for a salary boost from the current $35,000 a year to $42,500 plus "an adequate allowance for official expenses."

The one new domestic proposal was for creation of an urban development bank, a scheme

Find Plane Wreckage

COLD LAKE, Alta. (CP)—Search crews have found the wreckage of a missing CF-104 Starfighter aircraft about 50 miles west of Cold Lake, Alta. Fate of the pilot, Lieut. R. B. Kaiser, of Campbell River, B.C., was not known.

Grain Delay Probed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Walter Weir has sent a government representative to Vancouver to investigate reports of a "serious holdup of grain shipments." He told a press conference today that Agriculture Minister J. Douglas Watt has gone to Vancouver to look into reports that 20 ships were waiting to be loaded with wheat.

Youth Jumps From Ferry

Search and rescue authorities have called off a search for a 16-year-old youth who jumped overboard from a B.C. Ferry between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay late Tuesday afternoon.

They identified the youth as David Chou, son of Dr. L. Y. Chou of Vancouver.

A B.C. Ferry Authority spokesman said the youth went overboard when the ferry was about two miles out of the Tsawwassen terminal. The vessel, Queen of Esquimalt, doubled back several times before proceeding to Swartz Bay.

Four ships, including the Coast Guard cutter Racer, and two helicopters joined the search but gave up after three hours.

Witnesses said the youth, a Grade 11 student at Shawnigan Lake School, stripped off his clothing, jumped overboard and began swimming towards the Tsawwassen pier.

He is presumed drowned.

25 Killed In Carrier Blasts, Fire

HONOLULU (Reuters) — The search continued in the Pacific today for possible survivors blasted overboard by fire and explosions which killed at least 25 men aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise Tuesday.

In Pearl Harbor, navy experts probed the damaged areas of the Enterprise under the glare of floodlight.

Capt. Kent Lee, 45, commander of the stricken vessel—the world's biggest warship—said 25 men were known to have been killed, about 85 injured and 17 other of the 4,600-man crew were unaccounted for after the fire which occurred at sea 75 miles southeast of Hawaii.

At least 15 aircraft were destroyed out of about 30 on deck at the time of the disaster, and others were damaged.

The ship's eight nuclear reactors were not involved in the accident.

Lee told reporters on returning to port that the fires began with an explosion in the vicinity of an F-4 Phantom jet on the afterflight deck, about 100 feet from the stern of the 1,123-foot long ship.

'CAVEMEN' LIVED THE LONGEST DAY

NICE (Reuters)—After five months of living in a deep cave, two Frenchmen surfaced Wednesday thinking the date was Nov. 15.

Without clocks or time checks with the surface, they adopted a 48-hour cycle as their routine "day" in the natural cavern 200 feet underground.

Experiment organizer Michel Siffre said the men were awake 36 hours and slept 12 in the belief all this was done in 24 hours.

They had contact with the surface by telephone. Most of the time they wore nine electrodes in contact with their bodies to register physical and psychological reactions which were recorded above ground.

Attendants carried food part of the way into the cave, the experimenters left their plastic tents to get it.

Siffre said he believes a 96-hour rhythm, including 74 hours of activity and 22 hours of unbroken sleep, can be attained.

Philippe Englander, 28, said he read 400 books. Blinking behind thick, smoked glasses against daylight, Englander said: "The worst was the humidity and the impossibility of talking with anyone."

His cavern mate, Jacques Chabert, 30, encamped 100 yards away, read about 100 books on sociology. He said "the certainty that the experiment will be useful to man helped me to go through with it."

Unity Included In Objectives

OTTAWA (CP) — Cultural equality, linguistic duality and Canadian unity are identified among eight basic objectives of confederation in confidential reports prepared for next month's constitutional conference.

The conference of provincial premiers and the prime minister is asked by the conference's continuing committee to express views on a list of eight basic objectives.

They are:

—To promote Canadian social, cultural and economic development, and the general welfare of and equality of opportunity for all Canadians.

—To promote the full develppment of all regions of Canada.

—To promote Canadian unity.

—To ensure cultural equality for the two founding linguistic communities or two nations.

—To ensure the fullest development of Canada's linguistic duality.

—To develop a nation in which all Canadians can find anywhere in Canada full satisfaction in their citizenship and maximum enjoyment from their particular linguistic and cultural heritage.

—To ensure the fullest realization of basic rights and freedoms of all Canadians.

—To maximize the contribution of Canadians to world peace and security and to promote the social, cultural and economic progress of the world society.

The report notes "sharp differences" among committee members, representing the 11 governments, about the objectives themselves and the exact meanings of such expressions as "cultural equality."

It suggests that the premiers and prime minister may want to take a general statement of basic objectives as their starting joint for discussing the aims and goals of Canadian society.

Rights Should Not Be Written Provisions

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial and federal representatives are generally agreed that the right to work, the right to social security and the right to education have no place as written provisions of Canada's constitution.

This is revealed in a confidential report prepared for next month's resumption of the constitutional conference.

The report also outlines differences of opinion ranging from outright opposition to agreement in principle on the federal government's proposed charter of human rights.

The report, prepared by the continuing committee of officials set up at last year's constitutional conference, says the federal charter proposal and some suggestions of provincial governments involve writing economic and social rights into the constitution.

"Such rights might be considered to include the right to work, the right to just conditions of employment, the right to an adequate standard of living, the right to social security, the right to education and the right to rest and leisure.

"It seems to be generally accepted that it would be unrealistic to think of entrenching such rights in a constitution.

"Instead it was thought that such rights might be declared as objectives which the country would strive to realize."

turning on its side Tuesday. Forty-five children escaped with nothing more than scratches.

At Nitinat where a one-room school closed last week the teacher is still there. Mrs. Emily Garnett, who lives 10 miles from school, moved in before the closure, with a cot and food supplies. While waiting return of her classes she is catching up on bookwork.

Schools are remaining closed in Caycuse, Nitinat, Honeymoon Bay Mesachie Lake, Lake Cowichan and Paldi, 1,650 pupils in all.

STREETS IMPASSABLE

Vancouver streets were often impassable Tuesday and some 10,000 pupils were told to stay home on the lower mainland. There have been many power failures and chains are essential on most highways leading to the interior.

Closer to home, sanding crews were keeping the Malahat open. One driver reported the highway slippery in places Tuesday evening. He said he saw no police checking tires and numerous cars driving too fast for safety, several of them with one light out. He met a Victoria lumber truck with no tail lights functioning.

Colwood police reported a two-inch fall on the Malahat early today.

CREWS ON SHIFTS

In Saanich, engineer Neville Life said the municipality has started snow removal crews on three eight-hour shifts. If the fall reaches three inches, three ploughs and two graders will turn out, followed by sanding crews.

Today's snowy outlook caused postponement of several evening classes earlier slated to begin tonight and Thursday.

Delayed one week are evening classes in Chinese cooking, wine making, bridge, yoga, bookkeeping, bedside care and popular guitar.

Meantime, Greater Victoria and District Safety Council issued a new warning to motorists to use their lights during snow flurries.

Navy Veteran Of Far East Dies at 54

Funeral services will be held in St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt, Thursday, at 1:30 p.m. for Lt.-Cmdr. Ian Ernest Alcock, DSC, who died in the Veterans Hospital Monday at the age of 54.

Born in Victoria, Commander Alcock won the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery in the Far Eastern theatre with the Royal Canadian Navy during the Second World War.

Since the war he had lived at 2464 Windsor Road, Esquimalt.

Commander Alcock is survived by the widow, Betty, and a son, Philip, at home; and a brother, Harvey, in Victoria.

Padre J. A. Roberts will officiate at the funeral service to be followed by interment in the Veterans' Cemetery.

Paris peace talks will lead to "a just, lasting and genuine peace" in Vietnam. Before this formulation was agreed Australia and India had tussled over whether there should be a reference to the right of the South Vietnamese people to elect their own government without outside interference.

In the end this matter was dropped. Australia wanted this reference in but India wanted to add that the final outcome should comply with the 1954 Geneva agreements.

On disarmament an Indian-British disagreement emerged over priorities. The Indians, backed by some African states, favored action to end the arms race starting with measures of general disarmament and coming down to particular projects such as the treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons. Britain preferred the process to begin with specific agreements which would clear the way for more general disarmament measures.

The result was that India and others withheld their support for the nuclear non-proliferation treaty on grounds it would not safeguard the security of non-nuclear countries.

As the conference concluded, Wilson made a surprise, last-minute attempt to bring both sides in the Nigerian war together. He called a private noontime meeting of Commonwealth leaders where over a gin and tonic they had a chance to explore peace possibilities with Chief Awolowo of Nigeria.

There appeared to be the likelihood that federal and Biafran representatives may agree to meet in London during the next few days but there was not much hope among informed sources that the meeting will produce a peace formula.

Most sources agreed that this year's conference produced a lot of talk but did little in the way of firm decision-making to strengthen the association.

under which a congressionally-chartered organization would issue taxable bonds and lend the money "at reduced rates" to communities for schools, hospitals, parks and other public facilities.

As to Vietnam the president stuck to generalities in what was the shorter section of his address, to the joint session in the House chamber.

Despite the expression of hope for peace, Mr. Johnson added his familiar word of caution by declaring that "there may be hard fighting before a settlement is reached; but it will yield no victory to the Communists."

As to Soviet-American relations, the president declared that "we should resume" the talks on limiting offensive and defensive nuclear missiles.

Despite what Mr. Johnson called the Russians' "brutal invasion of Czechoslovakia" and the fact that "totalitarianism is no less odious to us," he said the quest for peace requires reaching agreements with the Soviet Union "where the interests of both nations, and of world peace, are served."

"We hope," he added, "that time will bring a Russia less afraid of diversity and individual freedom."

Fifty More New Canadians

Fifty Victoria residents will be sworn in as Canadian citizens at a citizenship ceremony in Victoria Law Courts Monday, Jan. 27, at 2 p.m.

The welcoming address will be given by insurance man Fred McGregor and the new Canadians will be entertained at a coffee party in Christ Church Memorial Hall by Mrs. A. B. Carson, president, and members of Greater Victoria Citizenship Council.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A low pressure area along the British Columbia coast is weakening but still has enough strength to cause fairly frequent snow showers on parts of the south coast today. The southwesterly circulation from the system is pumping moist air over the cold Arctic air of the interior and early this morning it was snowing in Penticton, Kamloops and parts of the central interior. As the low continues to weaken precipitation will decrease and Thursday should see only a few showers on the coast and widely scattered snow flurries in the interior. No significant changes in temperatures are expected in any region.

Keep Control

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Classes remained suspended at the University of Moncton today as students, seeking more financial aid for the institution, continued to control a key campus building.

Working in shifts, about 125 students guarded doors to the science and administrative building with fire hoses while administrative officials and fellow students outside pondered the protest's outcome.

U.S. Troops Hit Back At Ambush of Convoy

SAIGON (Reuters) — American infantry killed 122 North Vietnamese in a five-hour fight after the guerrillas ambushed a U.S. truck convoy near Tay Ninh city, an American military spokesman said today.

The North Vietnamese troops opened fire from ambush positions in flat, wooded country six miles east of Tay Ninh, 58 miles northwest of Saigon, Tuesday morning as the convoy was moving toward the temple city.

CHURCH HEAD AGAINST MOVE

TORONTO (CP) — The moderator of the United Church of Canada and the inter-church committee on Protestant-Roman Catholic relations said Tuesday they are against appointment of an envoy to the Vatican.

Dr. Robert B. McClure, first lay moderator of the United Church, said in a statement that one of Canada's greatest problems is unity—"especially between Quebec and the western provinces, and this is bound to be a divisive move."

Prime Minister Trudeau said Saturday in an interview with the CBC in London England, that he will discuss with the Pope in Rome Thursday the possibility of Canadian establishment of diplomatic ralations with the Vatican.

'Vatican Link Diplomatic act'

By IAN MacDONALD
Times Correspondent

LONDON — Canada's diplomatic recognition of the Vatican seems as good as settled.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp heightened this view at a press conference here Tuesday. He agreed that the situation is similar to that of Red China—and recognition of it is a clearly stated objective of the government.

Prime Minister Trudeau is scheduled to jet out of London early Thursday following the windup of the Commonwealth prime ministers conference for Rome and an audience with Pope Paul.

They will discuss recognition of the Vatican. Prime Minister Trudeau stated here earlier this week he favored the idea and it is assumed that it would be supported by the Pope.

Sharp said he believed the cabinet discussion at which the matter will be decided will lean on the outcome of Trudeau's audience at the Vatican.

The external affairs minister said he also believed that the move would be recognized by Canadians "not as a religious act but as a diplomatic act."

NO GREAT FLASHBACK

The idea of Vatican recognition has been considered by government in the past but shied away from because of possible reaction by non-Catholics. But the government apparently feels that there would be no great lashback now if it takes the step that many other countries have done.

Sharp said recognition was a useful step in promoting Canada's external interests, and that the Vatican is a good source of world information and a centre of influence.

Sharp wound-up two days of talks in London with 21 Canadian ambassadors in Europe. Their meeting was keyed to the government's review of defence and external policies.

The minister said their talks ranged over everything from NATO to the future of Canada's trade and commercial policies in Europe.

He said the ambassadors reported that Europeans are more curious than concerned about Canada's look at its future role in NATO.

He also said they discussed the changing political pattern in Europe, appreciating that the growing cohesion of the Common Market will mean more direct contact with the organization itself rather than the countries involved.

While the Cabinet Struggles

THE POLLUTION CONTROL situation in British Columbia has been laid open to further doubts and questionings by the outcome of the cabinet struggle between ministers responsible for the Pollution Control Board and the Health Department. Apparently Mr. Williston, heading the Lands, Forests and Water Resources Department, has won out over Health Minister Loffmark, and the province must wait still further to learn what standards of pollution control, if any, are to be set.

Since Mr. Loffmark had given us to understand that he intended to enforce fairly stringent conditions, particularly with respect to the discharge of municipal sewage into the sea, there is fear that his defeat may mean lower standards both for sewage and the disposal of industrial wastes. In view of mounting public concern over the deterioration of our environment as a result of soiling and contamination of air, water and land, it will be a tragic development if the government now falls far short of what should be done.

Mr. Williston is known for his championship of industrial development and may be expected to show reluctance to impose anti-pollution restrictions which could affect forest or mineral production. On the other hand he has spoken strongly in favor of reserving Canadian water resources for Canada, and presumably would wish those resources to be maintained in acceptable condition.

The present cabinet situation leaves the municipalities waiting for direction on their sewerage programs. Mr. Loffmark had been preparing standards for waste disposal which would have required sewage treatment plants for all new outfalls. This has had the effect of forcing such areas as Saanich to postpone sewerage construction plans, which in turn has delayed development of new housing lands, until the exact nature and cost of the proposed treatment could be learned.

The whole provincial question has been seriously delayed — and we are far behind many other areas in determining our control needs and establishing safeguards. The government should act forthwith to set up its standards and expose them to public view and criticism. We must be sure that we do not add further to the pollution problem which is mounting everywhere. Now is a better time to clarify the situation than later when both the problem and the cost of rectifying it will have greatly increased.

Another Rebuff to Social Credit

WITH CONSIDERABLE ELATION the NDP has hailed retention of the Burnaby-Willingdon seat in Monday's provincial byelection as another index of public support which will eventually place the party in power. The successful candidate, Mr. James Lorimer, collected very nearly half of all votes cast in a four-way contest. The Liberals also have taken heart from an increased percentage of the total vote, although their standard-bearer ran third. Both view the result as fresh evidence of Social Credit's decline.

Considering that the government was able to hold only one seat in the last six byelections, lost one to the NDP and failed to eliminate opposition candidates in the others, the concept of Social Credit on the wane is entirely credible. But while the party was apparently losing attraction in Burnaby-Willingdon, the dissidents have shown no clear trend. Nor does the result forecast the electorate's reaction to the "goodies" Mr. Bennett may be expected to dangle before the voters when he next goes to the people, representing the issue as a choice between Social Credit and socialism.

Dr. Pat McGeer, the provincial Liberal leader, recognizes the need to attract more Social Credit defectors if he is to wrest the private enterprise banner from the government's aging hands. The Liberals' impressive increase in percentage of the vote provides encouragement for the party. But obviously it has heavy work ahead if it is to be the successful alternative to socialism when the next general election is called this year or in 1970.

Measured by the Ton

WHEN PRESIDENT JOHNSON leaves office next Monday he will not be slipping away unobtrusively. He will cart off to his Texas ranch a collection of official papers, memos and photographs far surpassing the historical record kept by any previous Chief Executive.

The papers alone would fill 2,000 four-drawer filing cabinets which would stretch for 12 city blocks if lined up in a row. During his time in the White House Mr. Johnson has been constantly photographed by three cameramen and a naval detachment of 20 men has given continuous newsreel coverage to his activities and those of Mrs. Johnson for a monthly documentary film.

To house this vast accumulation a ten-storey presidential library is under construction on the campus of the University of Texas in Austin. With a helicopter pad on the roof, Mr. Johnson will supervise from a top-floor office while an army of archivists administers the collection below.

It is awe-inspiring, this mammoth undertaking, but also depressing. It reflects the gargantuan energy and style of the man, as well as his vanity and failings. He always tried to win the love of his people, and probably wishes he could take more of that hard-to-get commodity back with him to Texas instead of those tons of paper.

No Value in Scare Tactics

A RECENT AMERICAN STUDY aimed at finding means to discourage the use of drugs by young people has underscored the dangers of applying scare tactics in the approach to juveniles.

Many parents, the study found, persist in presenting material which depicts any user of marijuana as a hardened criminal, a psychotic mental case or a potential prostitute.

Young people not only reject this presentation but, in repudiating the extremist attack, also are reluctant to credit even those facts about marijuana which might turn them from its use.

This reaction by youth automatically prescribes the approach that should be brought to the problem—an approach that is based on a realistic assessment of the detrimental results of drug use, phrased moderately to invite confidence, not to move the young to turn their backs on the individual giving information. The ultimate judgment obviously will be made by the young people who are no longer afraid of a verbal bogeyman.

FROM SWEDEN'S NORTH

By MAURICE WESTERN

Resources to Support a Welfare State

EVERY Canadian is aware from the diverse reports of travellers returning to the House of Commons that Sweden is the very model of a modern welfare state. There is perhaps less general appreciation of its other claims to attention at this period of our national development. It is an arresting fact that, by Swedish standards, we are a distinctly southern people. Every Swede lives north of James Bay. Stockholm, with a quarter of the population, is slightly below the 60th parallel and Kiruna, the iron city, in about the latitude of Coppermine.

Western

The point is that, without the wealth of the north — which we are only beginning to develop — the Swedes would lack the productive base to sustain the welfare state at anything like the present standards. Mr. Trudeau had other reasons than the plight of the aboriginal peoples to link the north with the just society.

Unfortunately for us the Swedish experience, covering many centuries, has only limited applicability for Canadian problems. For even our friendliest north is a harsh country in comparison with Scandinavia.

Victoria Climate

Stockholm in early December is approximately as frigid as Victoria, B.C. Kiruna reminded me of Winnipeg on a good winter day, with crisp air, snow that crunched underfoot and bright sunshine — during the brief interlude that divides one Arctic night from its successor. From the air the country looks not unlike the lower Mackenzie. On the ground, though, the trees rule out comparisons — some of them are 18 inches through at the base.

The most conspicuous structure in Kiruna (which compares in size with Brandon) is a 13-storey skyscraper, administrative centre of the mining concern. There are also a number of recently erected apartment blocks and a new city hall; an object of special pride to citizens since it won a national award as the finest building of the year.

It is, in fact, a modern and very attractive community; a far cry from the turn-of-the-century Kiruna, which was an overnight stop for the Lappish reindeer herders.

But it has little to offer of practical help to our northern construction industry. Of the people whom I met in Kiruna, none had ever heard of permafrost. Nor of utilidors.

Everything would be easier in the Canadian Arctic if we enjoyed, like the Scandinavians, the advantages of a Gulf Stream.

Some Comparisons

One can nevertheless see in Arctic Sweden some of the conditions of progress in the north. The first, obviously, is an economic potential. But this is not enough; the Kiruna ores have been known since the 17th century but there was little development until the 1890s. Even when the Bessemer process provided the technological key to exploitation, mining operation had to wait on the railroad builders. A line to Lulea proved inadequate because the northern harbors on the Gulf of Bothnia are frozen for about five months. Fourteen years of much more difficult construction were required to gain a year-round outlet through the Norwegian port of Narvik.

Swedish socialism rests on an economy 90 per cent of which is directed by private enterprise. The complex of mining operations known as Lkab and centring on Kiruna now account for a large part of the 10 per cent under state control. This is not due, primarily, to socialist planning, although it might be described as a socialist windfall. For reasons of defence, quite comparable to those which caused British Liberals to put the state into the international oil business, a Swedish Conservative government in 1907 acquired 50 per cent of Lkab shares, with an option to buy out the private partner after 50 years. In 1957 a socialist ministry decided to exercise the option. While the government took over an established and highly successful operation and most of the management, the private interests reclaimed their capital and sank it into a new steel enterprise which has also proved very successul.

To the visitor, comparatively innocent of mining techniques, Kiruna is an extraordinary place. It was originally open cast but today practically all the operations are underground. They are reached not by shaft but by an entrance drift leading to a maze of underground tunnels. Miners drive to the rock face by car or bus over hard surfaced roads and under the direction of a centralized and computerized traffic control. They lunch close to the job at restaurants (according to my guide there are now 19 of them) in what is virtually a city below the surface of the Arctic earth.

From the ore chutes to the crushers, the iron is hauled in cars pulled by electric locomotives. Much of the Kiruna ore is pelletized and moves out in what appears to be an endless stream of wagons over the railway to Narvik. It all impresses the visitor as a remarkably smooth operation but there are apparently problems. Mechanization now seems to have been carried as far as it profitably can, but the Swedes are determined to increase overall efficiency by other means, in order to maintain their competitive position in a world now experiencing a surplus of iron ore.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Character and Conflict of Interest

THIS TOWN IS BUZZING WITH ARguments about the case of the proposed new deputy secretary of defence, David Packard, who seems to have run $600 up to a fortune of $300 million in a near-record period of time. "Packard's conflict of interest problem" is the major pre-inaugural topic. A few cases are enough to illustrate what a storm in a teapot the whole thing is. To begin with, take President Eisenhower's first, truly horrifying choice for the secretaryship of defence. To avoid conflict of interest, Charles E. Wilson was required to sell all his General Motors stock, and thereafter he never ceased to prate self-righteously about his great "sacrifices."

Alsop

Yet the separation of Wilson from his General Motors stock did not change the fact that Wilson always talked and thought as a General Motors executive, which he continued to do until his dying day. Furthermore, Wilson brought to Washington as his first under secretary of defence a man with an infinitely graver conflict of interest problem than Packard can possibly have.

G.M.'s Man

This man was Roger Kyes, who made something of a specialty of insulting the men in uniform to whom this country owed the most, for heroism and for great fighting leadership. In effect, Kyes was merely on leave from General Motors, to which he always intended to return and did in fact return.

Kyes was in the running, too, for the presidency of General Motors. There was no secret that this was his highest and dearest ambition. In the grim competition which marks that great corporation, Kyes was defeated in the end. But the fact remains that he served as under secretary while caring above all about attaining the General Motors presidency. The potential conflict here was obvious, but was never even whispered about.

In much the same class, there is the case of President-elect Nixon's curious choice for the interior secretaryship. Governor Walter J. Hickel is an ambitious businessman-politician, who appears to detest all the functions that a secretary of the interior is supposed to perform, in defence of all sorts of national interests.

Friend of Big Business

As Governor of Alaska, Hickel is well known to have been the active friend of large corporations doing business in his state. It is well known, too, that the choice of Hickel was pressed upon the president-elect by leaders of certain large oil companies, rather conspicuously including one the companies with the biggest interests in the new Antarctic oil field. And where else can Hickel look more naturally, for the kind of big business post that he undoubtedly wants when he ends his government service?

Here again, the potential conflict is only too obvious, but it has never once been mentioned, amid all the quite understandable talk about Hickel's carelessness of Eskimo rights and dislike of conservation in all forms.

In contrast, then consider the case of former secretary of defence Robert McNamara, the ablest administrative official this government has ever had, who was forced to sell all his Ford Motor Company stock before he was confirmed by the Senate. Anyone who knows McNamara knows perfectly well that he could have kept every single share of his Ford stock without any conflict whatever.

Indeed, such an arrangement would have been downright disadvantageous to the Ford company. For McNamara was, and is, the kind of man who would have leaned over backward, to the point of being a mite unfair in decisions involving his ex-employer, if his Ford stock had still been in his portfolio.

Examination of these cases should be enough to show that the problem is not really conflict of interest, as classicially defined. The problem, instead, is the character of the man. If he puts his personal interests ahead of his country's interests, he will surely get a chance to do so while in high federal office. If the opposite, there will be no conflict, no matter what the man's stockholdings may be.

Like McNamara

In the case of Packard, those who know him are close to unanimous that he is a man of Robert McNamara's general stripe, well-equipped to maintain and continue the great McNamara reforms in the defence department. That surely, is the essential point, quite aside from the sheer oddity of the idea of petty chiselling by a man already worth $300 million.

Finally, one must add that Representative Melvin Laird is a much less sharp operator than anyone has yet suggested, if he did not have all his senatorial ducks in a row before he gave Packard's name to the public.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I'LL HAVE A HOT DOG AND A LONG FORK!"

Looking Back

From the Times, Jan. 15, 1909.

An efficient street lighting plant working to its capacity is reported by the city electrician in his annual statement to council. In order to provide for the constantly increasing demands made upon it, superintendent Hutchison points out the necessity for additional equipment, and he recommended that it be made sufficient for at least 500 new lamps.

Undemocratic

Toronto Globe and Mail

There are times when it seems that the democratic process is in more danger in British Columbia than those Rockies they're threatening to level with their strip-mining.

After the unfortunate experience with strip-mining in Kentucky and some other parts of the United States, conservation experts are naturally anxious that nothing similar happen here. Common sense dictates that laws and regulations governing this kind of surface mining and the restoration of the land after it has been mined should be written before a project gets under way.

This has not been done in British Columbia, where massive projects are already begun. However, the B.C. minister of mines has struck a committee to draw up new regulations to control the mining activities. This committee is composed of two representatives from the B.C. department of mines, two representatives from private mining industry in British Columbia, and the director of fish and wildlife in the department of recreation and conservation.

But let the B.C. Wildlife Federation present the plan in all its democratic simplicity:

"One of the mining industry representatives on the committee is also the Canadian manager of Kaiser Coal Limited (which is the company with the contract to provide $650 million worth of coal from land in the Crowsnest area to Japanese steel interests). Requests from conservation organizations to have an independent conservationist as a counterpoint to representatives of private industry on the committee were turned down by the minister of mines.

"We find it incredible that the non-Canadian company with a direct vested interest in the kind of regulations that will be produced should be sitting on a B.C. government committee advising our provincial government, when the minister of mines has not only stated that representatives of responsible public British Columbia organizations could not be added to the committee, but that the terms of reference of the committee do not even allow a delegation from those groups to appear before the committee."

So do we find it incredible. There have been occasions when we have felt that Premier John Robarts has let the odd Ontario minister get out of hand.

British Columbia's tragedy, of course, is that it is Premier W. A. C. Bennett who is out of hand.

Letter

Why Drive It Underground?

At the provincial health minister's conference in November the question was raised of imposing the death penalty on thrice convicted drug pushers because drug use destroys the soul (Times, 11-1-69). While I well appreciate spiritual and psychological disintegration I am much more fearful of social disintegration as a result of a financially powerful mob or mafia. Chicago is an example of a city under continuing mob control because prohibition once existed on the North American continent. While there is little or no casual use of drugs there is of alcohol and while there is not the tremendous popular support of drug consumption that there is of alcohol consumption, both do and will occur, one legal and one illegal.

Drug addiction is a horrible condition which demands the victim to obtain the chemicals at any price of money or degradation. It is similar to alcoholism multiplied a thousandfold. The B.C. government controls and sells alcohol, thus denying one lucrative source of income to the underworld. Why treat a similar, albeit worse, problem with death, thus forcing it underground? Great Britain sets a sensible and humane example.—John Davis, PO Box 5103, Victoria.

Requiem for a President

By T. R. B., New Republic

We have watched the Prsidents since Harding. Lyndon Johnson is the oddest one of all.

After making his three farewell speeches: budget, economic, State of the Union, he will ride up Pennsylvania Avenue in an open car to the Capitol, January 20. Mr. Nixon waving on one side, LBJ on the other.

And after the Inaugural, before the Republican victory parade starts, he and his wife will go off quietly with one or two guards to a modest leave-taking and fly off—out of Federal service for the first time in 32 years, a private man.

His office as Senate majority leader in the old Capitol was like the Sistine Chapel. Allegorical nymphs floated around on the ceiling in de Medici magnificence. He fitted right in.

His huge desk had so many telephones, buzzers and desk speakers that operating it was like playing the organ.

It was breathtaking as he pushed buttons and spoke aloud as to some unseen presence.

He constantly called up people for materials; always impatient, always complaining that he had been kept waiting half an hour.

There was a drive and energy that might repel a man or, on the other hand, create a contagious energy and loyalty in subordinates in the feeling of his strength and the association with great power.

It was like being in a cage with a restless tiger.

Here was a man with buoyancy, exuberance, coarseness and masterfulness, combined with weaknesses so visible and absurd as almost to disarm one.

With petty vanity he displayed photostated copies of recent honorary degree citations. His sensitivity to criticism was patent as he launched into an hour-long stream-of-consciousness monologue, almost embarrassing at times.

He was not a motherless child, he said, and in a second was striding across the thick carpet rocking a waif in his arms. This was no ordinary human; this figure was larger-than-life.

Or take him on that fabulous 1960 Vice-Presidential campaign train, nicknamed by 30 fascinated accompanying reporters the "Cornpone Special."

It went through the South and won the election for Jack Kennedy. (Everything won the election for him.)

Every Johnson appearance began and ended with loudspeakers blaring the "Yellow Rose of Texas" and, as he left Culpeper, Va., he gave the tag-line of the campaign as he shouted back with an expansive gesture to the largely non-existent crowd, "What has Nixon ever done for Culpeper?"

●

Still waving his arm he vanished down the converging steel rails.

What would an earthy, towering, sentimental, evangelical, over-sensitive figure like this be as President? Nobody knew.

At times arrogant, then embarrassingly humble; shrewd and yet self-defeating; a manipulator of men, yet unable to communicate with the nation. Presidents nearest to him were Harry Truman and Andy Jackson.

But how characterize one with a different personality at every peel of the onion?

It was strange how a sophisticated man could be so naive; he set out to woo the press and make them a kind of mutual-aid co-operative.

This was possible in Texas politics; it was sometimes possible as Majority Leader; but was never possible as President (after the honeymoon).

The tension between public and politicians, press and Presidents, saves the nation; let voters listen, but always note the gap between what is promised and performed.

●

There is this gap with every President. Reasonable people will make allowances. But in Mr. Johnson's case the drive for secrecy was compulsive; he was congenitally devious. He would deny things under his nose. Then Vietnam went sour.

Call it "tragedy" if you like—a former special consultant to the President, Eric F. Goldman (Princeton), uses the term in his forthcoming book, The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson.

We don't agree. Herbert Hoover was a tragic figure all right; a well-meaning man crushed by forces he never understood, who insisted on going through the ghastly renomination and annihilation.

We put LBJ in a tougher category. Poor Hoover felt sorry for himself. So did Johnson (enhanced by the persecuted feeling that because he came from Texas and lacked Kennedy's style, all intellectuals hated him. Nonsense).

But the important thing, we think, is that he did not give way but shifted tactics. Many won't agree; all right, we differ.

Note that after the New Hampshire primary he recognized that he had lost touch; with what grace he had he bowed out; he gave his party a reasonable chance of winning the election; he began the humiliating business of liquidating the war that he had unwisely escalated. (Some wanted him, after that, to rescue the Pueblo crew by force; this time he declined.)

We have searched out our notes that we jotted down March 15, 1965 as Johnson made his night speech to a joint session. We sat over his head, looking down.

Our notes are jerky, incoherent . . . Strong and uncompromising speech . . . speaks slowly, effectively . . . seems to come from the heart . . . confident, self-assured. His best speech. . . .

This was the Johnson speech that led to the watershed 1965 voting rights bill. We caught phrases: "There is no constitutional issue, no moral issue. . . . It is wrong, deadly wrong . . . We cannot, we must not refuse . . . The time for waiting has gone . . . I want to be the President who helped the poor. . . . We shall overcome."

●

They applauded 40 times. And we discover that we jotted down "I shall always like Lyndon better for this speech."

He put a Negro into the Cabinet, another on the Supreme Court. He made America poverty-conscious. A strange man. A man hard to love. But a tragic man? We'll leave that to history.

How good a President? Well, maybe we should put him back-to-back with Richard Nixon before making our final judgment.

A change with every peel

Human Touch Needed In Our Organizations

By RICHARD NEEDHAM
The Globe and Mail

Needham

The United States is the richest country on earth — rich especially in food, of which it has groaning surpluses. Yet according to an article by Elizabeth Drew in the current (December, 1968) issue of the Atlantic, "it is generally agreed even among government circles that, at a minimum, 10 million Americans are malnourished, and some of these are chronically hungry, even starving."

The article goes on to describe at length the involved political and bureaucratic manoeuvring which has produced this state of affairs, ending with the hope that a new Administration and Congress will do better.

But why should they? There seems no reason to suppose that the politics (or the bureaucracy) of Washington will be very much different in 1969 from what they were in 1968.

The question here is a basic one: Can the government of a rich country help the poor people of that country?

At first glance, the question seems ridiculous; surely, given the will and the wealth, it should be simple — pass a law, press a button, and the problem's solved.

Another Story

But 10 million malnourished Americans tell another story.

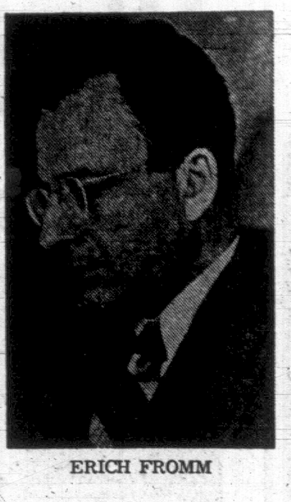
Given all the goodwill in the world (and I doubt that even the toughest politician or bureaucrat wants to see anybody starve) it just doesn't seem possible to get the surplus American food into the bellies of Americans who need it.

Thus we come to an illusion of yesterday and, perhaps, a disillusionment of today.

For as long as I can remember, Americans and Canadians and Britons and a great many other people have believed that all manner of social problems, like hunger and poverty and poor housing, etc., etc., could be solved by turning them over to the central government.

But the central government, for all its vast power and wealth, doesn't seem able to do the job, whether in the United States with its horde of hungry people; or in Canada where, after many years of enormous spending on what is called welfare, we're told that something like one-fifth of the population dwell in genuine need.

In this respect, as in many others, the political god we created has turned out to have feet of clay.



ERICH FROMM

Is there any way out of this dilemma? The only one I've ever been able to see is by getting away from huge, faceless, compulsory organizations, like governments themselves; and going back to small voluntary organizations, where the human and humane touch can be applied by individuals to individuals.

This concept of small face-to-face groupings is one which interests Dr. Erich Fromm; and he explores it at the conclusion of his new paperback, The Revolution of Hope.

Dr. Fromm suggests private citizens should set up their own clubs (quite apart and distinct from existing political organizations) to discuss social and political issues; these clubs would have from 100 to 300 members.

Close Relationship

There would also be smaller, more active groups of about 25 members — all sorts, ages, incomes, colors, occupations — practicing a close human relationship based on sharing and caring. Dr. Fromm says:

"These groups should become a real home for every participant, a home where he finds nourishment in the sense of knowledge and of interpersonal sharing and, at the same time, where he has a chance to give. They would develop a new style of life — unsentimental, realistic, honest, courageous, and active. It must be stressed that realistic unsentimentality — bordering, if you like, on cynicism — needs to be united with deep faith and hope. Usually the two are disconnected. People of faith and hope are often unrealistic, and the realists have little faith or hope. We shall find a way out of the present situation only if realism and faith become blended again, as they were in some of the great teachers of mankind."

At this point, someone might ask, "Don't we have enough organizations already? Why form more?" The answer here, as I'd see it, is (1) the organizations we now have don't appear to be meeting human needs and (2) perhaps because of that, appear to exist in a state of suspended animation — leftovers from the past.

I find it hard to think of any organization which is flourishing, outside perhaps of AA.

Yet there's a final irony. Whatever new groups we might set up will require money, especially if one of their objectives is to help the poor.

Where's that money to come from in a time of heavy, almost punitive taxation by the central governments?

And for what professed purpose do the central governments levy these enormous taxes? To help the poor.

Are We Fighting More Than a Word?

By ART STOTT

Stott

When we were kids, living carefree summer days at the old VASC clubhouse on the Gorge, two of us became involved in a heart-breaking little incident.

We were alone at the time sunning ourselves at the end of the raft-enclosed pool. A young woman with a small boy, perhaps eight or 10 years old, approached us from the Gorge Road. She had a problem. The small boy was a deaf mute—her nephew—and she had taken him to the B.C. Electric Park for a day's outing. He wanted to go swimming, but she didn't think he knew how. Would we stand guard while he tried?

We found the little fellow a spare suit in the clubhouse. One of us dived in and waited, the other standing by the side of the pool, which, at that tide was about six feet deep.

The youngster ran across the raft planking, threw himself from the edge, hit the water and submerged. He came up struggling and submerged again. We gave him one more chance to rise and then both of us worked to haul him out. While the water he had taken in poured from his mouth and nose, he sat huddled on the deck, sobbing. We tried to comfort him but he was inconsolable.

* * *

His aunt was sad but grateful. "I was afraid he couldn't swim, but he was so confident he could," she said. "Thank you so much for helping me. If he had gone in alone he might have drowned. I couldn't have saved him."

The incident remains in my memory not only because of its pathos, but because it represents for me a classic example of what can happen to a person who, innocently enough, fails to recognize his limitations. The boy had watched other people swim and took it for granted that swimming was an automatic accomplishment for any human being. It had not occurred to him that a person had to learn, or that some who tried to learn never succeeded.

The incident came to mind Saturday as I listened, with a packed audience, to Dr. William Glasser, a noted psychiatrist and writer, emphasize the impropriety of a school system which instilled a sense of failure into students who could not pass tests or solve problems.

The educational system, he contended, taught failure, stamped it on some children with detrimental results for life and created serious social problems. He made the point that children should learn that natural consequences flowed from some of their actions—and the consequences need not be pleasant. But, if I interpreted him correctly, they should never have the theory of failure impressed upon them.

To me, a layman, the argument made sense up to a point. Destroy anybody's confidence in his ability to do a job and the chances are he'll ball the thing up when he tries.

And the chances are, I guess, that if you keep telling a youngster that he hasn't the ability to do this or that, he'll eventually accept the idea and cease to try to do this or that. If you convince him that he can't do anything in school, he probably won't accomplish anything worthwhile.

* * *

On the other hand, it seems to me that if a youngster fails to accomplish a certain task, his capacities may be extended to the point where he can do it if you give him the idea that he has missed one time, but with extra effort he may succeed the next time. A little encouragement, or a lot of encouragement, may help him.

Inevitably a child of limited ability is going to be confronted with some routine things he can't do. At that point it seems foolish to me to ignore the matter and leave him with no appreciation for his limitations. Whether you tell him or you don't, he has failed in his efforts. If he is catalogued, on his record, with the euphemism "underachiever," isn't avoidance of the word failure merely an exercise in semantics?

If, on the other hand, he never learns for himself what he can accomplish and what he can't, isn't he in somewhat the same position as the little fellow who assumed he could swim but couldn't.

* * *

I laughed when I first heard the story of the youth who, asked if he could play the violin, replied that he didn't know; he'd never tried. On the other hand, I have found it less than amusing to encounter some young people with no appreciation of their limitations who take on jobs they can't handle and don't even realize how they have failed when they botch things up.

Perhaps we should just re-examine the word failure. When an athlete sets out to break a world record and doesn't achieve his purpose, he has failed in the effort. But, if his performance has been creditable, where's the odium in that?

REITH LECTURES—3

United States of the World

By LESTER B. PEARSON

Nationalism can be a fine and noble emotion; the love of a man for his own country and what it means to him.

But the absolute sovereignty of the nation state, political nationalism, is the strongest obstacle in the way of building world order, and in the way of the deeper realization of a world community.

Te first reaction of millions of people today to any proposals for more effective international institutions, for international control of anything, is: "this means that foreigners will be taking charge of our affairs."

* * *

Perhaps a way of building a stronger feeling for the international community of man would be to discover another planet which was inhabited, and where the natives were hostile—and if they had learned how we conduct our affairs on Earth, they would be bound to be hostile!

An astronaut would come back to Earth from Mars or Venus and complain: "I was badly treated." He would report this, not as a Russian, or as an Englishman, or as an American, but as an Earthman.

* * *

Then we would all get together and react vigorously through press, radio and television—"You can't do that to us." and "us" would mean the inhabitants of this planet.

I recall a story about Yuri Gagarin, the first Russian astronaut, when he landed and talked about the feeling he had on coming back to earth; that this was his earth, this was his planet; it belonged to all of us.

He was able to relate—as no man had ever been able to do before, through personal experience—his own world, as a unit, to all the other worlds to which he had gotten closer than any other human being.

The development of common scientific interests and new far-reaching projects could foster this kind of attitude; provided, that is, that they were not linked with defence and destruction.

* * *

And we have years, perhaps, not centuries in which to succeed, and only the tentative first steps have already been taken.

Nationalism is an especially strong, appealing and noble emotion when it becomes part of the struggle of unfree peoples to be free.

During that struggle, the new feeling of national unity can be stronger even than the older tribal feeling. It is only after freedom is achieved that the more restricted loyalties become strong again.

* * *

Nationalism is good when it leads to the freedom of subject colonial peoples. But it is less praiseworthy when, after these people become free, it is used for a return to fragmentation; or, on the other extreme, to political or racial arrogance by the new rulers; to the forced and total integration of unwilling groups into a centralized state or to forced exclusion of others from that state.

We are all descendants of Adam and we are all products of racial miscegenation. Racial purity depends on where you start to count.

'New' Commons Opens Clumsily

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP) — The new streamlined Parliament went back into session Tuesday and quickly ran into a couple of snags linked with the revised rules.

In the first sitting under the new rules, adopted just before Christmas, John Diefenbaker reacted indignantly to removal of the coat of arms from the cover of the Commons book of standing orders.

The Conservative elder statesman shook an accusing finger at the government and called on the Speaker to look into the "erosion of our traditions."

Government House Leader Donald S. MacDonald replied that the government wasn't responsible for publication of the book. And in any event the coat of arms was still there, on the Speaker's chair pictured on the cover.

More opposition static was raised a few minutes later with removal from the government order paper of a resolution on establishment of an Indian claims commission.

The new rules eliminate the resolution stage that formerly preceded all bills involving expenditure of money. But Opposition Leader Stanfield insisted the House had a right to know when the legislation would be introduced.

Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien, who had hoped to introduce the bill right after the Christmas break, said he still hopes to get it in this month.

CONSIDER FOUR BILLS

By the end of the sitting, four farm bills had been given second reading and sent off to the agriculture committee for detailed study.

A prime aim of the new rules is to de-emphasize second-reading debate, formerly considered approval in principle, and to shift main consideration of a bill to committee.

After the committee study it must still come back for a "report stage," when amendments may be made, and a more crucial third-reading stage.

The process appeared to be working with the farm bills, which slipped through the House without serious objection. Several members spoke of possible improvements in committee, however.

The four bills, all sponsored by Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson, would:

—Provide for compensation to farmers whose produce is banned from sale because of contamination—through no fault of the farmer—by a pesticide.

—Set new regulations on import of seeds, plants and plant products that might carry pests.

—Amend the Animal Contagious Diseases Act to remove present maximum amounts for compensation to farmers when diseased animals are orderer slaughtered. The agriculture department now will be able to adjust rates.

—Set regulations on the import and sale of pesticides. The subject of pesticides, both benefits and dangers, concerned several speakers.

Starfish and sea urchins, both of which are exhibited at the Vancouver Public Aquarium, often shed their eggs and sperm directly into the sea, and the resulting larvae become part of the "plankton."

CLEAN CARS AND OLD HOUSES played a role in pushing the 1968 United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal closer to its $655,000 goal. Although the Appeal officially ended in early December, contributions since then have reduced its $37,000 "deficit" by more than $2,000. Local Boy Scout troops earned $250 through a series of holiday season car washes and Peter Pollen Ford added another $350 made from the sale of a calendar featuring color drawings of 14 of the district's best known old homes. Presenting cheques to Appeal chairman Peter Darling, left, are David Birch, Glen Noakes, Peter Pollen and Mike Phillips. They are photographed in front of Emily Carr house at 207 Government Street.

Benson Promises Action On New Tax Legislation

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson promised Tuesday to introduce legislation enforcing new taxes on estates and insurance "very soon—a matter of a few days."

The minister came under renewed opposition fire as the Commons resumed after a 24-day Christmas recess, because the House has not seen legislative details of new taxes outlined in the Oct. 22 budget.

Opposition members also assailed the government for the soaring costs of borrowing money—chartered banks raised interest rates Tuesday—especially the Jan. 1 increase in the interest-rate ceiling on government-insured mortgages to 9⅜ per cent from 8¾.

Mr. Benson resisted suggestions to amend the Bank Act to reimpose a ceiling on the interest rates banks can charge for loans.

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said there is "rising concern throughout the country" about the government's delay in introducing estate and income tax legislation arising from last fall's budget.

Mr. Benson said the final draft bill would include some technical alterations, but "'no major changes."

The main feature of the new estate-tax system is to abolish taxation of an estate passing to a spouse but to increase the rate of taxation when the estate passes on from the widow or widower who inherits originally.

Flaming Basin Carried Out

A city man suffered burned hands and wrists when he carried a flaming basin of gasoline out of his basement Tuesday night.

Maurice Pedersen, 26, of 730 Bowlsby, was treated and discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital.

Fire officials said the man was washing car parts in the basin when the gasoline fumes were ignited by a nearby gas water heater. There was no damage to the house.

The incident happened at about 10 p.m.

Restrictions Advised On UBC's Enrolment

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special report by a six-man science faculty committee Tuesday urged enrolment on the Point Grey campus of the University of British Columbia be limited to 25,000 students.

The committee, headed by associate mathematics professor Dr. Rodney A. Restrepo, recommended a stiffening of academic standards in the faculty and the rest of the university.

Separate campuses under UBC control, located away from the existing Point Grey campus, were also suggested in the report.

Current facilities on campus were described as "pitifully inadequate" to handle all students in science courses.

The report, which urged a limitation on student entry would take effect by the fall of 1971, was forwarded to UBC's board of governors and will also be sent to the senate for study.

Lamb Shoulder Chops

These may be broiled, pan-broiled or braised. If the chops are less than ¾-inch thick, it is better to pan-broil them. Brown on one side, then on the other.

Deviled Lamb Chops

Half cup ketchup, 1½ tsps. prepared mustard, 1½ tsps. Worcestershire sauce, 2 tbsps. brown sugar, 4 shoulder lamb chops.

Mix together the sauce ingredients and spread on both sides of the lamb chop. Let stand for one hour in refrigerator in a shallow dish. Remove from refrigerator and broil for seven minutes per side or until sauce is bubbly and brown. Be sure to use a heat-proof pan.

Talks on Counter-Inauguration Bog Down

By PAUL VALENTINE

WASHINGTON (WP) — Negotiations between the government and anti-war demonstrators bogged down Monday over permits for rallying points and a large tent for the demonstrators' "counter-inauguration" here Sunday.

The government has been told that as many as 10,000 persons may participate.

With only five days remaining to Sunday, some demonstration leaders were saying that if their basic requests—especially the tent—are not granted, some form of civil disobedience may occur.

PLAN TENT BALL

The demonstrators want to stage a rally on the mall near the White House, then march down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol—the opposite direction of the Nixon inaugural parade the next day—and conclude with a second rally at the Supreme Court Plaza. They want to hold a counter-inaugural "ball" in a 300 by 100-foot tent on the mall that night.

Harry Van Cleve, chief counsel for the General Services Administration, proposed that the demonstrators march from Sylvan Theatre straight down the mall to the foot of the Capitol, then go back to Sylvan Theatre to hold the counter-inaugural ball without the tent.

Van Cleve said after the two-hour meeting Monday that he had modified his position to accept the possibility that the march go down Pennsylvania Avenue, but the sides still had not determined where the march would begin or end.

He said he "preferred" that the demonstrators use Sylvan Theatre instead of a tent, "but I didn't close off the possibility of a tent."

David Dellinger, chairman of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, said the tent is "non-negotiable." He said the government has "stalled" on the request, even though mobilization leaders said they would pay not only for the tent itself but for the heat and light inside it.

Dellinger noted that the inaugural committee for the Jan. 20 Nixon-Agnew parade plans to set up seven warming tents on the mall.

"If they can have seven, I should think we could have one," he said.

Dellinger would not say how many persons are expected for the counter-inauguration, but Van Cleve said mobilization leaders had given him the rough figure of 10,000.

"We have not planned this as one of our all-out demonstrations in terms of numbers," Dellinger said.

He reiterated the mobilization's intention to make the demonstration a "political, not a physical confrontation," aimed chiefly at showing President-elect Nixon how deeply divided the nation is over the Vietnam War.

Touchdown on Moon by Astronauts Could Be Real Short Stay

By THOMAS O'TOOLE

WASHINGTON (WP) — The first thing two Apollo astronauts will do when they land on the moon this summer is to prepare immediately to leave.

"We'll want to go over the entire landing craft right after touchdown," said astronaut Neil A. Armstrong, who along with Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin and Michael Collins will be the first Apollo crew to attempt a lunar landing.

"If there's been any damage to the craft or the fuel tanks, we might want to launch immediately again to rendezvous with the mother ship in moon orbit."

Even if there is no damage to the landing craft, the two astronauts (Armstrong and Aldrin) who descend to the lunar surface will stay inside the lunar craft for several hours before stepping outside.

The main reason for waiting, Armstrong said, is to make sure they have enough fuel, oxygen and electricity to leave the moon safely.

Once they decide they can ascend from the moon, the two astronauts will don heavy life-support backpacks over their 70-pound pressure suits, in preparation for their walk on the airless moon.

"It's going to be cramped inside the landing craft," Armstrong said, "to say the least."

Just who will be first down a seven-foot exit ladder and onto the lunar surface has not been determined. "A lot will depend on how our training exercises go for the next five months," Armstrong said. "We'll decide who's first on the basis of those exercises."

The first man out will spend the first 45 minutes placing cameras, tools and equipment on the lunar surface. He'll also fill special containers with samples of the lunar surface and place them back inside the landing craft.

AT NEW YORK, during the morning the market, as measure by the averages, spurted in a resumption of the rally that developed Tuesday. As the session wore on prices eroded and the trading pace slackened.

Banks declined after a general rise following the announcement of an increase of base interest rates with Bank of Nova Scotia retreating ¼ to 25½.

AT VANCOUVER, Whonnock Lumber continued its meteoric rise, gaining $2.25 to $28.25.

On Dec. 9 the stock was trading at $12 and has risen steadily since then.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Some heavy liquidation developed toward noon in rapeseed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, wiping out substantial gains posted at the opening. Declines ranged from ½ to 3¾ cents under the previous close.

However, fairly good export interest maintained and prices appeared to be steady.

Strip Mining Critics Lashed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Kaiser Coal Co. Ltd. executive Tuesday lashed back at critics of his company's planned strip mining operations in British Columbia, charging that an unbelievable amount of bad publicity has circulated about the project.

G. E. Balsley, the company's vice-president and general manager, told the annual meeting of the B.C. and Yukon Chamber of Mines that it was "time to talk back."

He said the company will be mining 8,000,000 tons of raw coking coal from an area of 2.5 square miles beginning in 1970.

The strip mining operation near Fernie, about 360 miles east of Vancouver, would employ about 1,000 men and give new life to area merchants "who know and understand the value of an almost $1,000,000 annual payroll."

He said Japanese interests are expected to account for about 5,000,000 tons of coal annually in the near future and Kaiser is looking for further North American and offshore markets.

In answer to criticisms by various groups about the effects of strip mining, Mr. Balsley said he accepted the blame for failing to "tell the facts to the people of the province."

"Mining happens to be one of the principal reasons why the Canadian economy is strong. . . When people think of mining they must not lose their perspective.

'ALL CONTRIBUTE'

"Every mining operation in Canada contributes to the good of Canada in much the same fashion as will the one we are involved in."

He described the area to be mined as rocky and untillable and having no value as farm or timberland.

"I doubt that we will disturb the flora and fauna one-tenth as much as, say, the building of new homes in West Vancouver has done to the beautiful forests. . ."

He said the operation will mean construction and manufacture of about $60,000,000 in plant and equipment; several hundred new homes; $15,000,000 annually in railway transportation and millions of dollars in taxes.

"It is time to weigh the benefit of mining against the supposed loss of a few square miles of unusable and uninhabitable country."

Ralph Macdonald, retiring president of the chamber of mines, told the meeting there must be reasonable balance between conservation and development.

He said the total area of the province given up to strip mining operations is small, and in most instances will be reclaimed by nature once the mines are worked out.

Mr. Macdonald said a record $35,000,000 was spent on mineral prospecting and exploration in B.C. in 1968 and added there had been a big shift in exploration from eastern to western Canada.

U.S. Gross Product Tops Record in '68

By RICHARD HALLORAN
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The U.S. gross national product has risen to a new high but about half of the gain was illusory and was dissipated by price inflation.

The department of commerce reported Tuesday that GNP, the sum total of goods and services produced in the country, rose to $861 billion in the fourth quarter of 1968, compared with $789.7 billion in 1967.

Of this 9 per cent gain, only 5 per cent was real, the other 4 per cent being price increases.

GNP rose $16.8 billion during the fourth quarter, a 2 per cent gain over the third quarter. Only half of this was real. The annual GNP rate ran at $887.8 billion.

Fixed investments showed far more strenght than consumption during the fourth quarter. Investments more than doubled from $4 billion to $6.5 billion, while consumption dropped from $21.5 billion to $14.2 billion.

In a related announcement, the Federal Reserve Board said industrial production rose to a seasonally adjusted record of 168.9, based on an index of 100 in 1957-59.

It was the fourth consecutive monthly advance in factory, utility, and mining output, the FED said.

The December increase was 4.2 per cent avoe the same month a year ago. For the year, industrial production averaged 4.6 per cent higher than in 1967.

Voluntary Steel Quota Agreed to

By RICHARD HALLORAN
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Japanese and west European steel industries have agreed to limit their exports to the U.S. on condition that the U.S. does not adopt a steel import quota, increase tariffs on steel, or otherwise restrict steel imports.

The unilateral export restrictions are an attempt to head off congressional legislation to curb steel imports. American steelmen, however, have made clear that they intend to continue asking for legislative protection.

Thus, if the congress adopts restrictions, the voluntary agreement will become void.

Oil Sands Plant Operating Near Continuously

FORT McMURRAY, Alta. (CP) — Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. is achieving sustained periods of uninterrupted operations after mechanical difficulties repeatedly shut down the plant in 1968, a company official said.

Administration manager Doug Brown said the plant, 230 miles northeast of Edmonton, has been operating for the last two or three months with no mechanical breakdowns, although operations have been briefly suspended for adjustments.

THE ACCOUNTANT'S ADVICE

Know Business Half-Truths

By EDGAR A. DOWNEY, CA

(This is a service provided by The Times and The Institute of Chartered Accountants of B.C.)

A half-truth is more likely to mislead than an outright untruth.

Where a writer makes a statement which is clearly false the reader may easily check the error against the available facts or another writer may point out the truth in some other publication.

But where the data as stated, is in itself true, but taken alone may leave an incorrect belief in the mind of the reader, the defence is not so easy. The reader may recognize and agree with the given facts and not recognize the omissions which caused his incorrect conclusions.

Unfortunately half-truths occur in business more often than most people realize.

We are all familiar with the huckster's comparison of a product with "Brand X" which is really no more than an assertion that his product is not worse than another, unidentified, and maybe non-existent product. This sort of half-truth has been over-played so that only the most naive person is mislead by it but there are many more subtle suggestions where the reader is left with a wrong impression either by accident or intent on the part of the writer.

This often arises in union and management negotiations. The union representatives point out so clearly the large amount of a business profit without relating it in any way to the factors which helped to produce it, such as the large investment in the plant and equipment. Then management points out that their profit per dollar of sales is so small without relating it to the total profit on invested capital.

To be meaningful all such negotiations should take into account all of the relevant facts but each side pretends that their half-truths are sufficient to produce full understanding and choose to ignore other facts which might detract from their pre-conceived answer.

Half-truthsayers can use percentages most effectively in their efforts to mislead their readers or themselves. A recent report upon the effect of inflation explained that although the real wealth production of goods and services has risen about 5 per cent a year government expenditures are rising much faster.

The report then stated that the current rise in provincial spending in Canada is 17 per cent over last year and that federal spending will rise 9 per cent. And, that together, the provincial and federal goverments are taking 29 per cent fo the gross national product compared with 25 per cent two years previously.

This is a most confusing mixture of percentages which do not in fact relate to each other. It is presumably intended to leave the reader with the idea that, because the figure 5 is smaller than 17 or 9, a valid conclusion is obvious. However, the 5 relates to real wealth after elimination of the inflation factor but the 17 and 9 relate to numbers of dollars including the inflation factor. Therefore the figures are not properly comparable.

The irony of the situation is that government expenditures as a proportion of real wealth are rising faster than the increase in total real wealth production but the quoted percentages do not prove this fact.

There is very little the ordinary reader can do about misleading assertions in general but he can at least try to educate himself as well as he can in a few subjects and then be able to recognize the half-truths in his own fields and so become critical and cautious of all he reads on other subjects.

CAC Interest Up

Canadian Acceptance Corp. said Tuesday it is increasing its short-term money rates by one-eighth of 1 per cent effective today, reflecting changes in money market conditions created by higher prime-rate interest charges by some chartered banks.

The new rates are 6⅝ per cent for 60 to 149-day notes, 6¾ per cent for 150 to 239-day notes and 6⅝ per cent for 240 to 364-day notes.

Rates on three to 59-day notes are on application, as usual.

Banks Fall In

The Royal Bank of Canada and the Banque Canadienne Nationale said today they will raise their minimum interest rates to 7 from 6¾ per cent.

The increase, effective Jan. 20, is in line with similar increases announced Tuesday by three major Toronto-based chartered banks — the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, the Toronto-Dominion Bank and the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Gulf Oil Canada

Gulf Oil Canada Ltd. said today it has applied to the Alberta department of mines and minerals for permission to build a 185-mile products pipeline from Edmonton to Calgary.

The firm said it was negotiating with other possible participants in construction of the line, which would coincide with the opening of gulf's expanded $75 million refinery early in 1971.

The 80,000-barrels-a-day refinery to supply the prairies was announced last week.

Hiram-Worts Ltd.

Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts, Ltd. distillers reports a net income of $13.76 million or 80 cents a share for a three-month period ended Nov. 30, 1968.

The earnings represented an increase of $10.65 million and four cents a share over the same period in 1967.

Tobacco Exports Up With Sanction

WASHINGTON (CP) — Exports of U.S. tobacco in 1968 will match the 21-year peak of 572 million pounds of a year earlier, thanks to the continued trade sanctions on the rebel regime of Rhodesia.

"This high export level can probably be maintained in 1969 if the United Nations trade sanctions continue against Rhodesia," says an agricultural department study.

However, it notes that some competing exporter countries have increased production, Canada included.

Canadian output of flue-cured tobacco in 1968 is an estimated 212 million pounds, up slightly over a year, compared with a reduced Indian output of 192 million. Rhodesia's flue-cured production of 233 million pounds in 1965 shrunk to 132 million in 1968.

Gold Hits Peak

LONDON—The price of gold jumped 35 cents on the London free bullion market to an all-time peak today, apparently on uncertainty over the policy of President-elect Nixon and general distrust of paper money.

The morning fixing set the price for the metal at $42.75 U.S. an ounce. This compared with Tuesday afternoon's fixing of $42.40.

Dealers said there was a complete lack of sellers and strong demand. Turnover was virtually nil.

"In this situation the price just had to go up," one dealer said.

Buyers seemed anxious to change their paper money into solid gold in advance of today's American budget and Nixon's inaugural speech next Monday, dealers said. Many believe this may give some clue to future U.S. policy toward bullion.

They recalled last month's news conference by Nixon's treasury secretary-designate, David Kennedy, who declined comment when asked if the United States would continue its gold price policy. Any upward move would mean big profits for gold speculators.

For these same reasons, the informants said, bullion owners were unwilling to sell.

In the London foreign exchange market, meanwhile, the pound sterling edged upward two points to $2.3855 after Tuesday's 11-point drop in reaction to poor December foreign trade figures. Trade was only moderate today, however.

On the Zurich free market, the gold price reached $42.60-$42.80 an ounce at noon, the highest since the creation of the two-tier markets last March.

Don't Coerce, Quebec Urged

QUEBEC (CP) — Groups representing 5,000 English-speaking teachers from the Montreal area say it is questionnable whether the French-Canadian nation needs to resort to "coercive methods" to ensure its survival.

The comment is contained in a joint brief submitted today to the Quebec legislature's education committee by the Montreal Teachers Association, representing Protestant teachers, and the Federation of English-speaking Catholic Teachers.

The brief refers to the controversial language-rights bill which was sent to the education committee for study prior to second reading in the legislature last December. Public hearings on the bill opened Tuesday.

The French language in Quebec appears to be flourishing "to an extent unparallelled in the past 200 years," the brief says, although legislation to ensure French-speaking employees the right of communication in their own language in industry and commerce would not be unreasonable.

CREATES A PROBLEM

However, the "large English-speaking minority in Quebec, . . . like its French-speaking co-citizens, has no intention of disappearing. Thus Quebec is a bicultural society which must become a truly bilingual society."

The brief says the influx of immigrant labor has created a new and serious problem in the realm of language and education in Quebec.

"A certain number of these immigrants may arrive here with the intention of assimilating into the English sector and so ensure themselves of a mobility which would be lacking were they to become French-speaking.

"Any attempts to force these immigrants to join the French sector would simply send them to Ontario or the U.S. and thus reduce the supply of labor we so badly need for our growing Quebec economy."

The brief suggests an amendment to the section of the bill regarding immigrant children to limit the possibility of "coercive measures" towards parents in choosing the language of education of their children.

The bill to protect minority rights was introduced after a school commission in the Montreal suburb of St. Leonard voted last June to remove bilingual instruction in elementary classes in favor of all-French classes.

The suburb, which has a large Italian-Canadian population, exploded in controversy over the language question.

BILINGUALISTS RAP CARDINAL

QUEBEC (CP) — Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal got a roasting Tuesday and supporters of a bilingual Quebec dominated the opening of a public hearing into the Union Nationale government's language rights bill.

Mr. Cardinal was accused of ignoring the "injustice and rape of the English language in St. Leonard," the Montreal suburb where the language issue erupted in 1968.

Robert Beale, president of the Association of Parents of St. Leonard, told the hearing Mr. Cardinal had not given the association the courtesy of an answer to letters and appeals for government funds.

The association helps maintain a private school for 205 English-speaking Grade I students in St, Leonard at a weekly cost of $1,600.

The school was established after the Roman Catholic school board abolished English-language instruction at the Grade I level.

ASKED FOR COSTS

On Dec. 12, Mr. Beale said, the association sent a telegram to Mr. Cardinal asking the government to assume the costs of the school organized on a temporary basis by parents and financed by public canvassing.

Asked by a Liberal member to comment on Mr. Beale's accusations, Mr. Cardinal said he would reply only after all briefs had been presented.

The Mouvement pour l'integration scolaire, the French-language unilingualism group that has led a fight against the bill and worked toward French-only instruction in St. Leonard, was not present Tuesday.

The Parents' Association for Catholic Education urged rapid adoption of the bill "as a measure solely to restrain the school boards of Quebec from restricting English-language education."

It recommended that "legislation to foster and preserve the French language" be drafted only after the report of the royal commission established by Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand to study the status of the French language.

Bilingualism also was urged by the eastern region of the Canadian Jewish Congress, the Quebec division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Montreal Board of Trade, the Provincial Association of Catholic Principals and the Quebec section of a group known as Pro-Canada.

The Jewish congress asked that a clause on immigrants be cut out. It would "create a distinction between one resident and another and set up an entire group in one category."

A congress spokesman said that an immigrant family should have the same choice of schools in Quebec as have people born in the province.

Unilingualism was advocated by Jean Labrecque, president of l'Association des professeurs de l'ecole normal Laval—a Quebec City group of less than 50 college teachers.

Mr. Labrecque said English is in such a strong position in North America that it would survive in "the family milieu" even if not taught at all in Quebec's public schools.

Except for Mr. Beale's statements, Tuesday's briefs were in French.

HOUSING PLAN

A Big Break For Lonely Mothers

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

I'd like to register definite approval for the housing plan being in the cards for Victoria's one-parent families.

That the way is being cleared to develop the project on B.C. Protestant Orphanage grounds at Cook and Hillside is splendid news.

This type of development is much needed. I hope it gets rolling as quickly as possible and that it does not die a'borning.

Let me also hope that when the low-rental apartments are ready for occupancy that a good percentage is reserved for mothers who work and mothers who are trying to upgrade their education or take refresher courses under the Canada Manpower plan.

Majority of these women are deserted wives. Some are widows with young children. They are striving to adjust to a different way of life and at the same time give their youngsters a home in which to live and to grow. They deserve help.

★ ★ ★

Nothing would increase their capacity to work more, or their ability to learn, than the knowledge that their young ones are safe and being adequately cared for.

That the day-care centre (as proposed) would be close to their own backdoors and that children could be taken there and picked up in a matter of minutes would also relieve tensions.

Then, in the evenings, how easy it would be for these mothers to get together in the centre to exchange ideas and to find the fellowship they so desperately need.

We can even go further and envision them finding assistance in home management skills, child-rearing problems and nutrition schedules.

There would be hobbies, too, and other things which would help enrich their lives.

★ ★ ★

A development such as the one proposed would have a definite influence in the neighborhood around it. Mothers in two-parent families who were not working would be interested in evening programs. Many of them would have the same socio-economic background and the same needs.

There would be people in the neighborhood, too, who might volunteer time to such a centre. These would most likely find it a learning as well as a contributing experience.

Social workers tell you that day care will not reach its potential as a basic preventive service without including health, educational and welfare orientation.

They say that adjustment is too modest a goal. Dynamic and imaginative thinking is required.

If so, then perhaps at this time the exciting potential of the proposed plan, as a basic community preventive service, has barely been tapped.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper report gives most of the credit for the plan to Community Welfare Council, a United Appeal agency. The orphanage board of directors and provincial and city welfare authorities also played a part.

They all are to be congratulated. It's a whopping dream based on common sense and long-term thinking.

What it needs now is to get the development started and to build the low-rental, garden-type apartments and the day-care centre as quickly as possible.

Emergency facilities for burnt-out families and a hostel for transient youth seeking higher education here could come later.

I'll wager that once it is all in operation it will soon prove its worth.

Russians May Reverse Verdict to Cancel Tour

Canadian Embassy Official Meets Soviet Organizers

Times News Services

A Canadian embassy spokesman in Moscow said after a meeting with Soviet sports organizers today that there is a chance that the Soviet national hockey team will reverse its decision to pull out of an eight-game tour of Canada.

Embassy counsellor J. M. Taylor met in Moscow with the All-Union Sports Committee and leaders of the Soviet Ice Hockey Federation to act as informal mediator in the dispute that led to the Soviets' last-minute cancellation.

The Soviet team was to have left Moscow Monday for Montreal. The Soviet federation said Tuesday that the trip was cancelled.

"It appears there have been some misunderstandings," a sokesman for Taylor said today. "I would not exclude the possibility that the Soviet team will make the trip."

The embassy declined to reveal details of what happened at the meeting. Taylor was expected to inform Canadian officials in Ottawa by telephone or cable today.

Canadian amateur hockey officials in Winnipeg were hoping to be told today the Russians have changed their minds again and will be in Montreal Friday night to start their Canadian tour.

Soviet officials threw the Canadians a curve Tuesday, indicating that two eight-game tours in Canada were off.

Immediate Canadian Amateur Hockey Association reaction was anger as executive-director Gordon Juckes fired off a cable asking that the Russians be suspended from all international play unless they fulfil the commitment.

Later, the anger was tempered with hope.

Juckes said in an interview he expected the Russians to reconsider.

"If you want to be charitable, you can believe there was a misunderstanding. If there was no misunderstanding, then I would hope that the seriousness of the situation would be presented with such force that they would do something about it."

The Canadian embassy in Moscow was attempting to straighten out any misunderstanding Tuesday while Bunny Ahearne of the International Ice Hockey Federation promised to bring his influence to bear.

DUE TO PLAY FRIDAY

Involved are tours by the Soviet national team from Friday to Jan. 30 with a final game in Ottawa, and the Moscow Selects, in effect the Soviet B team, Feb. 24-March 7.

Acting president Earl Dawson of the CAHA said cancellation would cost the association about $190,000, about $150,000 in receipts and $40,000 which had been invested in a tour of Russia by Canada's national team last year.

Winnipeg coach Jack McLeod said he had counted on the games to condition his squad and help shape his lineup for the world hockey championships in Stockholm March 15-30.

All opposition for the Russians was to be provided by Canada's Nationals—either the Ottawa or Winnipeg teams or a mixture of both.

Juckes said word from the Canadian embassy was that Soviet coach Anatoli Tarasov had been complaining about inferior competition in Canada since the Nationals would be at Lake Placid, N.Y. Another complaint was that Canada would be at a Colorado tournament during the tour.

The Nationals are scheduled for a Colorado tournament Feb. 21-22 but that doesn't conflict with either Russian tour.

SEEK NHL ENCOUNTER?

Dawson said he expected the Russians would use the tour as a lever to attempt to force a game with a National Hockey League team, either Toronto or Montreal.

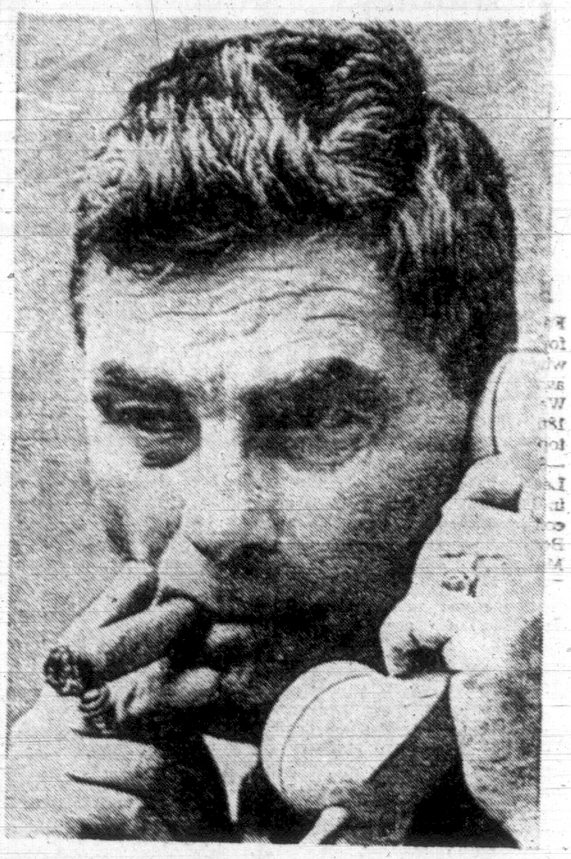
"I think the stage was set a week ago when Anatoli Tarasov challenged the NHL to a game."

Juckes isn't so sure and said: "I don't think it would be a good tactical move on their part. I feel the NHL will support the CAHA."

In Montreal, a Forum spokesman said "a couple of thousand" advance tickets—worth about $35,000—have been sold for Friday's game. A sellout of 16,485 was expected in Toronto for Sunday's game.

Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said he suspected for some time the Russians did not intend to carry out their commitment.

"It merely shows how unreliable the Russians are and they wonder why the National Hockey League isn't anxious to get involved with them."



BUSY MAN in past two days has been Gordon Juckes, executive director of Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, who has been keeping telephone lines humming in attempts to get Russian hockey officials to change minds about sudden cancellation of Canadian tour. (CP Wirephoto.)

SPORTS DIARY

By SHIRLEY POVICH

(The Washington Post)

Every thoroughbred race horse in the world had a birthday on January 1 which, in all candor, is beside the point. On that day also, five former major-league baseball heroes also came of age. Newly eligible for the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., are Stan Musial, Early Wynn, Red Schoendienst, Gil Hodges and Vic Wertz.

Eligibility rules are simple ones. One must have played in the majors for a considerable number of years and, after retirement, keep breathing for at least five years more. Then one goes on the list to be judged and voted in or out by the members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

This year's list of new eligibles is a remarkable one for its quality. Often it has been an open date at Cooperstown for lack of certified Hall-of-Fame timber. This year, for openers, Stan Musial is a shoo-in, and 1969 could be that rare vintage year when as many as three of the game's demigods may be enshrined.

Musial's credentials are so overpowering that if it is not a unanimous vote, the creeps in dissent should be run out of the Baseball Writers' Association and be forced to join the Basketball Writers' Association. After Ted Williams retired, it was Musial all alone as the man who swung the best bat of his times, and Williams admired him as "the only hitter I ever saw who didn't shorten up with two strikes against him."

Gil Hodges will draw a heavy vote as the finest first baseman of his time, and the righthanded batter who hit more bases-loaded home runs than any other in the National League. Red Schoendienst has a claim to Cooperstown as one of the great infielders, one who also licked lurking tuberculosis and came back to play and manage.

Vict Wertz was a good outfielder and first baseman for Detroit, the St. Louis Browns, Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox who could hit home runs, but he was not quite a giant of the game. He came to notice chiefly for an act of frustration. That was in the 1954 World Series game at the Polo Grounds when he didn't hit a bases-loaded homer because Willie Mays raced back there into deepest centre for the most famous catch in decades.

In the case of Early Wynn, a vigorous vote will be applied here for his elevation to Cooperstown. It is a highly sentimental vote that also has the virture of being fully justified by the fellow's record. Wynn was very nearly the major leagues' finest pitcher of the two decades before his retirement in 1963.

Wynn pitched himself into membership in one of the most select groups in baseball. Only 14 pitchers in the entire history of the game can boast a total of 300 victories in the majors, and Wynn is one of them. The 20-victory season became commonplace for the skinny Cherokee Indian boy from Alabama who as a stylish stout was still winning in his 20th year in the majors.

None would have predicted that Wynn was destined for the Hall of Fame when he came up from Charlotte and lost his first two starts for the Washington Senators in 1939. He had a fast ball but he was very much on trial. Bucky Harris was bearing with him one day and keeping him in the game because many of the runs they were scoring off young Wynn were not his fault.

●

It came to a bunting situation for the Senators in the late innings and Harris pondered a pinch hitter for his young pitcher. Then he asked Wynn, "Can you lay one down?" Wynn said, "Skipper, I was the best bunter in Charlotte." Wynn bunted the first pitch he saw and practically bunted himself back to Charlotte. with a soft line drive that Cleveland third-baseman Ken Keltner routed around the bases for a triple play.

Wynn came back from Charlotte two years later and began the career that was to make him one of the most feared pitchers in the majors. On the mound he had only one expression, a mean one. The baseball in his hand was for teaching lessons to batters who tried to take too much of the plate or were given to thinking they could anticipate him.

Out of Wynn's pitching fist came fast balls, breaking balls and knucklers, at intervals of his own choosing after suitable surveys of the batter. He spoke his contempt for batters simply by holding the ball and looking contemptuously at them. He was psyching hitters before he suckered them.

There have been other complete professionals in the majors, and some of them have been already voted into the Hall of Fame. But only a very few of them ever won 300 games. Wynn has this latter credential, embossed by the charm of his villainous manner.

Kings Sparked By Flett, Joyal

By The Canadian Press

Without Bill Flett and Eddie Joyal, Los Angeles Kings might be completely out of the running in the Western Division of the National Hockey League.

Flett, with 26 goals, and Joyal, with 23, were the Kings' top goal scorers last season and helped the team to a second-place finish. This season, the two again are leading the Kings.

Los Angeles, behind Flett's two goals, defeated New York Rangers 3-1 Tuesday night to move into third place in the Western Division. The goals were the 11th and 12th for Flett. Joyal has 15.

Scoring the other goal for Los Angeles Tuesday night was Gord Labossiere while Vic Hadfield scored for the Rangers.

OUTPUT IS LOWEST

Los Angeles, last in the NHL in goal production, has only 85 this season and Joyal and Flett have accounted for almost one-third of that total.

Flett opened the scoring at 5:50 of the first period. The Rangers tied the score on Hadfield's goal at 0:58 of the second period.

Then Flett, a solidly-built right winger, scored his second of the night at 4:48 of the third period and Labossiere, recently recalled from Springfield of the American Hockey League, added an insurance tally at 7:15.

Rookie Gerry Desjardins kicked out 35 New York shots in continuing to give Los Angeles sound goaltending.

Coaches Battle Against Curves

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers and St. Louis Blues of the National Hockey League are attempting to gain support for ban-the-curved-stick legislation.

"I'm in favor of seeing them do away with those sticks," says Boom Boom Geoffrion of the Rangers.

Coach Scotty Bowman of the Blues takes it a step further.

"Except for Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins, whose top scorers have been successful with the curved stick, I think I could get support for the rule," Bowman says.

MAKES NO MATTER

Bowman, whose Western Division leading Blues haven't done it with the banana blade, estimates that about a third of his team's goals this season have been scored by backhand shots.

And Geoffrion points out that the bend in the blade prevents the use of the backhand. "And if the player doesn't cup the puck in the right place when he's carrying it, he can't pass properly either."

Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield, two top performers for the Rangers, both use curved sticks, but Geoffrion isn't concerned about this.

He points out that neither himself nor Rocket Richard used one; that Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings and Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens do not use them. Geoffrion scored 393 lifetime goals, while Richard scored 544 in regular-season play.

Howe has scored 707 NHL goals and Beliveau 448.

Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks have made the sticks popular, but Geoffrion says younger players can't do their best with a stick that permits them to shoot faster but not handle the puck.

"By the time the slapping-the-puck generation—the 10-year-olds—reaches the NHL, we won't have a player with a backhand shot," says Bowman.

The NHL rulesmakers have restricted the curvature of the stick to 1½ inches, but Geoffrion and Bowman are against any curve whatsoever.

Lombardi Finds Talk Of Offer 'Interesting'

ATLANTA, Ga. — Green Bay Packer general manager Vince Lombardi would accept the job of commissioner of baseball if it were offered him, The Atlanta Journal has reported. Lombardi described the report as "interesting."

The Journal, in a story by baseball writer Wilt Browning, quoted Atlanta Braves star Hank Aaron as saying he has been told by sources close to Lombardi that the former Packer coach would take the job.

The Journal quoted Lombardi, in an interview from Miami, as indicating he might consider the job.

"It's interesting, but I don't know whether I would or not. It's a great position and it's a job of great prestige. But I doubt that I would be asked, but I would have to say that's interesting," Lombardi was quoted as saying.

Lombardi, who built a professional football dynasty at Green Bay, has been associated with baseball in the past. He was a member of the board of directors of the Braves when the team was in Milwaukee.

NAMATH REPORTS TO SQUAD . . . FOR AFL ALL-STAR GAME

Cash isn't Cause of Joe's Joy

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Joe Namath is happy and he says it has nothing to do with his $15,000 winner's share from the Super Bowl or other riches likely to follow this milestone in football history.

Namath reported in Tuesday night to the East squad for Sunday's American Football League all-star game in the Gator Bowl, along with 10 other members of the world champion New York Jets.

"I'm happy and monetary value is no part of it," Namath said when asked what he figured the AFL's first victory over the National Football League champs will mean to him financially.

"It isn't that I think I have enough money," the smooth throwing quarterback said.

"The way I spend it, there probably isn't enough, but I'm happy and my plan for the off-season is to stay happy."

Namath rejected questions about his injuries—two fingers on his left hand taped together, a thumb on his throwing hand that he said got tired in the Super Bowl game, or his troublesome knees.

Namath is scheduled to share the East quarterbacking with Bob Griese in the all-star game.

At least, that's the way coach Wally Lemm plans it right now. But he isn't giving any guarantees.

"Each of them will play half the game," Lemm said. "I think each of them will quarterback a full half, but I'll have to work that out with them."

Famed Athlete Ousted For Reformist Support

PRAGUE — Emil Zatopek, one of Czechoslovakia's most famous athletes and a two-time Olympic gold medal winner, has been ousted from his defence ministry post because of his active support of progressive reforms, Reporter Magazine said Tuesday.

The magazine of the Czech journalists union published a letter by Ludek Pachman, a mathematician and Czech chess champion, who was protesting to the defence ministry about the ouster.

He said Zatopek lost his position as an educaton officer in the defence minsitry and is now an assistant coach of the army track team in Prague.

"I think many people in this land will agree that such a status for a man who belongs to the most famous figures of the last quarter of a century is our joint shame and I don't intend to bear this shame without protest," Pachman wrote.

Pachman said Zatopek is not an isolated case and that there have been "full scale" personnel changes in the army since the Soviet-led invasion.

Can't See How We Can Agree

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The International Ice Hockey Federation has received an official request from Canada for the immediate suspension of Russia from international hockey, it was learned today.

Rudolf Ekloew, Swedish vice-president of the IIHF, said here:

"I have just received this demand from Canada, but I cannot see how we can agree to it."

CHANCE TO EXPLAIN

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association demanded the suspension of Russia because Soviet officials called off an eight-game tour of Canada at the last minute without notice. The tour was to have started Friday. The Russians said they cancelled the trip because they claimed they would have met second-rate Canadian teams.

Ekloew said:

"Certainly the Russian cancellation came extremely late but there are precedents. For example we ourselves were forced to turn down a visit here by the Soviet Army team in August. But the invasion of Czechoslovakia lay behind that."

He said the Soviet Union must be given the opportunity to explain their decision.

"You can't just go ahead and ban a country. Eventual measures should, I believe, be decided at the international federation's summer congress in Switzerland in July."

Vikettes Square Count On Win Over Maplettes

Heather Witzel provided the spark by scoring half of her club's points at the University of Victoria Tuesday night as the Uvic Vikettes edged Victoria Maplettes 44-40 in a tense Inter-City Senior Women's Basketball League battle.

With the victory, the students evened the score after two clashes between the city clubs, making up for the 35-31 win grabbed by Maplettes last week.

Two games remain in which Maplettes, last year's Canadian champions under the Rawlings name, face the Vikettes under former Rawling coach Howie Tooby.

Although official league standings are not available, unofficial placings put Vikettes in a tie for third with Vancouver's Mt. Pleasant Legion. Maplettes stand second on the ladder.

Vikettes, who face leading Molsons in Vancouver on Saturday and Sunday, have four games remaining, Mr. Pleasant three and Maplettes two.

Vikettes never trailed during the first half and had a 20-18 lead by the intermission. Maplettes romped back in the second half and were ahead 35-33 going into the final minutes.

Barb Tribe then evened the score with two foul shots and Miss Witzel put Vikettes in front to stay at 37-35.

Angie Radanovich led Maplettes with 13 points while Mary Coutts chipped in 11.

McNEILL GOES TO COURT IN FIGHT WITH CANUCKS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bill McNeill filed suit against the Western Hockey League Vancouver Canucks in British Columbia Supreme Court Tuesday, challenging the right of the club to trade him to a club he does not want to play with.

McNeill, 32, objected when Canucks traded him to Rochester of American Hockey League two weeks ago.

The veteran forward was suspended when he refused to report.

McNeill seeks to have rectified a WHL players' contract said to have been entered into between him and Canucks.

He also asks for a mandatory injunction requiring the hockey club to cancel its purported suspension of him as a professional hockey player and to notify the WHL and all other professional hockey leagues.

Distaff Drivers Hit Few Troubles At Harness Tracks

MONTREAL (CP)—Recent difficulties encountered by women in the United States in breaking into the previously all-male field of thoroughbred jockeys have not hit the less-sophisticated harness racing trade.

Like women everywhere, Bobbe Huntress gives a disdainful sniff when you mention Penny Ann Early and her problems on U.S. tracks.

Penny stole a lot of headlines when, after being licensed as a jockey, her male counterparts boycotted any race in which she drew a mount They simply scratched, forcing cancellation of the race.

Other distaff jockeys have recently obtained riding licences but none has yet competed in a race on a thoroughbred track.

The male contingent stuck to the theory that a woman's place is in the home or office, not astride a powerful thoroughbred racing for the wire.

A campaigner at Blue Bonnets here, Miss Huntress can list 20 tracks and two dozen fairs at which she has been welcomed as a harness deriver since first obtaining her licence at Vernon Downs, near Rochester, N.Y., 15 years ago. She has been campaigning here for 10 years.

WORLDS APART

Speaking of Penny Ann's troubles with her jockey's career, Bobbe says:

"Of course, standardbreds and thoroughbreds are worlds apart. I don't know what their (the jockeys) thinking is, but I know the same thing couldn't happen with us as happened with Penny.

"I never noticed anyone giving me a break or treating me any rougher than they'd treat anyone else. At least, I hope they haven't give me any breaks. I sort of think they might even try a little harder because they don't like to be beaten by a woman."

Miss Huntress didn't have any problems when she started "because there have been other women in harness racing."

OBTAINED SUPPORT

"I drove my first race at Vernon Downs and it didn't seem to be special to anyone but me."

Bobbe, a native of a small upstate New York town, said there was only one place where she had trouble and that was in Massachussetts.

"At Foxboro, near Boston, there is a rule that women don't drive. I put out a form letter to every name I could find . . racing secretaries, drivers, anyone who had seen me drive or who had driven against me.

"I got a surprising response, all in support of me, but it didn't make any impression and they the state commission refused me a licence."

GIRLS BEAT MEN

The event which brings a big smile to her face happened at Monticello, N.Y., "a couple of years ago."

"There was a Russian girl driver in and they tried to get an all-girl race. The best they could do was four, so there were four girls and four men. The girls finished 1-2-3-4, so we were pretty happy."

Bobbe is neither awed nor cowed in a sport primarily populated by men. She aaccepts the fact she can drive,and she came to Blue Bonnets Raceway strictly to work.

"I didn't even bring a dress, strictly work clothes," she says.

She and a few other women continue to race the North American harness ovals with no special privileges.

Penny Making Another Try In California

ARCADIA, Calif. — Penny Ann Early, a young lady who wants to be a jockey, has filed an application for a licence to ride at Santa Anita and awaited Tuesday the next move by the track's board of stewards.

Thwarted in a bid to ride late last year at Churchill Downs by a boycott of male riders, Miss Early, a comely 25-year-old divorcee, has a licence here to exercise horses.

A three-man tribunal of stewards will first judge her ability to break a horse from the starting gate, in company with at least two other horses.

If she passes, she will receive a provisional licence. It will permit her to ride in one race as a test

MIAMI — Barbara Jo Rubin, the teen-ager seeking to become the first girl jockey at an American pari-mutuel race track, was named to ride a horse in today's fourth race at Tropical Park.

The horse, Stoneland, was moved up from the also-eligible list today when another horse was scratched.

The Tropica season ends Thursday and action then shifts to Hialeah.

Miss Rubin qualified to ride by passing a test Monday before track stewards.

FIGHT RESULTS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Gomeo Brennan, 161½, Bahamas, knocked out Larry Carney, 167, Boston, 5.

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. — Irish Frankie Crawford, 127, Van Nuys, Calif., and Jose Pimentel, 125½, East Los Angeles, Calif., drew, 10.

Plane Crashes Into Quarry; Five Injured

MILAN, Italy (CP-Reuters) — Sand and snow at the bottom of a quarry saved the lives of all 33 persons aboard a crashed British United Airways BAC-111 jet, police said today.

The twin-engined jet skimmed over roofs of suburban houses here, plowed through an electric power line, then plunged into the quarry only minutes after taking off for London Tuesday night.

But all 26 passengers—including a 40-day-old baby—and seven crew members survived. Five passengers—all Italians—were taken to hospital although none was badly hurt.

Eleven of the passengers were Britons, 14 Italians and Jean Dogherty of Toronto who works for BUA.

RENEWED East-West contacts, broken off after the Warsaw pact invasion of Czechoslovakia, were called for Tuesday by NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio.

Censors Cut Up Rosemary's Baby

LONDON (CP) — The movie Rosemary's Baby has run into censorship trouble in Britain because of witchcraft sex scenes involving Mia Farrow, director Roman Polanski said Monday.

He told a reporter censors had cut up a scene in which the nude Miss Farrow dreams of having a child fathered by Satan.

The censors objected to "elements of kinky sex associated with black magic" and were worried because "there is quite a lot of this kind of witchcraft going on in Britain," Polanski said in an interview.

Mediation Help Offered To Settle Teamster Tieup

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia mediation commission has offered its services in a dispute between 300 drivers, members of the Teamsters Union and the Amalgamated Construction Association.

John Parker, chairman of the commission, said Tuesday that while neither party had requested assistance, it was commission policy to offer its help.

He said both sides had been informed that Ed Sims, a mediation officer, was available to them.

The Teamsters' strike affects about 2,500 workers who have refused to cross picket lines at 18 construction companies.

The Teamsters have rejected an association offer of 83 to 90-cent hourly increases including a 25 to 30-cent adjustment for a reduction in the working week from 40 to 37½ hours.

They seek a 30-cent conversion increase on top of an additional 83 cents as recommended in a conciliation board report.

Cow Kills Man

HIRSON, France (Reuters)—Gilbert Champagne, 48-year-old father of five, was killed Tuesday when he tried to prevent a cow from attacking a group of children. The cow severed one of Champagne's arteries with a horn.

Act Delays Seating Of New MLA

James Lorimer, who won the Burnaby-Willingdon byelection Monday for the New Democratic Party, will not be able to take his seat immediately when the legislature opens its next session a week Thursday.

Speaker William Murray said Tuesday that under the provincial Elections Act, Mr. Lorimer can't be sworn in for at least 10 days after the final count is made Thursday in Burnaby-Willingdon so Jan. 27 would be earliest he can sit in the legislature.

Mr. Lorimer, a 45-year-old mainland lawyer, has close connections with Victoria where he was born. A brother, Duncan, is principal of Victoria High School and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Strong, lives in Sooke.

The family lived on a north Sooke farm for 15 years and briefly operated a grocery store at the Belmont and Myrtle intersection here during the Second World War.

Rennie Looks to Spring And Girls, Girls, Girls

Rennie Heckert is looking for girls.

Chairman of the Jaycees' Miss Victoria Pageant, Mr. Heckert said this morning he is compiling a list of possible contestants for the spring judging and invites interested girls to phone 383-4521 between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. any week day.

Eligible contestants must be at least 19 years old before next September and must have lived in Victoria or southern Vancouver Island for the past six months.

Preliminary judging will take place in April at the Empress Hotel and 10 girls will be selected for the final judging during the Jaycee Fair in May.

The winnier of the Miss Victoria title will be entered in the Miss Canada Pageant and other beauty shows during the year of her reign.

Pam Gillian, the current Miss Victoria, placed third in the Miss Canada Pageant last November.

Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. Highland Dump Is Now Closed

The major garbage dump on Millstream Road, north of Langford, is shut down permanently, its owner said this morning.

"The health guys told the municipalities to go to Hartland Road (just north of Prospect Lake). We weren't going to comply with the non-burning regulations," said R. F. Rant, owner of Highland Sanitary Centre dump.

"We have shut down. We quit."

He said Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Saanich, Smithrite Garbage Disposal Limited and the national defence department had used his dump. Only one using the dump now is the navy which has a contract running to April 1. Mr. Rant said the navy was one of the smaller customers.

Mr. Rant has run the dump for 15 years, using two or three acres of a total of 60 to 70 acres.

He said closure means the loss of $2,500 a month (gross) but he was "not too badly off" because he has other business interests.

The land may be subdivided, he added.

The future of the other dump on Millstream Road, Scafe's Dump, is not officially known but it is also expected to close. Owner W. D. Scafe has not been available Tuesday or this morning.

Last year, the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health introduced new regulations banning garbage dump burning and ordering covering and compacting.

The changes were effective Jan. 1 but both dumps on Millstream Road continued open burning after this date.

Complying with the regulations is the Hartland Road dump, owned by Victoria Disposal Company Limited.

Drug Hijack Bid Fails, 10 Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Police seized about $15,000 worth of marijuana and LSD Monday night when an attempted hijacking of drugs ended in a shooting at a Toronto apartment.

Ten persons were charged on drug counts or wounding after five men forced their way into the apartment of a Toronto man in what police think was an attempt to rob him of drugs.

When the two men living in the apartment tried to shove the intruders out the door, police said one of the hijackers fired a gun wounding a member of his group and one of the men in the apartment.

ON TOES FOR A BUCK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's Mayor Tom Campbell, a self-made millionaire, knows an easy way to make a dollar.

So on Friday, he will appear in a walk-on role in the National Ballet of Canada's production of The Nutcracker.

The mayor will appear briefly in a costume role in the first act.

All actors must get paid, says the Actors' Guild. In Mayor Campbell's case, the fee is $2.

Compensation Rate 'Area of Conflict'

An accident on the West Saanich Road in which a Sidney youth was killed resulted in an action for damages in Victoria Law Courts Tuesday.

Killed in the crash, which occurred on June 7, 1966, was Albert Morgan, 17, son of Walter F. Morgan, 10364 All Bay Road.

The action was brought against the driver of the car, David Allan Crossman, 20, by a passenger in the back seat, James Robert Kobierski, also 20.

In his claim for damages, Kobierski alleged that the accident was caused by negligence and that Crossman was driving at an excessive rate of speed.

Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton reserved judgment on the claim.

Through his lawyer, Cecil Branson, Kobierski asked for general damages and costs, including medical expenses and compensation for suffering and loss of opportunity while incapacitated.

Kobierski's injuries included cerebral concussion, fracture and dislocation of cervical vertebra, contusions and abrasions and injuries to the left hand and left arm.

The car in which he was riding was travelling from Victoria to Sidney. Just before midnight it left the road and crashed into a utility pole. Morgan died soon afterwards.

Allan Thackeray, appearing for the driver, said most of the evidence presented by the claimant was not disputed. It was only in the area of compensation for loss of income and opportunity that there was conflict.

Mr. Thackeray admitted that the six weeks Kobierski spent in hospital involved suffering.

Dr. Fouad A. Hamdi told of performing an operation to reposition dislocated cervical vertebrae. He was given a local anaesthetic but some pain and apprehension was involved.

Dr. Charles A. Simpson, a neurologist, said there was a probability that Kobierski would later suffer arthritic changes in the spine.

Saanich Moves To Pick Up Own Garbage

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Saanich municipality will almost certainly go into the garbage business next year.

This would involve termination of the present service provided by L. S. McNutt. In going into public garbage collection, Saanich would be following Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay.

The municipal public works committee voted 4-to-1 Tuesday night to recommend to council that Saanich take over collection of garbage in 1970.

While council must make the final decision, comments from members and non-members of public works committee, coupled with recent comments by aldermen not at Tuesdays meeting, indicate the recommendation will be approved at the council level with a 6-to-3 vote.

SECOND STEP

The recommendation is the second major step Saanich has taken in a month on the long-debated garbage collection issue.

Last Dec. 9, following a favorable resident plebiscite, council voted to switch the present privately-operated service to weekly collection the year round. This began officially Jan. 1 but in practice was delayed as everyone recovered from the Christmas-New Year snow.

Saanich engineer Neville Life presented a report to the committee in which he mentioned a per household price, based on 1968 costs, of $19.70, although he added that this estimate may be high.

The existing service, for 1969, costs $18 per household but Saanich is paying dumping fees which amount to about 40 cents per household.

WEEKLY PICKUP

Mr. Life's report was based on the assumption that garbage will be picked up throughout the municipality on a weekly basis. Disposal costs were not included. New equipment costing $200.500 was taken into account.

The total annual cost was put at $337,110. Oak Bay's innovation of powered buggy garbage pickups, adapted for Saanich, would reduce the $19.70 per year estimate to $17.50, he said.

Two years ago, Saanich called for private tenders for new garbage service. Only one tender was received—the present contractor did not bid—and that tender was eventually rejected.

Since then aldermen have wrestled with the problem of weekly versus fortnightly collections and public versus private service.

'A CONVERT'

Ald. Alan Newberry, who admitted he is a convert to municipal collection from private collection, made the motion to recommend Saanich move into the garbage business.

He was supported by Ald. Edith Gunning, long-time supporter of municipal collection, Ald. William Campbell, who at one time favored private collection, and freshman Ald. Frank Waring. Ald. William Noel remained opposed.

Most Posties on Job Kierans Tells House

OTTAWA (CP) — Most postmen whose jobs are wiped out by changes in the postal system already have been relocated, Postmaster-General Eric Kierans told the Commons Tuesday.

In a statement dealing with complaints from the postmen, he said new posts have been found for all but 601 of the 2,068 whose jobs become redundant with start of five-day delivery Feb. 1, or through other changes.

There also are 215 unfilled vacancies in the department, reducing the redundant number to 386, Mr. Kierans said.

And these men will be kept on staff for 60 days after Feb. 1 to fill vacancies that open up. "Unresolved cases" then would be discussed with the unions.

Officials of the 12,000-member Letter Carriers Union of Canada have been meeting in Ottawa to discuss the changes. They have threatened a walkout or work slowdown if no agreement is reached.

Entry fee is 75 cents for the first dog and 50 cents for subsequent dogs. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Entries will be accepted from 12:30 to 1:30.

Bright eyes and roguish smile make it hard to believe that Florenda Joy Dick, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick, 355 Gorge Road, stands desperately in need of help. An operation to mend congenital heart defects has been scheduled for early March at famed Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. The question: Will Florenda be able to keep that date with life?

Arthur Mayse

In this pleasant city of ours, there lives a little girl whom I think you would like to meet.

Her name is Florenda Joy Dick. She has long, natural-blonde hair. Her eyes are blue, her smile is happy and she's as sweet a six-year-old as you'd find in a month of Sundays. If she lives to be 16, I expect she will break hearts.

But it's a mighty large "if." Unless Florenda Joy is given the help she so urgently needs, and which her parents are unable to provide, her own heart will fail her before she reaches her teens.

Her prospect ... creeping senility, and death in her springtime.

Florenda Joy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick, who share rented quarters with their three children at 355 Gorge Road. She started grade one at Tillicum Elementary last September; she loves school, and is a bright and eager beginner.

Her heart needs mending, and soon, but today she feels fine and her world is bright.

I first heard about Florenda and the dark shadow across her life from a registered nurse who is a friend of the family.

She is Mrs. Edward Barbin of 546 Linden Avenue. This is what she told me:

"I know a very good, decent couple whose little daughter has a congenital heart condition. Unless the defects are corrected, she won't live to grow up. The doctors have recommended that she go to Mayo Clinic at Rochester for an operation that can give her a normal, healthy life. Her parents mean to give her that chance, even though it will keep them in debt for the rest of their lives."

★

I phoned Florenda's people, and on Sunday evening, went out to visit. David and Sadie Dick had just returned from evening service at Glad Tidings Tabernacle on North Park Street.

Florenda had been allowed to stay up past her eight o'clock bedtime. Shy with strangers, she regarded me solemnly from her father's knee. She looks like a perfectly healthy child; and so far, except for the fact that she tires easily, her heart defects have not impeded her.

It is hard to believe that she goes to Tillicum only on the understanding that an ambulance can be summoned for her at any moment of her school day.

Her father, who hopes to return to his job with a paving firm when the weather squares away, started her toward bed. Then he and Sadie Dick, a nurses' aide, told me about Florenda Joy and the terrible problem that has moved from the background to the forefront of their lives.

David, a coast man who once worked a small mainland farm with his brothers, married a Manitoba girl. They settled down not far from Winnipeg, and for a number of years, he worked as a long-haul transport driver.

A man with a growing family yearns for more than two days a month at home. David Dick traded that job for another. The couple were warned that some day their youngest would require an operation for which surgical skills were still in the development stage. Florenda, however, wasn't a "blue baby" — far from it. They had a generous allowance of time.

Sadie and David Dick have always done for themselves. They told me, while we sat in their neat living room, that they have never been on welfare, or asked help of anyone.

Something over a year ago, David brought his wife and children out to Victoria. Sadie fell in love with the city at sight. They both found work; but what with the needs and minor emergencies that confront any growing family, their expenses never much more than matched their income.

Then, last fall, they learned from a Victoria heart specialist that for Florenda Joy, time was running out. She had reached a peak of condition that she is unlikely to attain again. She could slope off from this peak at any time — and once the downward trend sets in, the end is predictable.

Sadie Dick, a quiet, brown-haired woman with worry on her face, spoke softly.

"We're a close family," she said, "and we'd do anything to save her. We always thought we could raise the money when the time came, but it looks now as if we won't be able to borrow a fraction of what's needed."

Florenda Joy, who had been getting ready for bed with numerous squeaks and giggles, trotted in. She wore flowered flannelette pajamas, and she looked like a pint-sized angel.

She kissed her father, ventured a smile at me, then skipped over to her dad. David bent for a hug.

"Alright, Sam," he told her, "Away you go now!"

"Sam" is his pet-name for her. Like her brother and sister, this is a much-loved child.

But she is a child on the edge of trouble that only a generous city's love for all its children can avert and that's why I bring her case to you.

(Tomorrow: More about Florenda Dick, the child without a future, and the highly-complex open heart surgery that can give her one.)

CURTIS SIGHS RELIEF

Welcomes Authority Of Pollution Board

A cabinet decision to give the disputed jurisdiction over air and water controls to the Pollution Control Board was hailed today by regional board chairman Mayor Hugh Curtis of Saanich.

"If the Pollution Control Board, as it appears, is to be the determining authority then this is good news for taxpayers in the capital region, both from the dollar-saving and aesthetic points of view," Mayor Curtis said.

"We will undoubtedly have good standards to which we must conform in the disposal of sewage.

VINDICATION

"It's a vindication of the stand taken by the regional district.

"I'm very relieved and satisfied."

Mayor Curtis, supported by other civic leaders here, bitterly attacked Health Minister Ralph Loffmark's past statements that the health department would impose minimum standards for clean air and pure water to protect the public.

'TOO TOUGH'

The Greater Victoria mayors condemned Mr. Loffmark's attitude as too tough and repeatedly claimed the health minister was speaking only for himself and not cabinet.

The decision to reserve jurisdiction to the PCB was made at Monday's cabinet meeting.

Both Resources Minister Ray Williston, in charge of the PCB, and Mr. Loffmark confirmed that a long-prepared code for health department air and water standards had been shunted back for restudy as a result of the cabinet decision.

NO CONFLICT

But both also vehemently denied there had ever been internal cabinet conflict over the jurisdiction question.

Mr. Loffmark said he withdrew the standards he took to the cabinet meeting for consideration because part of his department including himself did not feel they should be adopted with further modification.

And Mr. Williston—in an obvious slam at a report in Tuesday's Times—said reports which "try to whip up conflict" between the health and resources authorities over pollution control are completely unjustified.

'ADMINISTRATIVE'

"This kind of conflict simply doesn't exist," Mr. Williston insisted.

"This is basically an administrative matter.

"The health department can come out any time it chooses with common standards for air and water purity for the guidance of health units and the municipalities they serve.

"But provincial standards can only be implemented through the Pollution Control Board."

Malahat Study Gets Response From Drivers

Greater Victoria and District Safety Council's study of what causes accidents on the Malahat is receiving good public response.

General manager Dennis Wagner said criticisms and suggestions have been flowing from the public and a preliminary report will go to safety council executive Feb. 4.

Ask The Times

Q. In 1906-7 Rat Portage, now Kenora, Ont., had a seven-man hockey team that won the 1907 Stanley Cup in Montreal. What was the name of that team? I should also like to know if Tommy Philips, the "Iron Man of Hockey," is in the Hockey Hall of Fame.—J. B. L.

A. In 1907 the Kenora Thistles defeated Montreal 4-2 and 8-6 with Philips scoring seven goals. (He also played with Montreal AAA in 1903 when they won the Stanley Cup.) Yes, he is enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Philips died in Toronto in 1923 at the age of 43.

DAVE CAMPBELL
... "can't sit around"

ONE-WAYS SAFER, FASTER

A city accident survey shows Yates and Fort Streets are carrying their one-way traffic not only faster but more safely.

Over-all traffic volume on Victoria's first paired one-way streets is up 20 per cent, traffic engineer Dave Campbell said today.

But a comparison of accidents last November with the same month a year before shows there were 12 mishaps each month. Not only has the increased flow not increased accidents but those since the streets became one-way have been less severe.

There were no head-on or angle collisions in November, Mr. Campbell said. Four of the crashes were rear-end collisions and five resulted from changing lanes improperly.

Fort became eastbound only and Yates westbound from Wharf Street to the Dardanelles last September with the intention of reducing downtown congestion, said Mr. Campbell.

LESS TIME

Studies show the change has done the job with travel time chopped 18 per cent on Fort and 20 per cent on Yates despite increased volumes.

While traffic on average is up 20 per cent, on Yates east of Cook it has jumped 100 per cent. An average of almost 11,000 vehicles go west there now in contrast to 5,440 both ways before the change.

Traffic counts the week before Christmas in the 700-block Fort showed another jump of 22 per cent in the holiday shopping rush. The same block on Yates showed a 10 per cent increase.

Mr. Campbell said the city faces a 7 per cent annually jump in traffic volume "and we just can't sit around and hope it will go away."

Fitness 69 Thrown Open To All Ages

Fitness 69 starts officially at noon Friday when cyclists take part in a three-mile ride through Beacon Hill Park and along Dallas Road waterfront.

The event will inaugurate the YM-YWCA-sponsored program for fitness among adults.

Some of the cyclists will be setting out on the first stage of the 750 miles they must pedal during the next six months to qualify for the prize, a silver teaspoon.

Meanwhile, registration in the other Fitness 69 activities, walking, jogging and swimming, is "going like a house on fire," Y physical director Art Burgess said.

By Wednesday upwards of 100 had paid their $1 registration fee at the YM-YWCA building.

Jan. 24 will see the walking event get into high gear, as members of the Silver Threads Service take part in a brisk stroll through the city. Walking has been included especially for middle-aged and elderly persons who could not be expected to undertake more strenuous forms of physical activity.

While walkers trudge out the 250 miles they must cover during the next six months, (it averages out to about 10 miles a week), joggers will be attempting to run 100 miles, while swimmers go to work on their 25-mile quota.

The Y fitness committee decided earlier this week that due to popular demand it will draw up a special mileage card to enable participants to enter more than one event. For example, someone whose basic activity consists of jogging will be able to convert the distance he swims or pedals into running miles.

●

Another new twist was added to Fitness 69 Tuesday when the fitness committee decided to throw the program open to the under-18 age group, following several inquiries from people who were "quite upset" that children had been excluded.

Mr. Burgess said organizers had originally felt Fitness 69 should be aimed at adults, who usually have a greater need for keeping fit.

"Adults are more concerned about fitness — kids haven't had time to wear out. Now we find some kids want to take part in the program because their parents are doing it."

Battle Starts Against Unique Insurance Plan

Labelled Threat To Tourist Trade

By JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Opponents of the compulsory driver insurance plan on a "no-fault" basis proposed by the Wootton Royal Commission today began public campaigning against its implementation.

Greater Vancouver Visitors' and Convention Bureau president Frank Bernard blasted the proposal as a threat to the tourist industry and indicated other groups are lining up to make their criticisms on the eve of the legislature's opening next week.

Mr. Bernard, in a telephone interview from Vancouver, told The Times his bureau has completed studies initiated immediately after the Wootton report's release last fall and is seeking an appointment with the provincial cabinet to express its opposition.

"It may be next week but we're not sure yet because it's a matter of timing," he said.

"There are so many other sectors of the ecomony which wish to make their points against it (the commission's report) and we have to decide whose turn will be first."

However, a public relations spokesman for the auto insurance industry in B.C. said studies they launched on the impact and methods of implementing the report still haven't been completed and it is not known when the industry will make a statement or if it will ask for a meeting with cabinet.

READY TO TALK

"But we are on record as being willing to meet with cabinet if they wish and are willing to co-operate in any study or discussions," the spokesman recalled.

Mr. Bernard said the visitors' bureau told deputy travel industry minister Ronald Worley that it opposed the report when it was released "just to get us on the record while we studied it."

As a result of the study, the bureau has attacked the principal and most controversial change proposed by the commission that insurance benefits be paid immediately after an accident to everyone suffering damage regardless of fault, leaving traffic courts to punish rule-breakers.

'AT OWN RISK'

A corollary of this recommendation was that out-of-province drivers be covered by the same provisions while in B.C. — protecting them from civil suits in accidents but also denying them the right to sue for more than the $20,000 death benefit per person or set scale of injury compensation.

"No other area in North America denies the right of a driver to sue," Mr. Bernard said.

"We would become an island of two million people in a sea of 200 million.

"In fact, we would have to say to the potential visitor: visit beautiful British Columbia—but at your own risk."

Keynote Talk By Ex-City Principal

About 250 B.C. high school students heading for teaching careers will hear of developments and trends in the profession at the University of Victoria Jan. 29 to Feb. 1.

It is the 11th annual Future Teachers' Conference and Uvic is hosting it for the second time. The program has been organized by the teacher undergraduates with the blessings of the education faculty and the department of education.

Among subjects to be discussed will be progress in education of B.C. Indians, visual aids in the school, the position of French in the school and individualized learning.

Keynote speaker at a banquet Feb. 1 will be B.C. Gillie, superintendent of schools in the Northwest Territories and a former principal at Victoria's S. J. Willis junior secondary school.

Michael Farr, third-year education student and conference co-ordinator, said the Education Undergraduate Society is trying to find billets for about 220 out-of-town students.

Three Areas Lose Garbage Collections

The privately-run garbage service in Langford, Colwood and Metchosin came to an end today.

A statement from A. W. Patenaude, who ran the service, said it is being discontinued "as of Jan. 15."

About 15,000 persons live in the unincorporated area. The statement said service to Sooke will continue.

The service was ended because of lack of necessary support from the community, the statement said.

FRANCHISE

It added that the only way it could be resolved was by the Capital Regional Board giving Mr. Patenaude a franchise and by full discussion on the disposal issue.

(The regional board, however, does not have authority to enter into the garbage disposal business. This is a municiapal responsibility, but Langford, Colwood and Metchosin do not have municipal government. A vote on this is being held Feb. 1.)

Mr. Patenaude could not be reached for further comment this morning. He was working on garbage pickups in Sooke.

Last weekend, he said his service was running three to four weeks behind schedule because of recent snow and flu.

But what worried him, he said then, was where garbage will be dumped (see story on page 21) and some guarantee to enable purchase of new equipment.

He has 1950 and 1956 trucks for garbage collection. Pickup cost was $1 a month for those who wanted it.

Colwood Plaza, meanwhile, has three large containers for public garbage dumping.

'Worst In Canada' Label Hung On Waiting Lists at Hospitals

By PETE LOUDON

A national survey of hospital waiting lists gives Victoria the title of "worst in Canada" a Victoria doctor claims.

And he lays the blame on the regional hospital board for "dragging its feet or being ineffective."

Oak Bay alderman, Dr. G. Scott Wallace, said a survey of 82 Canadian hospitals, each with more than 200 beds, was recently carried out. Sixty hospitals replied.

"Of them, we have the worst waiting list in Canada, the longest wait for (treatment of) elective conditions —10 months for some of them in Victoria.

"HELL OF A MESS"

"It proves the hell of a mess we're in."

Dr. Wallace said the survey, which was circulated among doctors at a Victoria Medical Society meeting, puts Victoria third from the top of the list as to the number of people per thousand of population who are waiting hospital admission.

"The regional hospital district board doesn't seem to be convinced of the desperate urgency. A referendum was passed in October approving creation of 600 extended care beds (to relieve pressure on acute care beds at Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals).

"Early proposals were for 200 at Mount St. Mary's Hospital, 200 at St. Mary's Priory, 150 at Gorge Road Hospital. (Twenty were for Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges and 30 to be planned later. Subsequently, Health Minister Ralph Loffmark asked the board to decide the allocations after the vote was passed.)

"Not one of these hospitals has been extended a nickel for planning. The board hasn't done a darn thing," said the doctor.

"The regional board has sidetracked issued of importance. Mayor Hawes (Oak Bay's delegate to the regional district and the regional hospital district) says the board must first decide ownership of the hospitals.

"This has nothing to do with it and it's a waste of time to debate it," Dr. Wallace said that regardless of ownership all acute care hospitals in the past have operated on public funds.

DR. SCOTT WALLACE
... frustrated

He said the provincial health department has issued a booklet citing basic requirements for extended care units which would qualify for operational grants "but not one scrap of planning has been permitted at any one of the three hospitals earlier mentioned as logical sites for extended care beds.

Dr. Wallace said the regional hospital district board met last on December 18 and does not meet again until Jan. 29.

"This is a public scandal that elected officials should adopt this attitude. They are devoid of any sense of urgency. Three thousand people are waiting beds and it is in the nature of a crisis."

Dr. Wallace said he has spent the most frustrating 13 months of his life serving on council. He was motivated by a desire to help solve the hospital bed shortage "the most pressing, critical problem of the community."

But he had been able to accomplish nothing. Only the mayor in Oak Bay is serving on the regional district board.

Dr. Wallace went on to say the regional hospital district board has chosen to ignore recommendations by the Greater Victoria Hospitals' Advisory Board which is made up of hospital administrators and doctors.

NO MENTION

Instead the hospital district board has set up its own advisory committee drawn from elected board members, aldermen and mayors.

He said Oak Bay Mayor Fred Hawes gave a "6½-page New Year's address without once mentioning the hospital situation" ...

Dr. Wallace said he could hardly fault the people of the capital region for turning down future referendums for acute care hospital beds on the basis "of this lack of performance."

Dr. Wallace was speaking in an interview and said his views were the personal opinions of a doctor and an alderman.

CURTIS ISN'T ALARMED

'He's an Explosive Alderman'

Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis, as chairman of the regional hospital board, today practised some verbal surgery on Dr. G. Scott Wallace.

"He has established a reputation for being an explosive alderman in Oak Bay. And I read his comments in that context," said Mayor Curtis.

Commenting on Dr. Wallace's charges that Victoria has the worst hospital waiting lists in Canada and the hospital district is dragging its feet, Mayor Curtis said:

"This (the survey) is not new information. I've not seen it but I'm aware of its findings.

"The regional hospital district has just celebrated its first anniversary. The record of our first year is not something to be ashamed of.

"We picked up a crash program which already was in progress and carried it through and it is just seven or eight months since we received the Agnew, Peckham study (on local hospital needs).

"We took it to a successful referendum when some hospital people were expressing grave doubts it could be done in the same year as the study.

"Dr. Wallace, since he is not a member of the hospital district board, is not aware of what steps we have taken. I'm not yet alarmed over the amount of time passed since the referendum was voted."

Commenting on Dr. Wallace's statement that the district board is ignoring the professionals of the hospitals' advisory board by naming its own sub-cimmittee as an advisory board, the mayor said;

"He's reading something into that (action) that doesn't exist."

Mayor Curtis said the timing of the appointment of the advisory sub-committee might indicate a down-grading of the professional committee. But this is not intended.

The sub-committee was set up as a checking device to save time for the board.

"We have to rely, must rely on the professionals in the field.

"Dr. Wallace's comments were not unexpected. He's an explosive individual."

DEAR ABBY . . .

This Dad's All Mixed Up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a father who encourages his 10-year-old daughter to give him long, hard kisses on the lips? If she gives him a little peck on the cheek he pulls her back and says, "What kind of kiss do you call THAT?"

I will be honest and admit that he gets very little affection from me. You see, Abby, I don't especially care for my husband. Ever since I married him I have had to help him make a living and I am sick and tired of it. But I still don't think there is any excuse for his acting that way with his own daughter, do you?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Your husband should NOT be kissing his daughter in the manner you describe, no matter how little affection he gets from you. If you don't "especially care for him"—clear out and take your daughter with you. If you remain, you are encouraging a sick, sick situation.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman whose husband had not come near her in two years — since she'd had a hysterectomy. (She said he was the kind of man who went around their property, cutting down all the imperfectly formed trees.)

When I was a boy, I recall we had two apple trees. One was beautiful and perfectly formed, but it bore no fruit. The other bore fruit and showed it by its bent and broken limbs. Dad eventually cut down the beautiful but worthless one.

My wife bore me five beautiful children. Her breasts now droop and her belly shows not-so-lovely stria gravida ("stretch marks") and plenty of them. But she will not be "cut down." She has born fruit, and to me hers is the most beautiful body on earth.

Sincerely,
An "M.D." in PASADENA.

DEAR DOCTOR: Please convey a message to your wife for me. Lady, you have a wonderful husband!

DEAR ABBY: You don't often pull a boner, but when you do it's a lulu. You mentioned the wives of a lot of men who had to get their hands dirty, among them were Thomas Edison, Charles Lindbergh, Walter P. Chrysler, and of all people THE WRIGHT BROTHERS. Abby, for your information, both the WRIGHT BROTHERS were bachelors!

Knit Slacks Require Stitched-In Crease

Dear Eunice Farmer: I made some slacks out of the wonderful polyester knit that doesn't require pressing but they look like a sack on me. I have pressed the front crease in at least a dozen times and every time I wear them, there is no sign of a crease at all. I can't imagine that ready-made slacks of this fabric would be so popular if they always looks so baggy. Have you an answer?—Mrs. H.C.C.

Dear Mrs. H.C.C.: I have checked on some of the more expensive slacks made of heavy polyester knit and found that the front crease is machine stitched in place. In other words, fold and baste your slacks where you desire the crease. Next, machine stitch about one-eighth of an inch from the fold, carefully hold the slacks firmly in place so that this stitching doesn't stretch the crease. This stitching will give the effect of a pressed crease and I think you will be happier with your slacks.

Pampered Pussums Joins Saver Crew

By PENNY SAVER

Pussums arrived yesterday with a long list of instructions and a book . Pussums is the pampered pet of some friends who asked if we would mind taking care of her while they tour Europe. The Savers were chosen for this manifest honor because Pussums likes us all — even the dog. The only member of the family she hasn't met is George the lizard and I am afraid she may like him a little too much. Actually, Pussums is quite a nice sort to have around. I have spent several orientation sessions with her and she is quite willing to follow my instructions with only the usual amount of questions. For a cat Pussums is very well trained, and quite affectionate—she only bites when being bathed. Her "parents" had a long talk with her before they left, explaining just why she must be as nice as possible with "Aunt Penny," then let her enter the house by herself, the instructions and book poised delicately between her jaws. She didn't even puncture the paper.

The instructions I read immediately, in case I needed some extra supplies for dinner, but the book I saved until I had a moment to spare with Pussums purring on my lap. It is How to Live With a Calculating Cat by Eric Gurney and has given me the first sign that Pussum's owners have any sense of humor regarding their pet. This paperback volume deals with cats and is liberally, and humorously, illustrated. The patter between the pictures is just as humorous, as it gives the history of cats, training hints and a rundown of a cat's human associates, both the pro-catters and the anti-catters. Just one thing bothered me, though it was clear from her contented smile that Pussums, who was reading over my arm and occasionally stopping me from turning the page until she was finished, thought it was very fine—the cat always seemed to win! This book, which costs $1.25, is a bundle of fun for any cat-owner.

Pot Drainer

No more scalded fingers for me! For years I have suffered through the pot-lid method of draining boiled vegetables. As every housewife knows this method has several built-in liabilities. First, the hot steam rises up and scalds your fingers, assuming, of course, that you haven't already set an unwary finger on the hot metal of the pot or the lid. Then, in reaction to your pain, the lid slips, spilling the vegetables into the sink along with the liquid. For $1.39 I have solved both these problems. This small sum bought me a pan drainer, which does just as well for pots. This is a half-round of metal with slits to let the liquid, and only the liquid through. Crimping along the edge of the metal makes it easy to fit against the edge of the pot or pan. A wooden handle keeps the heat from conducting to your fingers and by the way it is placed protects you from most of the steam. Who ever invented this handy device deserves the housewives' medal of honor.

Ironstone-ware lovers will be glad to hear of the items I saw in this durable material recently. Full dinner sets are available in a pattern known as white wheat. Each piece is creamy white with a wheat-sheaf design embossed on, rather than painted. Flaired tops and sculptured effects give a slightly baroque effect without destroying the match-everything simplicity of the design. The price is right too, with small pitchers at $1.35 and $1.95. A coffee mug with a flaired top that lifts it out of the ranks of the ordinary is 85 cents while for 90 cents there is a cup and saucer set large enough for a hearty cup of java. The most expensive item in the set is a large coffee pot for $8.50.

Hospital Auxiliary Elects New Head

Mrs. Anthony Cownden was elected president when the Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital held its annual meeting Tuesday in the auditorium of the nurses' residence.

She was presented with her president's pin and gavel by retiring president Mrs. W. W. Rogers, and conducted her first business of the year by setting the date of the annual bridge tea.

Also elected were Mrs. A. D. Blair, first vice-president; Mrs. N. Ware, second vice-president; Mrs. Ian Douglas, secretary; Mrs. A. H. Marriott, treasurer, and Mrs. Frank Stuart, Mrs. G. R. McKenzie and Mrs. T. Pye, councillors.

Retiring secretary, Mrs. Ron Kay read the annual report, which included summaries from membership secretary, Mrs. N. Ware; the sick committee under Mrs. M. Beesley, treasurer's report, Mrs. A. D. Blair; baby shop, Sister Mary Malachy; the mobile store, Mrs. L. Barraud and Mrs. A. J. Shipley, and the bazaar, Mrs. N. Ware and Mrs. Arthur Cownden.

Among the guests at the meeting were Dr. E. G. Q. Van Tilburg, the hospital's executive director; Patrick B. Blewett, assistant director; Dr. J. Thompson, assistant director (medical); Sister Mary Doris, assistant director (nursing) and W. Stone, director of public relations.

Mrs. Rogers, acting on behalf of the auxiliary, presented Dr. Van Tilburg with a cheque for $5,000. This money will go to buy infant warmers and phototherapy machines valued at $2,100 for the newborn nurseries; a defibrillator with oscilloscope, valued at $1,200 for the operating room, and an electrocardiograph valued at $1,150.

In expressing his thanks, Dr. Van Tilburg noted that during the past year the auxiliary had donated $8,500 to the hospital. He thought this was the largest amount ever given in a single year.

He assured the members that before the hospital decided to purchase new equipment a committee screened all requests from doctors to determine which had priority.

In congratulating the auxiliary on the 38 new members it gained during the year, Dr. Van Tilburg said he felt that the moral support the group gave the hospital was as important as the funds it raised. He asked them to become ambassadors to the community to explain the plight of the acute care facilities.

Retiring president, Mrs. Rogers was presented with a gift from the auxiliary members. Mrs. C. Baker made the presentation.

Following the meeting, the members and guests attended a tea convened by Sister Mary Malachy.

Golden Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wakelin of Sharp Road, Ganges, on Salt Spring Island, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married on Jan. 2, 1918, in San Diego, Calif. To mark the anniversary, the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wakelin of Chemainus, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Haslam of Victoria, arranged an "at home" party. The table was centred with an anniversary cake, formed in the shape of a 50-cent piece and decorated with gold icing and roses. Mrs. Wakelin received an orchid corsage and the couple was presented with many cards and gifts.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wakelin of Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wakelin of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haslam of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson of Chemainus, Mrs. Eileen Reader, Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Lee, Mrs. Myrtle Drinkwater and Mrs. Doris Rogers.

Survey Dispels Theory Of Parental Carelessness

NEW YORK — The greatest cause of death among babies during their first year of life — known to the medical profession as "infant sudden death syndrome" (SDS) — has now been found to be the result of a real illness rather than of parental carelessness.

For generations, parents who have put an apparently healthy infant to bed at night only to find him dead of "suffocation" in the morning, have bitterly blamed themselves for the death of their child.

Now, as the result of a three-year study by a research team headed by Dr. J. Bruce Beckwith, of the University of Washington, such parents can be freed of the terrible burden of guilt that has frequently tortured them throughout their lives.

Infant crib deaths are not predictable nor, perhaps, preventable, according to the findings of the team.

Present evidence indicates that infection causes spasms of the vocal chords which then shut off the air supply and the baby suffocates quietly in his cot.

Deaths of this type frequently lead to family tragedy, said Dr. Abraham Bergman, a member of the team.

The parents condemn themselves for giving the child improper food, for failing to "spot" an illness that should have been reported to the doctor, or for permitting the infant to be suffocated by his bed linen.

Actually, in their study of 118 cases of true SDS, the researchers found that the lungs contained ruptured blood vessels which indicated blocked air passages.

The throats were swollen or inflamed, pointing to the presence of an infection.

The lungs also were congested, and there was an unusually high frequency of viruses present.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Make-Over Program Is Do-It-Yourself Project

Food Affects Your Figure Becomes Part of Your Body

Lowman

FOOD! We don't just eat it. We live with it. It becomes a part of us and has a terrific effect on our figure, our complexion and hair and the state of our health.

As most of you know I am currently bringing you my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan. If you wish to do so, it is not too late to join the thousands of other women who have accepted the challenge. They plan to do a makeover job on themselves during the next eight weeks.

This course is essentially a do-it-yourself project. I have been giving you the information and direction you require in order to carry on with the program at home. Then for the next six weeks I will write one article a week to bring you more help and encouragement.

Many women procrastinate about reducing because they think they will have to prepare two sets of meals, one for themselves and another for their husband and family. This is far from true. You can use essentially the same menus if you adhere to the following tricks. These demand little extra effort or work.

In the first place you will notice that the portions are much smaller than those you have been accustomed to having. Those for your family can be more generous and they can have second servings. Many of the menus I have published this past seven days can be used for the family if you double or triple or quadruple the ingredients, depending on the number of people you are feeding.

You will also notice that herbs are used often to add flavor. So are tarragon, vinegar, lemon juice, garlic salt, powdered ginger, paprika, and fresh parsley and chives. Canned chicken broth and consomme and bouillon are used instead of gravy. You are told to buy one of the low-calorie salad dressings or make your own. You should purchase low-calorie soft drinks only. All of these measures cut the calorie intake in an important way.

FAMILY HELPINGS

Your family can have not only larger helpings but also cream on their cereal, all of the butter or margarine they wish, desserts, more bread, whole milk instead of skim milk, gravy and fried foods. You can take your portion out of the pot before completing the seasoning for vegetables. The other members of the clan will probably enjoy the herbs but want butter also.

Since you are going to have a limited number of calories each day, what is the best way to divide them? This is an individual matter and to some extent depends on personal taste. However, it has been found that women lose weight more successfully when they do not skip a meal. Too long a time without food leads to fatigue and the reducer more than makes up for it at other times.

It has also been discovered that some women lose weight most successfully when they divide their daily food intake into five or six small meals. I call this "scientific nibbling." Just be sure that you eat the same food, calorie-wise and nutrition-wise, that you would have had if you had eaten the three traditional meals a day.

Even those of you who prefer the three-meal-a-day plan might profit by saving a piece of fruit or a glass of milk for in-between times.

Here are today's menus.

BREAKFAST

Half small grapefruit sprinkled lightly with dried rosemary; an omelet (made with one egg) cooked in a non-stick frying pan in 1 tsp. low-cal Italian dressing; folded over ¼ of 1 broiled chopped, green pepper; eight-ounce glass skim milk.

LUNCH

A mixed cold cut platter: two slices of bread, 1 oz. bologna, 1 oz. ham, 1 oz. Swiss or American cheese, lettuce, mustard, 1 large dill or sour pickle, carrot sticks 1 carrot), celery stricks (1 stalk); coffee or tea artifically sweetened.

DINNER

Four ounces scallops broiled briefly, basted in lemon juice, garnished with a lemon wedge and freshly chopped parsley; 3 stalks celery, sliced; braised in chicken bouillon; 1 baked potato, dressed with 1 tsp. butter; sprinkle with paprika. Dessert: One slice canned pineapple.

BEDTIME SNACK

Mix ⅓ cup orange juice, 1-3 cup pineapple juice, unsweetened, 1-3 cup skim milk.

Total calories for the day—1,155.

If you would like to lose from 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks you may want to join thousands of other women who are following my directions. If you have missed some of the series or would like to have my "Bip Kit" which gives you all directions and necessary information send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling and your printed name and address. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Won Her Way

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Polio victim Mrs. Jack Christie got fed up with being unable to vote because she could not enter the polling station with her wheelchair. Her complaint to the secretary-treasurer of School District 15 here resulted in a ramp being installed to the back door of the polling station. School board officials say this will be done automatically in the future.

'All-Out War' Seen For China, Russia

A 300-year-old territorial dispute and ideological friction between Russia and China will precipitate into all-out war by the turn of the century, a British Labor MP told University of Victoria students Tuesday.

Colin Jackson, a lecturer and journalist who last visited China in 1960, said "right across the world we have Russia and China at odds and in confrontation.

"I think it's almost certain that before the end of the century there will be armed conflict."

But the dispute could help the Western nations save Asia for democracy, he suggested, as the struggle between the two Eastern giants keeps them diverted "for some time."

In the lull from political agitation, the West should bolster the economies of smaller, neighboring countries with supplies of food and farm machinery.

When and if the border dispute over land in northern Sinkiang province is settled the Chinese will look to the south and "find the rest of Asia contented and not ready to go communist."

The countries have been drifting apart since 1956 when Chinese communism began making rapid strides to organize the country. It left the Russian approach looking "conservative," Mr. Jackson said.

Ideological splits began to appear in the communist parties of various countries and Chinese technicians began winning over central Africa.

REACTIONARY

The Chinese have also labelled the Russians "reactionary" for working with established rulers in giving foreign aid, such as with President Nasser in Egypt, Mr. Jackson said.

The struggle over land became public and took precedence over ideological differences in March, 1963, with an editorial in the Chinese newspaper Red Star.

The Chinese have accused the Russians of "kidnapping" people who live on the northern border—actually nomads who tend to wander to areas where there is "less government," Mr. Jackson said.

'CAN'T BE SOLVED'

But the land dispute stems from the 17th century, when the Russians "tore great strips of northern China away," taking an area of land nearly as large as western Europe.

"I don't frankly see that this dispute can be resolved,' Mr. Jackson said. But he suggested there would be open warfare between the two nations.

Russia is now moving troops eastwards and both countries have traded charges of border transgressions.

China is too far behind Russia in technology to wage a nuclear war within 20 years but will practice "worrying tactics," Mr. Jackson said.

"I think China will adopt a position of nibbling" at Russian territory, he said.

Air Crash Kills Outpost Residents

EDMONTON (CP) — Five Fort Chipewyan residents, including two small children, were killed when a light aircraft crashed in northern Alberta.

Pilot George Hart, 37; nurse Julie King, 29, formerly of Stanford, Lincolnshire, England; Theresa Gibot, 25, and her two-month-old son. David, and six-month-old Margaret Boucher, were killed in the crash.

FITTER INJURED IN FALL

A man knocked 19 feet to the floor of the Esquimalt Drydock Tuesday evening is in fair condition with multiple injuries in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Paul Raymond Jeannotte, 49, of 6404 Rudolph St., suffered a fractured arm, ribs and head injuries, police said.

He is employed by Yarrows Ltd. as an engine fitter and was working on a scaffold with two other men at the stern of the Greek freighter Helen of Munrovia.

Police said the men were loosening a chain near the propellor. The chain started to slip and it is believed it hit Mr. Jeannotte and tumbled him to the floor.

New Bid to Solve Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Psychiatric Nurses Association of British Columbia made a new bid to bargain with the provincial government Tuesday by applying for a mediation officer.

The association's application to the B.C. Mediation Commission was the latest move in its efforts to negotiate with the government on a long list of demands.

Association secretary Dwight Wenham said today services of a mediator were needed because the government had failed to reply to requests for direct talks.

Neither provincial secretary Wesley Black, Health Minister Ralph Loffmark nor Dr. Hugh Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, had replied to a Jan. 2 association letter requesting talks, Mr. Wenham said.

The association, which has 1,100 members employed in government service, is seeking a pay rate of $595 a month, greater educational program for student nurses together with additional fringe benefits and grievance and disciplinary procedures. Current rates of pay range from $448 to $542 a month.

Morton Sends Apology

Well Controversy 'Teacup Tempest'

NORTH COWICHAN—Mayor D. C. Morton today said the furore over his municipality's search for water in neighboring Duncan without first obtaining a permit is "a tempest in a teapot".

But he apologized for moving too quickly.

"It is very regretful that events have moved so quickly," he said, referring to a drilling crew from the municipality which has already drilled 54 feet on Campbell Street, about 1,000 feet from a Duncan city water supply.

"We had no intention of doing anything underhanded," said Mayor Morton, "but the drillers got a little ahead of us.

STRONG LANGUAGE

"Perhaps Mayor Quaife was justified in feeling the way he did. You don't go into someone else's town and drill wells without contacting them first. However, the language used was not the language of diplomacy."

Mayor Quaife said North Cowichan had "a hell of a lot of gall" in going ahead and taking an option on a residential lot. He accused them of "being underhanded."

Mayor Morton said he has sent a personal letter of apology to Mayor Quaife.

Meanwhile, Duncan city has told the municipality to cease work because it is against zoning regulations to drill on the optioned property.

WORK STOPPED

Mayor Quaife said the drilling crew ceased work on the well this morning and that a sketch plan showing the test site and layout of waterlines along city streets had been received along with an apology from Mayor Morton.

He called a special meeting of council for later today to determine what policy the city will adopt in regard "to any future development of this kind."

$12,000 Spent Clearing Snow

DUNCAN—Snow removal and sanding city streets has cost Duncan about $12,000 so far, Mayor Jim Quaife told city council Monday night.

Clerk A. Vandecasteyen said North Cowichan has spent about $20,000 for the same purpose.

Bottle Castle Suffers Hangover

By ED GOULD

DUNCAN—Most homeowners have had it up to here with freezing pipes, power failures, heating problems and snow, snow, snow.

But those are just minor annoyances. What about George Plumb? Now his walls are tumbling down.

Like every other home, the Glass Castle has been subjected to the worst winter in 17 years, which accounts for that section of wall and a turret lying in a heap of cement and broken bottles.

Mr. Plumb, who has been adding to his glass castle tourist attraction for seven years and now has more than 180,000 bottles cemented into the walls, archways, turrets and fishponds, says it's all the fault of extremes.

* * *

"One day it's warm and the melting snow runs into the little cracks in the cement. Next day it freezes solid and splits. Then the wind rises and down goes the wall."

A section of cement and bottle wall about 25 feet long and a turret inside the castle walls has succumbed to the freeze-melt-freeze syndrome. Some of the bottles will be reusable but some have cracked beyond restoration.

Mr. Plumb says it's the worst shakeup the castle has had since Hurricane Freida hit the Island a few years back and knocked over a wooden wall, a glass wall and twisted the furniture around inside the living room.

* * *

Another wall fell in the early days when the Plumbs, who came here from the Kootenays, were still experimenting with the right type of cement.

It's a constant repair job anyway and Mr. Plumb wouldn't recommend a house made of used bottles to anyone who doesn't like puttering around with a trowel and cement constantly looking for cracks in the wall.

"It's a constant repair job," he said. "And certainly no home for a lazy man."

$10,704 Paid Welfare Cases

DUNCAN — A total of $10,704 was paid out in social assistance during the month of December, the city announced today.

Forty-five families with 100 dependents received $7,488. A total of 18 single women got $1,253 while 39 single men were assisted with $1,872. Two boarding home cases received $90.80.

SOCREDS NOMINATE FRIDAY

NANAIMO — Nanaimo Social Credit Association will meet Friday to nominate a candidate for the Feb. 10 federal by-election, Cyril Dawkin, president, said Tuesday.

Other candidates are national NDP leader Tommy Douglas, former Nanaimo magistrate Eric Winch for the Liberals and Dr. Magnus Verbrugge, Progressive Conservative.

Trustees Name Ex-Principal

Retired principal Fred Willway was elected chairman of the Sooke school board at its inaugural meeting Tuesday night.

Last year's chairman, Dr. James Portelance, declined to stand again and was elected vice-chairman. Trustee Howard Drummond also refused a nomination to head the board, leaving Mr. Willway's election by acclamation.

In a brief opening address the new chairman said trustees must think of the school district as a whole in the important year ahead.

He appointed two special committees, one to undertake a review of the board's policies and the other to plan prensentation of the nearly $2 million building referendum which ratepayers will vote on March 29.

Mr. Willway also said he wanted a tour of district schools by trustees in company with superintendent Ernest Hyndman as soon as it could be organized.

"I feel it's very important that we should know our schools and their needs."

In other business, the board approved a suggestion from trustee Isabel Reader that the advisability of adding John Stubbs elementary-junior high school in Belmont Park to the school district be investigated.

The school is owned by the Department of National Defence and operated under an agreement with the province. The board will open discussions on the subject with the education department.

MORE STUDY

Trustees gave tentative approval to school addition proposals prepared by Mr. Hyndman for the spring referendum, referring them to the special committee for further study.

The proposed building program suggests a seven-room addition to Elizabeth Fisher junior secondary, three more rooms for Edward Milne secondary, four for Belmont senior secondary and four for Dunsmuir junior secondary.

In elementary school expansion, a new school with five classrooms is proposed to take the load from Sangster elementary and a similar school on the West Coast Road is proposed to help with the overflow at Sooke elementary.

Additions are planned for Metchosin, Glen Lake, Saseenos, Happy Valley, Millstream and Port Renfrew schools and a six-classroom school is proposed for the Colwood Lake area.

Mr. Hyndman will prepare a series of information letters to parents detailing the school accommodation situation in the district.

The first shows there are now 5,015 pupils in the district and this will rise to an estimated 6,747 by 1971, almost double the enrolment in 1966.

School Projects Given Go-Ahead By Government

Three V.I. projects were included in $1.5 million worth of school construction contracts awarded by the treasury board, Education Minister Donald Brothers announced Tuesday.

Bird Construction Co. Ltd., of Vancouver received a $535,175 contract for six-room additions and renovations to the Chemainus and Ladysmith secondary schools.

Burak Construction Ltd., of Duncan will get $167,606 for an addition and other work on Cowichan senior secondary.

The board also authorized calling of tenders for work on Campbell River junior secondary.

FLU HITS PATIENTS, STAFF

Doors Shut to Visitors At Ladysmith Hospital

By ED GOULD

LADYSMITH — Ladysmith General Hospital on Tuesday cancelled all visiting privileges until further notice.

High incidence of flu among patients and staff forced the move, Dr. Michael McLaughlin, chief of the medical staff, said.

"It was a general consensus among the medical staff that it was wise to close the hospital to visitors both for their own sake and the patients," he said.

"Thirty-eight of the 42 patients in the hospital are suffering from some form of flu—some have other complications, too—and nine members of the nursing staff are off work as well," another spokesman said.

Tragedy Feared On Hospital Hill

DUNCAN—Cars and kids are competing for the same road on Hospital Hill and somebody is going to get killed, Ald. Martin Lukaitis told city council.

Streets above and below the hill have been closed off but local residents still drive in to get to their homes.

Ald. Lukaitis, whose own children use the hill, complained that the hill should be blocked off to all traffic.

City engineer Frank Hayes said he is against using any city hill for sleighing.

"Cars have to get in to the houses. And when they do, the kids won't even keep over to the side and let them pass.

"I've always been against this sort of thing. It can't be controlled."

Chief administrative officer Gordon Berry said in an interview the same problem had occurred at the only other sleighing site, on Coronation Street.

The matter was referred for immediate action to the street committee.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There were plenty of chances for decision on today's hand. West and North had no problems at first. Both passed. East might also have passed or he might have opened with one heart. Instead he decided to make things difficult for the man with the spade suit and opened three hearts.

Opening lead—♥A

This bid didn't keep South from naming spades but it gave him a problem. Should he bid three or four spades? Finally South decided that he would be cold for four if his partner held trump support and a side trick, so South jumped to game.

West really did not have enough to go to five hearts after his partner's pre-empt but West was a pretty smart player and felt certain that a five-heart bid would not be doubled so he got into the act with five hearts.

Now North felt that he had so much strength that a five-spade bid was clearly indicated. He bid five spades and it was up to South to try to make it.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued the suit. South ruffed and drew trumps. Then he led the six of clubs!

The first few plays had been made rapidly and West's play of the eight of clubs came just as quickly.

The next play took a lot of time. South couldn't lose the hand if West held both the ace and queen, he couldn't make it if East held these cards. If they were divided, it was up to South to decide which player held which card. It is no problem for us. We see the cards, but it was quite a problem for South.

As a matter of fact he studies so long that we went away and still don't know if he guessed right or wrong!

Kidnappers Leave Girl And Ransom

LOS ANGELES (Reuters) — Three-year-old kidnap victim Paula McGinnis was found wandering in a field Tuesday night after her abductors apparently despaired of collecting a ransom.

"I feel fine," Paula told reporters.

Police said the girl was found about five miles from her home in the Los Angeles suburb of Whittier and appeared to be in good health.

She was seized by two men dressed in yellow raincoats who called at her home Tuesday posing as telephone repairmen. They tied up the McGinnis housekeeper.

The father, businessman Frank McGinnis, was at his office and his wife was out shopping.

McGinnis was instructed by the kidnappers to get $200,000, but he said they had not called back to tell him where to deliver the money.

"The only thing I think is that they got chicken and didn't have the nerve to go through with it," McGinnis told reporters. He said he believed there had been two or three possible calls from the kidnappers in an attempt to tell him where to deliver the money.

But McGinnis said he thought the kidnappers had been afraid to talk because the line remained silent during those calls.

Hypnosis Tests Used on Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (WP) — Sirhan Sirhan has been hypnotized under "scientific" supervision to bolster the defence at his trial for assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, his lawyers said Tuesday.

Defence counsel Emile Zola Berman confirmed the use of hypnosis and a battery of other tests in preparation for the young Palestinian Arab's effort to knock down the first-degree murder charge lodged against him.

Sirhan's lawyers have also alluded in open court to so-called "truth serum" (sodium pentothal) and lie detector tests that might be called into play.

HOME GARDEN

Still Some Winter Gems

By HILDA BEASTALL

If any month is unpredictable here in this spot of the Pacific coast, January is the one. This year no protests are likely to rise up in disagreement, so we can take a quick look around the garden to see what of interest is likely to attract our attention.

Hilda

Golden drops of color on wet soil reveal the presence of winter-aconites (Earnthis hyemalis), quite unharmed by snow but refusing to open wide against their green ruffs without sun shining upon them.

This January they are ahead of Snowdrops (Galanthus nivalis), for these are only now pushing through the ground.

In warmer gardens with rocky ledges sloping south or southwest, there are doubtless Iris Histrioides showing their fabulously perfect little blooms regardless of all adversities past and present.

These gems demand sharp drainage in winter and baking in summer.

In their growing seasons, winter, spring and fall, they need a rich humusy soil laced with bonemeal to provide nourishment.

The tiny bulbs of Iris histroides must be planted in early fall, in a suitably protected niche with the right kind of soil to ensure the enjoyment in winter of these blue-purple flowers, brilliantly marked with gold and a touch of white.

The buds emerge through the soil without benefit of leaf growth, which comes later. Important is the fact that the leaves, as with all bulbous plants, must be encouraged to grow well, without damage, to their full two-foot length.

The yellow, winter blooming Jasminum nudiflorum lost its advance crop of buds to frost, so must of us must wait for a later batch to give us much color on the wall.

Obsolescence Of Sex Laws Formidable

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

In a recent number of the Journal of the American Medical Women's Association, I find a remarkable article by Mrs. Harriet F. Pilpel, a prominent lawyer of New York City and a member of the national board of directors of the American Civil Liberties Union. She contributes a montly column of the Publisher's Weekly entitled "But Can You Do That? I met her several years ago when she was trying to help my dear friend, Dr. Alfred Kinsey, to get the customs people to allow him to bring into the United States some valuable books on sex that at that time were considered illegal. As I said then, a professor of gynecology or obstetrics or endocrinology can bring in all the books on sex that he needs in his work, so why shouldn't an equally scientific student of sex like Dr. Kinsey do the same?

Alvares

Fortunately, a judge decided that he could.

* * *

As Mrs. Pilpel says, "Surely the sex laws of the United States today reflect a formidable mass schizophrenia. The split between our society's permissive—even obsessive—sexual behavior and attitudes, and our punitive, puritanical statutes is indeed scarcely credible."

Mrs. Pilpel cites as an example the case of Mrs. X., who in a mid-western state was arrested because it was learned that when her 16-year-old daughter had borne her third illegitimate child, Mrs. X. advised the girl, the next time she had sex relations, to be sure the boy "uses something so you won't have another baby."

For his very logical and purely personal matter between mother and daughter, a judge and jury imposed a one-year jail term and a $200 fine. It is almost inconceivable that a man could be so unthinking and cruel. Fortunately, Mrs. X.'s conviction was subsequently reversed by the state's highest court.

* * *

This case is comparable with one that Dr. Kinsey told me about, of two good harmless citizens, a man and a wife who, one Sunday afternoon, decided to try sex with not the usual position in bed; they forgot to lock the door, and their small daughter ran in and saw them. She told her playmates, and the playmates' parents told the police.

As a result, the couple was arrested, convicted and sent to jail for many years, leaving their children without care. Imagine a jury doing such a thing. But as Mrs. Pilpel says, the law says that those people should be sent to jail for 20 years. And, she says, until recently some U.S. states had on their books archaic laws dating back to the Middle Ages, which regarded most forms of sex as not only sinful, but criminal.

A remarkable case was that of a young European woman who landed in New York en route to meet her beau and to get married. In her baggage a customs inspector discovered a vaginal diaphragm given her by her physician. The inspector scared her by telling her it was a criminal act to bring such an object into the U.S., and for it she could be heavily penalized. She was so panic-stricken that at last the inspector took pity on her and let her go, after making her throw the diaphragm into the Hudson River.

FLASHBACK ON CANADA

Tariffs Big Issue In Early Elections

By BOB BOWMAN

From the days of Sir John A. Macdonald until the outbreak of war in 1939 the major political parties in Canada usually fought elections on the issue of higher or lower tariffs. Now the subject is seldom mentioned.

Bowman

The Conservative party adopted its "National Policy" of higher tariffs on Jan. 15, 1878, when Sir John A. Macdonald spoke to a huge convention of followers in Toronto. The Liberals had formed the government since 1873, when Sir John had been defeated because of his part in the so-called CPR scandal, but an election had to be held later in 1878, and Sir John felt that he could win.

He waited until Liberal leader Alexander Mackenzie announced his policy of protection for Canadian industries. In later years his chief aide in Ontario, D'Alton McCarthy, said that if Mackenzie had announced a policy of higher tariffs, then Macdonald would have advocated reciprocal or even free trade! His strategy was successful, and the Conservatives won the election in September although Macdonald was defeated in his own constituency in Kingston and a safe seat had to be found for him in Victoria, B.C., which he had never seen. In fact he never went west of Ontario until 1886 when the transcontinental railway had been completed.

Sir John received an unusual honor in 1878, a few days before the Conservative convention in Toronto. The "working men" of the city held a dinner and presented him with a gold watch and chain.

Other events Jan. 15:

1540 — Jean Francois de la Roach was made viceroy of Canada much to Cartier's annoyance.

1634 — Robert Gifard was given seigneury of Beauport, the first in Canada.

1635 — Charles La Tour was granted land at present-day Saint John, N.B.

1852 — Trinity College opened at Toronto.

1901 — Government of Manitoba leased railway lines for 999 years but later transferred to Canadian Northern Railway.

1915 — Last spike of Canadian Northern Railway from Quebec to British Columbia was driven at Basque, B.C.

1916 — Private P. Riel, a nephew of Louis Riel, was killed in action in France.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Neal Oliver, age 14, of Gary, Indiana, for his question:

What are problems of interstellar flight?

In this starry-eyed department, the biggest of all problems is money. We require lots and lots of money to train teams of scientists to solve all the other problems of interstellar flight. We need money to design and build safe and suitable spacecraft and more money to train spacemen to fly them.

There are people who feel that interstellar flight is an idle dream, an extravagant waste of time and money. Some 400 years ago, there were people who had similar reactions to the notions of an Italian seaman named Christoforo Colombo. True, nobody is positive that interstellar flight will be worth all the trouble, or even possible. But crossing the heavens is a deep-seated human dream—and we must try. Andy suspects that even those who oppose our space program would feel secret disappointment if it were stopped and ended forever.

The Age of Science has shown us the immense possibilities of human intelligence. It seems that enough trained experts with enough of the right equipment can in time solve almost every problem we can dream up. So far, we have only dipped our toes into the vast ocean of space. We have learned a lot but we have come nowhere near the cosmic stretches of interstellar space that begin outside the solar system. Here we must cope with immense concepts of time and space and a new fourth dimension of both time and space. And also strange guideposts of orientation.

Space scientists, however, already are familiar with this unearthly concepts, though they remain to be tested in the cosmic field. The problems concern the design of safe and suitable star ships and most important of all, the human factors involved in the spacemen who take these ships across interstellar space. The living problems come under the heading of space biology. One of them is concerned with how people react when living in close quarters for long periods of time. Even if we launch monster spacecraft, life aboard will be very different from the spacious freedom of life on earth.

Health Problem

Other problems are food and water, air and fuel to cross billions of miles of unoccupied space. Solutions for some of these problems have been tested in a small way on earth and moon orbiting flights. But for interstellar flight, these minor successes must be extended by tremendous degrees. The big problems concerning the space travelers are continuing and unfailing life support systems enclosed within the ship. Another problem is health, the mental and physical health of passengers cooped up for long periods of time. This phase of the starry project is called space medicine.

As spacecraft move faster, time as we know it slows down. travellers are continuing and light, a spaceship could visit the nearest star and return in about nine earth-years. But time for the space travellers would slow down to almost nothing. They would not be nine years older when they returned. At present we are not sure of all the details about how this strange time and space dimension works in actual practice.

* * *

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Gary Donald Robinson, age 9, of Atlanta, Georgia, for his question:

How can steam have energy?

Steam is water changed into gas. The liquid water and the gassy steam are made from the same kind of molecules—water molecules. But in liquid water, the molecules are jam-packed close together. The heat that makes the water boil makes these molecules move faster and faster. At last they separate and start zooming away in clouds of gassy steam. They are in a frantic hurry to spread apart and to do this they need more room in a great hurry. Zillions of them together move fast enough to shove things out of their way. The steam rising from a boiling kettle pushes hard enough to make the lid bob up and down.

This pushing power of steam is energy, and we can make it work for us. A steam locomotive has a hot furnace under a boiler of water. When the water in the boiler boils, its spreading steam is led into pipes where it pushes as hard as a rushing river. This energy is led along to move machine parts that move more machine parts that finally turn the wheels of the locomotive.

It's Quebec or Bust For School Singers

The 45-member choir of the Claremont Senior Secondary school has taken the advice of Aesop—the gods help those who help themselves.

Earlier this year, choir members decided they would make a cultural tour of Quebec in July. Total cost of the trip was estimated at $8,000, an expensive venture.

Choir members didn't sit back and wait for assistance to defray their expenses.

They launched concerts and bottle drives, approached various municipal councils for grants, and today have raised $1,500 towards their project.

'KEEN BUNCH'

They hope to raise at least $4,500. Individual contributions would make up the rest.

"They are a lively and keen bunch," said principal Joseph Lott. "They will make it. I'm sure of that."

Sidney council is considering another grant after already contributing $400.

Sidney Kinsmen have also donated $100, but the bulk of the money has been raised through the efforts of choir members.

This spring they plan to hold a concert at McPherson Theatre to boost their fund.

There is also a possibility that the federal government will "dig in" with a grant.

The program includes a tour of Montreal, Quebec and the Eastern townships, where they will give concerts.

They also plan to visit the historic Lake Champlain district which played an important part in the war of 1815.

The choir is under the direction of Don Kyle.

'Trendy' Sees Play With Actress Friend

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau Tuesday night took actress Jennifer Hales to see the play Hadrian VII, starring Canadian actor Douglas Rain.

There were about eight in the prime minister's party at the Mermaid Theatre.

Trudeau had a glass of champagne with theatre owner Bernard Miles and Miss Hales at the interval and, after the play, went to Rain's dressing room to chat with the actor.

The hit play is a fantasy about an obscure Englishman who becomes Pope. When asked whether he will accept the holy office, Rain exclaims "Volo—I will."

Asked what his reaction would have been, Trudeau told reporters: "Volo."

Trudeau entered the theatre five minutes before curtain time to some cries of "Trendy, Trendy," the chief British adjective applied to the prime minister during his stay here.

It was the prime minister's second London date with the dark-haired Miss Hales. He took her dining and dancing at Annabel's night club Jan. 6.

Yard Raids LSD Factory

LONDON (Reuters)—Scotland Yard detectives swooped on houses in east and west London today and seized substances that could be used to make £5,000,000 ($13,000,000) worth of LSD.

"Our experts estimate this is what the finished product would have been worth on the black market," a Yard spokesman said.

Police also seized $13,000 in U.S. bills and £1,000 in British notes.

A man was being questioned in Paddington police station about the haul, the spokesman said.

Police said the Yard had been investigating reports of illegal "factories" manufacturing LSD in London for more than a week.

The substances seized were due to be smuggled out of Britain, officials said.

PRIMA ballerina Lois Smith of Toronto and Vancouver has aggravated a knee injury and will be unable to perform during the National Ballet's current appearance in Vancouver.

TAX PRIZES INCREASED

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau announced Tuesday that the city is increasing total prize money in its monthly voluntary tax draw by $15,000 in a bid to boost public interest in the scheme started last May.

Amount of the lowest prizes would be increased to $250 from $100, bringing total monthly prizes to $180,000.

"It is a tough film... but well worth the taking. There is no slick in 'The Bofors Gun,' only harsh impact and shock. It is the story of conflict between two men, both in their own way idealists, but one a romantic Establishment type, the other a poetic anarchist. Seldom has army talk come to the screen so boldly (perhaps "never" is the more accurate word) or the savagery of human relations been explored with such truth. The portrayals by David Warner and Nicol Williamson are nothing short of brilliant!"

Before the Magistrate

Three men with lengthy criminal records including robbery and theft were sentenced Tuesday to penitentiary terms for robbing a man of $17.

Rudolphe Girouard, 41, and Roger Frenette, 42, each received three years and Michael MacIsaac, 30, was given a two-year term.

All three pleaded not guilty to robbery with violence earlier this month but after part of the evidence was heard Jan. 8 MacIsaac changed his plea to guilty.

On Tuesday the victim, Lorne Derkoch, 22, of 405 Thetis Cresc., said he was invited to join a group in a city beer parlor Jan. 2. Girouard and MacIsaac were there and Frenette came in later.

Derkoch said after a while he had a feeling something was wrong. He went to the washroom and Frenette followed him, asking to borrow some money. He gave him 20 cents saying it was all he had. But he told the magistrate he also had $17.

He then went to leave the premises but when he saw Girouard at the front door, and coming after him, he went into another washroom.

Girouard also came in saying "where do you think you're going." He was followed a minute later by the other two accused.

Frenette grabbed him, holding him against the wall while MacIsaac started to go through his pockets. When he found nothing in his wallet, he said Girouard slapped him a couple of times across the face and said "where did you hide it."

Then MacIsaac found $17 in a pocket and the three men left the washroom after pushing him to the floor. He said he identified the accused in two line-ups held at the police station later.

None of the evidence was disputed by the accused on cross-examination

Det. Lorne Shandley told the magistrate MacIsaac had been "very helpful in assisting the Crown in this matter."

The magistrate gave MacIsaac the lesser sentence after saying his plea of guilty might indicate some feeling of repentance

---

John G. McEwen, 19, of 49 Linden, was remanded to Jan 21 for sentence after he pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana.

Court was told the accused was found in a car on Dallas Road about 11 a.m. Tuesday and one cigarette, made from the drug, was found on the seat.

Police said half an ounce of marijuana was also found in his pocket and McEwen told them he was going to smoke the cigarette before he went to school.

A pre-sentence report is being prepared.

SON-IN-LAW FORGIVEN; OFF TO PARIS

PORT-AU-PRINCE (AP) — President Francois Duvalier has given a new high post to Col. Max A. Dominique, the son-in-law he sentenced to death in 1967 for his alleged part in a plot, but pardoned a year later.

An announcement Tuesday said Duvalier has named Dominique to the post of inspector-general of all Haitian embassies and consulates. He will have the rank of ambassador and will be based in Paris.

'I Need Advice and Companionship Now'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Public Enemy No. 1 of the Roaring Thirties boarded a jetliner here Tuesday night and flew into a new life, 1969 style.

Gone was "Old Creepy," co-leader of the notorious Karpis-Ma Barker gang.

In his place was 61-year-old Alvin Karpis, a thin, white-haired, mild-mannered Montreal accountant.

After 32 years in U.S. federal prisons, Karpis was glad to be back in society when he arrived here from Seattle.

Born in Canada, he was deported Tuesday via Vancouver to his native Montreal and an accountant's job that was lined up for him by his lawyer, James Carty of Woodland, Wash.

Upon arrival in Montreal today, he said he is looking forward to living in his native Montreal.

"I do not need supervision now. I need advice and companionship."

He was not sure whether Montreal's cold weather would affect an arthritic condition in his spine.

"I certainly hope it will not bother me but if it does I may be forced to move, possibly to Vancouver."

Earlier Tuesday, he showed little nervousness at a news conference in Seattle, his first contact with a world vastly different from the one he remembered when "murder was a trademark."

Described by officials of McNeil Island federal penitentiary as a model prisoner, he was credited by officials and former inmates with helping to rehabilitate other prisoners and with establishment of a self-improvement course for prisoners.

He was trained in cost accounting earlier while at Alcatraz penitentiary in San Francisco Bay.

When he was moved to McNeil Island prison in the State of Washington, "I handled the payroll for civilian employees," he said, adding he was sure he could handle his new job in Montreal.

"I have the promise of a good job and a good boss."

While he was "a little nervous being among so many strangers," he was sure that "minutes after this interview is over I would never think I was in prison."

One of the few surviving members of the gangs that blazed their way into the headlines of the Thirties from the hinterland of America, Karpis, speaking in little more than a whisper, said the police of the time were little better than the criminals.

"The Texas Rangers initiated the policy of shooting first and asking questions later," he said, citing Bonny and Clyde, "A couple of fun-loving kids." It was "no credit to the law enforcement officers" that the couple was machine-gunned as they sat in their car.

They hadn't shown the Bonny and Clyde film in prison, but "I intend to see it as soon as I arrive in Montreal."

Water Rate Increase In Saanich

Saanich residents got a second warning Tuesday night of an impending increase in water rates.

First indication of an increase—the rates have been unchanged for a number of years—was contained in Mayor Hugh Curtis' speech to council last week.

In a report to the public works committee, engineer Neville Life said "in view of rising costs it is strongly recommended that an increase in water rates be considered rather than curtailment of waterworks construction."

He presented a waterworks construction program totalling $300,200 for 1969. Of this, $200,200 was a basic program with the chief expenditure being replacement of old two-inch mains.

The sum of $100,000 was set aside for major trunk mains.

Mr. Life requested priority of approval on items totalling $70,800, of which the committee voted approval for $70,300.

The remainder of the 1969 budget was tabled.

An interesting sidelight of the provisional budget for water supply in 1969 shows an estimated cost of $8,000 in postage for customer billing and collecting.

$300,000 FOR ROAD WORK

Saanich should spend $1.2 million on road work this year.

But it is only going to be able to afford about $300,000.

This was the reluctant view of the municipal public works committee Tuesday night.

Engineer Neville Life recommended $1,268,950 be spent. The two biggest projects would be four lanes on Carey Road (Douglas to Tillicum) at $245,000 and four lanes on Lansdowne Road (city boundary near Shelbourne to Foul Bay) for $221,000.

RESERVE FUNDS

Saanich carried over into this year $137,867 in reserve for road work but $93,200 of this will be for works approved but not completed in 1968. The committee supported approval of this remaining work this year.

The provisional budget, subject to review in the spring, has set aside $300,000 for road work.

Adding the carry-over from last year, less completing the earlier-approved works, would leave $338,567 for roads in 1969—assuming the $300,000 in the provisional budget is not cut.

"Once again the engineer has brought forward a list with which you can find little to argue about," said Mayor Hugh Curtis.

"It is basically a good list. Last year he came to us with $1.2 million and we cut this to $300,000. How much longer can we go on like this?

FALLING BEHIND

"Surely the province is going to have to recognize the dire situation municipalities such as ours are facing. We are falling behind this year, every year since the end of the war. It's tremendously distressing."

Other aldermen agreed that Saanich could never catch up with the backlog and even pruning all other items in the budget would not significantly affect the road problem.

Ald. Alan Newberry said the same situation applies to libraries, hospitals, education.

"The whole taxation system is going to have to come under review. Something is wrong," he said.

The road building program, other than last year's work still incomplete, was tabled until after a public works tour.

Krist Indicted For Kidnapping

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — Gary Steven Krist was indicted Monday on a charge of kidnapping for ransom 20-year-old Barbara Jane Mackle — a charge that could draw a penalty of life imprisonment or death.

County District Attorney Richard Bell said his office would try the case and would move immediately to have Krist brought here from Miami.

Reds Rendezvous In Space

MOSCOW (CP)—The Soviet Union today launched Soyuz 5, carrying three cosmonauts, apparently to rendezvous with fourth cosmonaut, Vladimir Shatlov, who hurtled into earth orbit Tuesday aboard Soyuz 4.

Tass said the three rookie cosmonauts aboard Soyuz 5 all "feel fine."

They are ship commander Boris Volynov, flight engineer Alexei Yeliseyev and research engineer Yevgeny Khrunov.

Radio Moscow said the two spaceships have begun to carry out "joint experiments." Aims of the dual manoeuvres were not immediately made public.

This is the first time since June, 1963, that the Soviet Union has attempted a space feat involving two manned ships. It is also the first Soviet mission with four cosmonauts in orbit simultaneously.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the new ship was placed "on a calculated orbit around the earth," and observers here felt the two ships would possibly link up in space.

Radio Moscow said Soyuz 5 established radio contact with Shatalov aboard Soyuz 4 within seconds of going into orbit.

Both craft are within sight of each other.

Soyuz is the Russian word for "union."

Manned Space Station?

BOCHUM (Reuters) — West German space expert Heinz Kaminski, director of the Bochum tracking station, said today that the Soviet Union apparently is preparing to build a manned space station in earth orbit.

He predicted that the launching of the three-man spaceship Soyuz 5 today to join the Soyuz 4 craft already in orbit would be followed by a novel rendezvous experiment.

Secret Constitutional Talks

Retain Monarchy!

OTTAWA (CP) — A republic instead of a monarchy and a congressional legislative system instead of a Parliament, met little enthusiasm at secret federal-provincial constitutional talks in the past year.

This is revealed by confidential reports of the continuing committee prepared for the conference resumption next month.

The reports also show that changes were proposed for the Senate and the Supreme Court of Canada.

A proposal to change Canada's name to "The Canadian Union" is included among a variety of suggestions, some discussed in detail and some not yet examined.

On the name change, the committee says the aim was to "better reflect the nature of Canada as a federation of states and an association of two nations."

The committee of top public servants representing the 11 governments took a preliminary look at a republican government and congressional system, evidently proposed by Quebec.

In reporting on the monarchy versus a republic, the report says:

"These propositions seem to indicate that while opposition to a change would exist in some parts of the country, other parts feel that serious consideration should at least be given to the alternative.

"It seems apparent that symbolic factors associated with these forms are of great importance in Canada."

And on a congressional versus a parliamentary system, the report says:

"Again these propositions seem to suggest that views across the country vary, with considerable opposition to change, but with a view in some quarters that possible advantage of a different system should at least be explored."

In the committee's debate, a suggestion was made that one form might be preferable for the federal government and the other for certain provinces.

Snow To Fall Overnight

The snow which started in Victoria this morning likely will accumulate tonight.

Weather officials say depths should vary from one to six inches depending on locations.

Northern sections of the Saanich peninsula and higher elevations are in line for the heaviest snow shovelling.

Warmer temperatures Thursday should hasten the melt with mixed rain and snow showers.

Unstable air for the past week has brought intermittent snow to almost all parts of the island except Victoria. Now a low pressure area sitting off the coast has split and is bringing air from the north and northeast.

This will bring temperatures down and slow the melt until Thursday when snow showers may persist but should melt on contact.

FILL OF SNOW

Elsewhere on the Island and lower mainland, residents have had their fill of snow. Nanaimo has 11 inches on the ground, Comox-Courtenay area still has an inch and Port Alberni now has 33 inches and shovelled walks resemble tunnels.

Heavy snow brought down a storage shed roof there Tuesday and some residents were fearful homes might collapse. Fuel delivery is a problem, particularly for the elderly.

On the bright side, police have reserved four hills for sleighriding — ironically on the same day that schools were reopened. Board officials said snow has stopped and city roads are open and no further school interruptions are anticipated.

SNOWING HEAVILY

Tofino still has 11 inches. A 14-inch fall closed Tofino-Port Alberni highway. Duncan and Cowichan area generally had only a dusting of snow overnight but it was snowing heavily in all areas at press time.

Duncan RCMP have asked that all trucks use chains because some with snow tires have been jack-knifing on hills.

At Port Alice snow and ice were blamed for a school bus

WILSON URGES TALKS IN '70, VENUE CHANGE

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson suggested today the next prime ministers' conference be held next year in another country.

While several countries have offered their capitals, Canada hasn't made up its mind whether to make an offer, an official said.

Wilson's suggestion came during the morning session.

Prime Minister Trudeau attended the morning session but an official said he didn't offer Ottawa as a possbile site for the next conference. Kenya and Barbados offered their capitals.

Biafrans Approached —Trudeau

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau said tonight that Nigeria has informed Canadian officials that it is prepared to negotiate with the secessionist state of Biafra without conditions.

He said Canadian officials, on his instructions, approached Biafran authorities here after a group of Commonwealth prime ministers urged Nigeria to negotiate.

The meeting of the prime ministers took place just before noon today.

Red China Role Urged By PMs

Times News Services

LONDON — General agreement that Red China "has the right and duty to participate in full in all the world's efforts towards peace" and that Peking should be able to "take its rightful place in the international community" was expressed by the Commonwealth leaders in today's official communique.

This was seen as a call for worldwide recognition of the Peking government.

Australia and some of its friends added the qualifier that the people of Nationalist China should have the right of "an independent existence" if they choose.

A majority urged that any British-Rhodesian settlement should be put to the test of a popular referendum or some similar democratic process.

ASSURANCE GIVEN

British Prime Minister Wilson met their call with an assurance that a referendum could be one of the methods used to test the reaction of all black and white Rhodesians to any deal he may reach with rebel Premier Ian Smith, the white-minority leader.

The passage on Rhodesia and southern Africa generally, packing politically the most explosive issues of the eight-day talks, dominated the document.

But the communique covered most other aspects of the discussions by the heads of government — from the war in Vietnam to Guyana's feud with Venezuela over disputed frontiers.

They expressed hope that the French Force To Aid Lebanon?

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle and his cabinet met here today amid growing speculation that France might send a military force to Lebanon.

Such a move probably would prove highly unpopular with Frenchmen, many of whom are still indignant with the authoritarian way in which de Gaulle last week clamped a total ban on arms shipments to Israel following an Israeli raid on Beirut airport Dec. 28.

The French foreign office said that France "would not stay indifferent if the Lebanon is threatened"—a statement interpreted by political observers in Paris as at least a moral commitment to help the Arab country in the event of an Israeli attack.

France administered Lebanon under a League of Nations mandate from 1920 to 1941.

The statement confirmed similar remarks made Monday in Beirut by former French information minister Georges Gorse after a meeting with Lebanese President Charles Helou.

Gorse ostensibly went to Beirut to open a concert hall but before leaving Paris he met de Gaulle and his statement gave rise to speculation in Lebanon that France might station a military force there.

Crew Errors Blamed For Jetliner Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — Crew errors were the probable cause of the crash of a Boeing 707 airliner at Vancouver last Feb. 7 that claimed two lives, the transport department announced today.

The report of transport department investigators said the aircraft captain, Albert Edward Burkhalter, 49, failed to evaluate weather information and to discontinue a landing attempt when visibility was too poor.

The airliner, a Standard Airways plane operated for Canadian Pacific, crashed on landing at Vancouver International Airport on a flight from Honolulu.

The report says there was "recorded evidence of dissension" between the captain and First Officer Thomas Harold Johnson, 37, during the approach and landing.

Although the crew was advised 15 minutes before the accident that visibility was zero at Vancouver, adequate preparations were not made in the event they could not see to land and would have to circle the area, the report says.

The investigators found that the flight crew had been on duty for about 17 hours when the accident occurred, and had been without sleep for about 21 hours.

"It is possible that a degree of fatigue was an element in this accident," their report says.

The aircraft was operated by Standard Airways of Seattle, through agreement with Canadian Pacific, as Canadian Pacific flight 322 from Honolulu to Vancouver.

The report noted that First Officer Johnson, who had limited flying experience, suggested that Captain Burkhalter make the approach to the Vancouver airport. But the captain indicated that the first officer should do the landing.

The lane made a faulty landing, left the runway and rammed an airport building after striking several small aircraft. An airline cabin attendant and an airport employee were killed. One flight crew member and 17 passengers were injured.

JAIL TERM FOR 2 CONVICTIONS

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson today indicated he is intensifying his crackdown on flagrantly erring motorists.

He said he has recommended to the federal government that the Criminal Code be amended to provide mandatory jail sentences for a second conviction of driving while a licence is under suspension.

Mr. Peterson said he also has asked the Motor Vehicles Branch to look into the possibility of increasing provincial penalties for similar situations.

Record U.S. Budget, Cut in War Spending

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—President Johnson today forecast a 12 per cent cut in Vietnam war spending as he presented his final federal budget, calling for record spending totaling $195,300,000,000.

The outgoing president said his decision to end the bombing of North Vietnam would help trim military and aid costs of the Asian war for the first time—by nearly $3,500,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Johnson announced the Vietnam economy plan in submitting his final budget to congress, just five days before retiring from the White House. It was the first balanced federal budget since 1960.

He predicted a $3,400,000,000 surplus for the 1969-70 financial year, and said the balance sheet for the current year, 1968-69, also would yield a surplus of about $2,400,000,000.

Johnson's projections — reversing a post-war record $25,200,000,000 deficit in 1967-68 — were based on plans to continue a 10-per-cent income tax surcharge, enacted last year to check growing inflation.

Total government outlays for 1969-70 were estimated at $195,300,000,000, up $11,600,000,000 over the current year and an all-time record. Budget receipts were projected at $198,700,000,000.

Johnson allocated $81,500,000,000 for total defence spending, an increase of $500,000,000. Foreign military aid is planned to stay at the current level, $375,000,000.

Johnson called on Congress to vote for new welfare programs costing nearly $8,000,000,000.

SOCIAL SECURITY HIKE

His most striking new proposal was for legislation to increase social security benefits an average of 13 per cent with higher payroll levies to pay for them.

There would be a basic 10 per cent increase for all 25,000,000 Americans now on Social Security, an increase to $80 from $55 in the monthly minimum payment, and a $100 minimum for individuals who have paid social security taxes for at least 20 years.

To finance this, the president recommended raising the taxable wage base to $9,000 from the present $7,800 and advancing by one year, to Jan. 1, 1970, the next scheduled jump in the payroll tax rate for both employer and employee to 5.2 per cent from 4.8 per cent.

Johnson proposed that Medicare be extended to 2,000,000 disabled persons, that an additional $2,000,000,000 be put into the state-run Medicaid program of health care for indigent families.

PEACE HOPES BRIGHTER

In a farewell to the Congress Tuesday night President Johnson declared that prospects for peace in Vietnam "are better today" than at any time since U.S. intervention more than four years ago.

Speaking of "challenge and opportunity" facing the United States, Mr. Johnson took pride in the domestic accomplishments of his more than five years in the White House. He coupled the pride with a warning that to break the unfulfilled promises of his administration "would be a tragedy for our country."

There was no partisan word, however, in the Johnson finale. There was praise by name for Republican and Democratic presidents and congressional leaders as the president recalled his first appearance in the halls of Congress as a doorkeeper 38 years ago.

There was good news for members of Congress, a recommendation for a salary boost from the current $35,000 a year to $42,500 plus "an adequate allowance for official expenses."

The one new domestic proposal was for creation of an urban development bank, a scheme

Grain Delay Probed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Walter Weir has sent a government representative to Vancouver to investigate reports of a "serious holdup of grain shipments." He told a press conference today that Agriculture Minister J. Douglas Watt has gone to Vancouver to look into reports that 20 ships were waiting to be loaded with wheat.

Youth Jumps From Ferry

Search and rescue authorities have called off a search for a 16-year-old youth who jumped overboard from a B.C. Ferry between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay late Tuesday afternoon.

They identified the youth as David Chou, son of Dr. L. Y. Chou of Vancouver.

A B.C. Ferry Authority spokesman said the youth went overboard when the ferry was about two miles out of the Tsawwassen terminal. The vessel, Queen of Esquimalt, doubled back several times before proceeding to Swartz Bay.

Four ships, including the Coast Guard cutter Racer, and two helicopters joined the search but gave up after three hours.

Witnesses said the youth, a Grade 11 student at Shawnigan Lake School, stripped off his clothing, jumped overboard and began swimming towards the Tsawwassen pier.

He is presumed drowned.

25 Killed In Carrier Blasts, Fire

HONOLULU (Reuters) — The search continued in the Pacific today for possible survivors blasted overboard by fire and explosions which killed at least 25 men aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise Tuesday.

In Pearl Harbor, navy experts probed the damaged areas of the Enterprise under the glare of floodlight.

Capt. Kent Lee, 45, commander of the stricken vessel—the world's biggest warship—said 25 men were known to have been killed, about 85 injured and 17 other of the 4,600-man crew were unaccounted for after the fire which occurred at sea 75 miles southeast of Hawaii.

At least 15 aircraft were destroyed out of about 30 on deck at the time of the disaster, and others were damaged.

The ship's eight nuclear reactors were not involved in the accident.

Lee told reporters on returning to port that the fires began with an explosion in the vicinity of an F-4 Phantom jet on the afterflight deck, about 100 feet from the stern of the 1,123-foot long ship.

'CAVEMEN' LIVED THE LONGEST DAY

NICE (Reuters)—After five months of living in a deep cave, two Frenchmen surfaced Wednesday thinking the date was Nov. 15.

Without clocks or time checks with the surface, they adopted a 48-hour cycle as their routine "day" in the natural cavern 200 feet underground.

Experiment organizer Michel Siffre said the men were awake 36 hours and slept 12 in the belief all this was done in 24 hours.

They had contact with the surface by telephone. Most of the time they wore nine electrodes in contact with their bodies to register physical and psychological reactions which were recorded above ground.

Attendants carried food part of the way into the cave, the experimenters left their plastic tents to get it.

Siffre said he believes a 96-hour rhythm, including 74 hours of activity and 22 hours of unbroken sleep, can be attained.

Philippe Englander, 28, said he read 400 books. Blinking behind thick, smoked glasses against daylight, Englander said: "The worst was the humidity and the impossibility of talking with anyone."

His cavern mate, Jacques Chabert, 30, encamped 100 yards away, read about 100 books on sociology. He said "the certainty that the experiment will be useful to man helped me to go through with it."

Industrials led the Montreal market upwards in active early afternoon trading.

AT TORONTO, final volume was 5,062,000 shares compared with 5,765,000 Tuesday.

In industrials, Weldwood gained 2¾ to 27½, Hand Chemical A 1⅞ to 26¾, Canadian Goldale 1½ to 32½ and Dylex Diversified 1½ to 25. Oshawa A lost 1¾ to 37¼.

Husky Oil was up 2½ to 24¼, Dome Pete 2½ to 85½, Asamera 2 to 24½ and Canadian Superior 1 to 61½.

Denison Mines advanced 2½ to 73, Pine Point 1⅝ to 45⅛ and Quebec Lithium 70 cents to $5.50. New Quebec Raglan fell ½ to 10½.

AT NEW YORK, during the morning the market, as measure by the averages, spurted in a resumption of the rally that developed Tuesday. As the session wore on prices eroded and the trading pace slackened.

Investors apparently were letting their early enthusiasm for favorable economic news lapse under the uncertain expectations of what the new Nixon administration would do in regard to economic policies.

AT MONTREAL, Famous Players climbed ¼ to 69, Alcan ⅞ to 31 following the announcement of a U.S. dividend of 27½ cents per common share, Radio Engineering ⅜ to 45 and Velcro ½ to 48.

Eddy Match fell 2½ to 21½ and Canadian Marconi ¼ to 7¼.

Banks declined after a general rise following the announcement of an increase of base interest rates with Bank of Nova Scotia retreating ¼ to 25½.

Husky Oil advanced 2⅛ to 24. Denison 1½ to 72 and Coronation 15 cents to $3.75 in senior mines and oils.

Merrill climbed 90 cents to $5.15, Agassiz 5 cents to $1.14 and Tache 1 cent to 16 cents in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT VANCOUVER, Whonnock Lumber continued its meteoric rise, gaining $2.25 to $28,25.

On Dec. 9 the stock was trading at $12 and has risen steadily since then.

Magnum was the biggest gainer in the mines adding .55 to $5.10 on 50,000 shares. Churchill was up .50 at $9.95, Adera added .21 to $1.95 and was the heaviest trader at 276,000 shares. Copper Ridge put on .22 to $2.70 and Northwest Ventures gained .20 to $2.63.

In the industrials, E.D.P. lost .25 to $21 but Block Bros. added a like amount to $18.75.

Stampede gained .50 to $11.75 in the oils, Bata put on .10 to $6 but Plains Pete lost .04 to .70.

AT LONDON, dollar stocks were higher today on the stock exchange reflecting Tuesday's improvement on Wall Street but industrials were mixed and gilts were dull.

General Motors and U.S. Steel advanced 2½ each while Penn Central and Bethlehem Steel also improved.

Dome was the best performer in Canadians with a 5 point rise. Others to advance included Power Corp., Cominco and Central Del Rio. Alcan added 1½.

Hollinger, Hudson's Bay Oil, Algoma and International Nickel all eased. Imperial Commerce, Toronto Dominion and Royal Bank rose between 4s 6d and 9s 6d.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Some heavy liquidation developed toward noon in rapeseed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, wiping out substantial gains posted at the opening. Declines ranged from ½ to 3¾ cents under the previous close.

However, fairly good export interest maintained and prices appeared to be steady.

Bright eyes and roguish smile make it hard to believe that Florenda Joy Dick, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick, 355 Gorge Road, stands desperately in need of help. An operation to mend congenital heart defects has been scheduled for early March at famed Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. The question: Will Florenda be able to keep that date with life?

Arthur Mayse

In this pleasant city of ours, there lives a little girl whom I think you would like to meet.

Her name is Florenda Joy Dick. She has long, natural-blonde hair. Her eyes are blue, her smile is happy and she's as sweet a six-year-old as you'd find in a month of Sundays. If she lives to be 16, I expect she will break hearts.

But it's a mighty large "if." Unless Florenda Joy is given the help she so urgently needs, and which her parents are unable to provide, her own heart will fail her before she reaches her teens.

Her prospect ... creeping senility, and death in her springtime.

Florenda Joy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick, who share rented quarters with their three children at 355 Gorge Road. She started grade one at Tillicum Elementary last September; she loves school, and is a bright and eager beginner.

Her heart needs mending, and soon, but today she feels fine and her world is bright.

I first heard about Florenda and the dark shadow across her life from a registered nurse who is a friend of the family.

She is Mrs. Edward Barbin of 546 Linden Avenue. This is what she told me:

"I know a very good, decent couple whose little daughter has a congenital heart condition. Unless the defects are corrected, she won't live to grow up. The doctors have recommended that she go to Mayo Clinic at Rochester for an operation that can give her a normal, healthy life. Her parents mean to give her that chance, even though it will keep them in debt for the rest of their lives."

★

I phoned Florenda's people, and on Sunday evening, went out to visit. David and Sadie Dick had just returned from evening service at Glad Tidings Tabernacle on North Park Street.

Florenda had been allowed to stay up past her eight o'clock bedtime. Shy with strangers, she regarded me solemnly from her father's knee. She looks like a perfectly healthy child; and so far, except for the fact that she tires easily, her heart defects have not impeded her.

It is hard to believe that she goes to Tillicum only on the understanding that an ambulance can be summoned for her at any moment of her school day.

Her father, who hopes to return to his job with a paving firm when the weather squares away, started her toward bed. Then he and Sadie Dick, a nurses' aide, told me about Florenda Joy and the terrible problem that has moved from the background to the forefront of their lives.

David, a coast man who once worked a small mainland farm with his brothers, married a Manitoba girl. They settled down not far from Winnipeg, and for a number of years, he worked as a long-haul transport driver.

A man with a growing family yearns for more than two days a month at home. David Dick traded that job for another. The couple were warned that some day their youngest would require an operation for which surgical skills were still in the development stage. Florenda, however, wasn't a "blue baby" — far from it. They had a generous allowance of time.

Sadie and David Dick have always done for themselves. They told me, while we sat in their neat living room, that they have never been on welfare, or asked help of anyone.

Something over a year ago, David brought his wife and children out to Victoria. Sadie fell in love with the city at sight. They both found work; but what with the needs and minor emergencies that confront any growing family, their expenses never much more than matched their income.

Then, last fall, they learned from a Victoria heart specialist that for Florenda Joy, time was running out. She had reached a peak of condition that she is unlikely to attain again. She could slope off from this peak at any time — and once the downward trend sets in, the end is predictable.

Sadie Dick, a quiet, brown-haired woman with worry on her face, spoke softly.

"We're a close family," she said, "and we'd do anything to save her. We always thought we could raise the money when the time came, but it looks now as if we won't be able to borrow a fraction of what's needed."

Florenda Joy, who had been getting ready for bed with numerous squeaks and giggles, trotted in. She wore flowered flannelette pajamas, and she looked like a pint-sized angel.

She kissed her father, ventured a smile at me, then skipped over to her dad. David bent for a hug.

"Alright, Sam," he told her, "Away you go now!"

"Sam" is his pet-name for her. Like her brother and sister, this is a much-loved child.

But she is a child on the edge of trouble that only a generous city's love for all its children can avert and that's why I bring her case to you.

CURTIS SIGHS RELIEF

Welcomes Authority Of Pollution Board

A cabinet decision to give the disputed jurisdiction over air and water controls to the Pollution Control Board was hailed today by regional board chairman Mayor Hugh Curtis of Saanich.

"If the Pollution Control Board, as it appears, is to be the determining authority then this is good news for taxpayers in the capital region, both from the dollar-saving and aesthetic points of view," Mayor Curtis said.

"We will undoubtedly have good standards to which we must conform in the disposal of sewage.

VINDICATION

"It's a vindication of the stand taken by the regional district.

"I'm very relieved and satisfied."

Mayor Curtis, supported by other civic leaders here, bitterly attacked Health Minister Ralph Loffmark's past statements that the health department would impose minimum standards for clean air and pure water to protect the public.

'TOO TOUGH'

The Greater Victoria mayors condemned Mr. Loffmark's attitude as too tough and repeatedly claimed the health minister was speaking only for himself and not cabinet.

The decision to reserve jurisdiction to the PCB was made at Monday's cabinet meeting.

Both Resources Minister Ray Williston, in charge of the PCB, and Mr. Loffmark confirmed that a long-prepared code for health department air and water standards had been shunted back for restudy as a result of the cabinet decision.

NO CONFLICT

But both also vehemently denied there had ever been internal cabinet conflict over the jurisdiction question,

Mr. Loffmark said he withdrew the standards he took to the cabinet meeting for consideration because part of his department including himself did not feel they should be adopted with further modification.

And Mr. Williston—in an obvious slam at a report in Tuesday's Times—said reports which "try to whip up conflict" between the health and resources authorities over pollution control are completely unjustified.

'ADMINISTRATIVE'

"This kind of conflict simply doesn't exist," Mr. Williston insisted.

"This is basically an administrative matter.

"The health department can come out any time it chooses with common standards for air and water purity for the guidance of health units and the municipalities they serve.

"But provincial standards can only be implemented through the Pollution Control Board."

Malahat Study Gets Response From Drivers

Greater Victoria and District Safety Council's study of what causes accidents on the Malahat is receiving good public response.

General manager Dennis Wagner said criticisms and suggestions have been flowing from the public and a preliminary report will go to safety council executive Feb. 4.

Ask The Times

Q. In 1906-7 Rat Portage, now Kenora, Ont., had a seven-man hockey team that won the 1907 Stanley Cup in Montreal. What was the name of that team? I should also like to know if Tommy Philips, the "Iron Man of Hockey," is in the Hockey Hall of Fame.—J. B. L.

A. In 1907 the Kenora Thistles defeated Montreal 4-2 and 8-6 with Philips scoring seven goals. (He also played with Montreal AAA in 1903 when they won the Stanley Cup.) Yes, he is enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Philips died in Toronto in 1923 at the age of 43.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

DAVE CAMPBELL
... "can't sit around"

ONE-WAYS SAFER, FASTER

A city accident survey shows Yates and Fort Streets are carrying their one-way traffic not only faster but more safely.

Over-all traffic volume on Victoria's first paired one-way streets is up 20 per cent, traffic engineer Dave Campbell said today.

But a comparison of accidents last November with the same month a year before shows there were 12 mishaps each month. Not only has the increased flow not increased accidents but those since the streets became one-way have been less severe.

There were no head-on or angle collisions in November, Mr. Campbell said. Four of the crashes were rear-end collisions and five resulted from changing lanes improperly.

Fort became eastbound only and Yates westbound from Wharf Street to the Dardanelles last September with the intention of reducing downtown congestion, said Mr. Campbell.

LESS TIME

Studies show the change has done the job with travel time chopped 18 per cent on Fort and 20 per cent on Yates despite increased volumes.

While traffic on average is up 20 per cent, on Yates east of Cook it has jumped 100 per cent. An average of almost 11,000 vehicles go west there now in contrast to 5,440 both ways before the change.

Traffic counts the week before Christmas in the 700-block Fort showed another jump of 22 per cent in the holiday shopping rush. The same block on Yates showed a 10 per cent increase.

Mr. Campbell said the city faces a 7 per cent annually jump in traffic volume "and we just can't sit around and hope it will go away."

Fitness 69 Thrown Open To All Ages

Fitness 69 starts officially at noon Friday when cyclists take part in a three-mile ride through Beacon Hill Park and along Dallas Road waterfront.

The event will inaugurate the YM-YWCA-sponsored program for fitness among adults.

Some of the cyclists will be setting out on the first stage of the 750 miles they must pedal during the next six months to qualify for the prize, a silver teaspoon.

Meanwhile, registration in the other Fitness 69 activities, walking, jogging and swimming, is "going like a house on fire," Y physical director Art Burgess said.

By Wednesday upwards of 100 had paid their $1 registration fee at the YM-YWCA building.

Jan. 24 will see the walking event get into high gear, as members of the Silver Threads Service take part in a brisk stroll through the city. Walking has been included especially for middle-aged and elderly persons who could not be expected to undertake more strenuous forms of physical activity.

While walkers trudge out the 250 miles they must cover during the next six months, (it averages out to about 10 miles a week), joggers will be attempting to run 100 miles, while swimmers go to work on their 25-mile quota.

The Y fitness committee decided earlier this week that due to popular demand it will draw up a special mileage card to enable participants to enter more than one event. For example, someone whose basic activity consists of jogging will be able to convert the distance he swims or pedals into running miles.

●

Another new twist was added to Fitness 69 Tuesday when the fitness committee decided to throw the program open to the under-18 age group, following several inquiries from people who were "quite upset" that children had been excluded.

Mr. Burgess said organizers had originally felt Fitness 69 should be aimed at adults, who usually have a greater need for keeping fit.

"Adults are more concerned about fitness — kids haven't had time to wear out. Now we find some kids want to take part in the program because their parents are doing it."

Battle Starts Against Unique Insurance Plan

Labelled Threat To Tourist Trade

By JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Opponents of the compulsory driver insurance plan on a "no-fault" basis proposed by the Wootton Royal Commission today began public compaigning against its implementation.

Greater Vancouver Visitors' and Convention Bureau president Frank Bernard blasted the proposal as a threat to the tourist industry and indicated other groups are lining up to make their criticisms on the eve of the legislature's opening next week.

Mr. Bernard, in a telephone interview from Vancouver, told The Times his bureau has completed studies initiated immediately after the Wootton report's release last fall and is seeking an appointment with the provincial cabinet to express its opposition.

"It may be next week but we're not sure yet because it's a matter of timing," he said.

"There are so many other sectors of the ecomony which wish to make their points against it (the commission's report) and we have to decide whose turn will be first."

However, a public relations spokesman for the auto insurance industry in B.C. said studies they launched on the impact and methods of implementing the report still haven't been completed and it is now known when the industry will make a statement or if it will ask for a meeting with cabinet.

READY TO TALK

"But we are on record as being willing to meet with cabinet if they wish and are willing to co-operate in any study or discussions," the spokesman recalled.

Mr. Bernard said the visitors' bureau told deputy travel industry minister Ronald Worley that it opposed the report when it was released "just to get us on the record while we studied it."

As a result of the study, the bureau has attacked the principle and most controversial change proposed by the commission that insurance benefits be paid immediately after an accident to everyone suffering damage regardless of fault, leaving traffic courts to punish rule-breakers.

'AT OWN RISK'

A corollary of this recommendation was that out-of-province drivers be covered by the same provisions while in B.C.—Protecting them from civil suits in accidents but also denying them the right to sue for more than the $20,000 death benefit per person or set scale of injury compensation.

"No other area in North America denies the right of a driver to sue," Mr. Bernard said.

"We would become an island of two million people in a sea of 200 million.

"In fact, we would have to say to the potential visitor: visit beautiful British Columbia—but at your own risk."

Keynote Talk By Ex-City Principal

About 250 B.C. high school students heading for teaching careers will hear of developments and trends in the profession at the University of Victoria Jan. 29 to Feb. 1.

It is the 11th annual Future Teachers' Conference and Uvic is hosting it for the second time. The program has been organized by the teacher undergraduates with the blessings of the education faculty and the department of education.

Among subjects to be discussed will be progress in education of B.C. Indians, visual aids in the school, the position of French in the school and individualized learning.

Keynote speaker at a banquet Feb. 1 will be B.C. Gillie, superintendent of schools in the Northwest Territories and a former principal at Victoria's S. J. Willis junior secondary school.

Michael Farr, third-year education student and conference co-ordinator, said the Education Undergraduate Society is trying to find billets for about 220 out-of-town students.

Three Areas Lose Garbage Collections

The privately-run garbage service in Langford, Colwood and Metchosin came to an end today.

A statement from A. W. Patenaude, who ran the service, said it is being discontinued "as of Jan. 15."

About 15,000 persons live in the unincorporated area. The statement said service to Sooke will continue.

The service was ended because of lack of necessary support from the community, the statement said.

FRANCHISE

It added that the only way it could be resolved was by the Capital Regional Board giving Mr. Patenaude a franchise and by full discussion on the disposal issue.

(The regional board, however, does not have authority to enter into the garbage disposal business. This is a municiapal responsibility, but Langford, Colwood and Metchosin do not have municipal government. A vote on this is being held Feb. 1.)

Mr. Patenaude could not be reached for further comment this morning. He was working on garbage pickups in Sooke.

Last weekend, he said his service was running three to four weeks behind schedule because of recent snow and flu.

But what worried him, he said then, was where garbage will be dumped (see story on page 21) and some guarantee to enable purchase of new equipment.

He has 1950 and 1956 trucks for garbage collection. Pickup cost was $1 a month for those who wanted it.

Colwood Plaza, meanwhile, has three large containers for public garbage dumping.

'Worst In Canada' Label Hung On Waiting Lists at Hospitals

By PETE LOUDON

A national survey of hospital waiting lists gives Victoria the title of "worst in Canada" a Victoria doctor claims.

And he lays the blame on the regional hospital board for "dragging its feet or being ineffective."

Oak Bay alderman, Dr. G. Scott Wallace, said a survey of 82 Canadian hospitals, each with more than 200 beds, was recently carried out. Sixty hospitals replied.

"Of them, we have the worst waiting list in Canada, the longest wait for (treatment of) elective conditions —10 months for some of them in Victoria.

"HELL OF A MESS"

"It proves the hell of a mess we're in."

Dr. Wallace said the survey, which was circulated among doctors at a Victoria Medical Society meeting, puts Victoria third from the top of the list as to the number of people per thousand of population who are waiting hospital admission.

"The regional hospital district board doesn't seem to be convinced of the desperate urgency. A referendum was passed in October approving creation of 600 extended care beds (to relieve pressure on acute care beds at Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals).

"Early proposals were for 200 at Mount St. Mary's Hospital, 200 at St. Mary's Priory, 150 at Gorge Road Hospital. (Twenty were for Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges and 30 to be planned later. Subsequently, Health Minister Ralph Loffmark asked the board to decide the allocations after the vote was passed.)

"Not one of these hospitals has been extended a nickel for planning. The board hasn't done a darn thing," said the doctor.

"The regional board has sidetracked issued of importance. Mayor Hawes (Oak Bay's delegate to the regional district and the regional hospital district) says the board must first decide ownership of the hospitals.

"This has nothing to do with it and it's a waste of time to debate it." Dr. Wallace said that regardless of ownership all acute care hospitals in the past have operated on public funds.

He said the provincial health department has issued a booklet citing basic requirements for extended care units which would qualify for operational grants "but not one scrap of planning has been permitted at any one of the three hospitals earlier mentioned as logical sites for extended care beds.

Dr. Wallace said the regional hospital district board met last on December 18 and does not meet again until Jan. 29.

"This is a public scandal that elected officials should adopt this attitude. They are devoid of any sense of urgency. Three thousand people are waiting beds and it is in the nature of a crisis."

Dr. Wallace said he has spent the most frustrating 13 months of his life serving on council. He was motivated by a desire to help solve the hospital bed shortage "the most pressing, critical problem of the community."

But he had been able to accomplish nothing. Only the mayor in Oak Bay is serving on the regional district board.

Dr. Wallace went on to say the regional hospital district board has chosen to ignore recommendations by the Greater Victoria Hospitals' Advisory Board which is made up of hospital administrators and doctors.

NO MENTION

Instead the hospital district board has set up its own advisory committee drawn from elected board members, aldermen and mayors.

He said Oak Bay Mayor Fred Hawes gave a 6½ page New Year's address without once mentioning the hospital situation" ...

Dr. Wallace said he could hardly fault the people of the capital region for turning down future referendums for acute care hospital beds on the basis "of this lack of performance."

Dr. Wallace was speaking in an interview and said his views were the personal opinions of a doctor and an alderman.

DR. SCOTT WALLACE
... frustrated

CURTIS ISN'T ALARMED

'He's an Explosive Alderman'

Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis, as chairman of the regional hospital board, today practised some verbal surgery on Dr. G. Scott Wallace.

"He has established a reputation for being an explosive alderman in Oak Bay. And I read his comments in that context," said Mayor Curtis.

Commenting on Dr. Wallace's charges that Victoria has the worst hospital waiting lists in Canada and the hospital district is dragging its feet, Mayor Curtis said:

"This (the survey) is not new information. I've not seen it but I'm aware of its findings.

"The regional hospital district has just celebrated its first anniversary. The record of our first year is not something to be ashamed of.

"We picked up a crash program which already was in progress and carried it through and it is just seven or eight months since we received the Agnew, Peckham study (on local hospital needs).

"We took it to a successful referendum when some hospital people were expressing grave doubts it could be done in the same year as the study.

"Dr. Wallace, since he is not a member of the hospital district board, is not aware of what steps we have taken. I'm not yet alarmed over the amount of time passed since the referendum was voted."

Commenting on Dr. Wallace's statement that the district board is ignoring the professionals of the hospitals' advisory board by naming its own sub-cimmittee as an advisory board, the mayor said;

"He's reading something into that (action) that doesn't exist."

Mayor Curtis said the timing of the appointment of the advisory sub-committee might indicate a down-grading of the professional committee. But this is not intended.

The sub-committee was set up as a checking device to save time for the board.

"We have to rely, must rely on the professionals in the field.

"Dr. Wallace's comments were not unexpected. He's an explosive individual."

FOUR ROOKIE Soviet cosmonauts, riding two spaceships in earth orbits, are shown together on the grounds of the Kremlin in Moscow. Reds Rendezvous In Space

MOSCOW (CP)—The Soviet Union today launched Soyuz 5, carrying three cosmonauts, apparently to rendezvous with fourth cosmonaut, Vladimir Shatlov, who hurtled into earth orbit Tuesday aboard Soyuz 4.

Tass said the three rookie cosmonauts aboard Soyuz 5 all "feel fine."

They are ship commander Boris Volynov, flight engineer Alexei Yeliseyev and research engineer Yevgeny Khrunov.

Radio Moscow said the two spaceships have begun to carry out "joint experiments." Aims of the dual manoeuvres were not immediately made public.

This is the first time since June, 1963, that the Soviet Union has attempted a space feat involving two manned ships. It is also the first Soviet mission with four cosmonauts in orbit simultaneously.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the new ship was placed "on a calculated orbit around the earth," and observers here felt the two ships would possibly link up in space.

Radio Moscow said Soyuz 5 established radio contact with Shatalov aboard Soyuz 4 within seconds of going into orbit.

Both craft are within sight of each other.

Soyuz is the Russian word for "union."

Manned Space Station?

BOCHUM (Reuters) — West German space expert Heinz Kaminski, director of the Bochum tracking station, said today that the Soviet Union apparently is preparing to build a manned space station in earth orbit.

He predicted that the launching of the three-man spaceship Soyuz 5 today to join the Soyuz 4 craft already in orbit would be followed by a novel rendezvous experiment.

Secret Constitutional Talks

Retain Monarchy!

OTTAWA (CP) — A republic instead of a monarchy and a congressional legislative system instead of a Parliament, met little enthusiasm at secret federal-provincial constitutional talks in the past year.

This is revealed by confidential reports of the continuing committee prepared for the conference resumption next month.

The reports also show that changes were proposed for the Senate and the Supreme Court of Canada.

A proposal to change Canada's name to "The Canadian Union" is included among a variety of suggestions, some discussed in detail and some not yet examined.

On the name change, the committee says the aim was to "better reflect the nature of Canada as a federation of states and an association of two nations."

The committee of top public servants representing the 11 governments took a preliminary look at a republican government and congressional system, evidently proposed by Quebec.

In reporting on the monarchy versus a republic, the report says:

"These propositions seem to indicate that while opposition to a change would exist in some parts of the country, other parts feel that serious consideration should at least be given to the alternative.

"It seems apparent that symbolic factors associated with these forms are of great importance in Canada."

And on a congressional versus a parliamentary system, the report says:

"Again these propositions seem to suggest that views across the country vary, with considerable opposition to change, but with a view in some quarters that possible advantage of a different system should at least be explored."

In the committee's debate, a suggestion was made that one form might be preferable for the federal government and the other for certain provinces.

Snow To Fall Overnight

The snow which started in Victoria this morning likely will accumulate tonight.

Weather officials say depths should vary from one to six inches depending on locations.

Northern sections of the Saanich peninsula and higher elevations are in line for the heaviest snow shovelling.

Warmer temperatures Thursday should hasten the melt with mixed rain and snow showers.

Unstable air for the past week has brought intermittent snow to almost all parts of the island except Victoria. Now a low pressure area sitting off the coast has split and is bringing air from the north and northeast.

This will bring temperatures down and slow the melt until Thursday when snow showers may persist but should melt on contact.

FILL OF SNOW

Elsewhere on the Island and lower mainland, residents have had their fill of snow. Nanaimo has 11 inches on the ground, Comox-Courtenay area still has an inch and Port Alberni now has 33 inches and shovelled walks resemble tunnels.

Heavy snow brought down a storage shed roof there Tuesday and some residents were fearful homes might collapse. Fuel delivery is a problem, particularly for the elderly.

On the bright side, police have reserved four hills for sleighriding — ironically on the same day that schools were reopened. Board officials said snow has stopped and city roads are open and no further school interruptions are anticipated.

SNOWING HEAVILY

Tofino still has 11 inches. A 14-inch fall closed Tofino-Port Alberni highway. Duncan and Cowichan area generally had only a dusting of snow overnight but it was snowing heavily in all areas at press time.

Duncan RCMP have asked that all trucks use chains because some with snow tires have been jack-knifing on hills.

At Port Alice snow and ice were blamed for a school bus

WILSON URGES TALKS IN '70, VENUE CHANGE

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson suggested today the next prime ministers' conference be held next year in another country.

While several countries have offered their capitals, Canada hasn't made up its mind whether to make an offer, an official said.

Wilson's suggestion came during the morning session.

Prime Minister Trudeau attended the morning session but an official said he didn't offer Ottawa as a possbile site for the next conference. Kenya and Barbados offered their capitals.

Biafrans Approached —Trudeau

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau said tonight that Nigeria has informed Canadian officials that it is prepared to negotiate with the secessionist state of Biafra without conditions.

He said Canadian officials, on his instructions, approached Biafran authorities here after a group of Commonwealth prime ministers urged Nigeria to negotiate.

The meeting of the prime ministers took place just before noon today.

Pierre Lashes Reporters; 'Crummy' Lot

By DAVE McINTOSH

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau lashed out tonight at the English-language press in Canada for its coverage of his social activities during the Commonwealth summit conference here.

He accused newspaper, radio and television reporters of "pretty crummy behavior" and said that perhaps it might be a good idea to have police files on their social activities.

He said the French-language press had acted "very correctly."

But perhaps the police should investigate girls taken out by English-language Canadian reporters.

Trudau did not specify the source of his anger but was apparently referring to interviews given by blonde divorcee Eva Rittinghausen after he took her out to lunch Jan. 4, the day of his arrival in London.

CALLS REPORTERS BACK

Trudeau's outburst came at the end of a news conference about the conclusions reached by the Commonwealth conference. Reporters were leaving when Trudeau suddenly called them back to say that his private life is not public property.

"I once said that the state has no place in the bedrooms of the nation," he said.

"I now say that the press has no place in the bedrooms of the state."

Trudeau accused reporters of "very bad taste" and "pretty poor form."

They had pestered girls he had taken on dates, including English actress Jennifer Hales whom he had taken out twice.

Trudeau said he has cancelled a date for tonight and also appointments with persons he had intended to see privately in Rome.

He said the press had set itself up as a judge of public and his morality.

"You can't lose respect for a man because he is in politics," Trudeau said.

"I don't ask you about your relations with your wives," he added.

Asked whether his words were on or off the record, Trudeau said he does not care.

"You can stuff them anywhere you want," he said.

"It's none of your damn business what anybody thinks about me," Trudeau said.

He accused the British press of acting in an "ungentlemanly way."

London newspapers first reported his lunch meeting with Eva Rittinghausen.

He said his date on two occasions, Miss Hales, had been pestered after their first night club date Jan. 6.

The press had pestered "girlfriends of mine in Canada."

Reporters, he added, are a "pretty lousy lot."

Times News Services

LONDON — General agreement that Red China "has the right and duty to participate in full in all the world's efforts towards peace" and that Peking should be able to "take its rightful place in the international community" was expressed by the Commonwealth leaders in today's official communique.

This was seen as a call for worldwide recognition of the Peking government.

Australia and some of its friends added the qualifier that the people of Nationalist China should have the right of "an independent existence" if they choose.

A majority urged that any British-Rhodesian settlement should be put to the test of a popular referendum or some similar democratic process.

ASSURANCE GIVEN

British Prime Minister Wilson met their call with an assurance that a referendum could be one of the methods used to test the reaction of all black and white Rhodesians to any deal he may reach with rebel Premier Ian Smith, the white-minority leader.

The passage on Rhodesia and southern Africa generally, packing politically the most explosive issues of the eight-day talks, dominated the document.

But the communique covered most other aspects of the discussions by the heads of government — from the war in Vietnam to Guyana's feud with Venezuela over disputed frontiers.

They expressed hope that the Record U.S. Budget, Cut in War Spending

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—President Johnson today forecast a 12 per cent cut in Vietnam war spending as he presented his final federal budget, calling for record spending totaling $195,300,000,000.

The outgoing president said his decision to end the bombing of North Vietnam would help trim military and aid costs of the Asian war for the first time—by nearly $3,500,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Johnson announced the Vietnam economy plan in submitting his final budget to congress, just five days before retiring from the White House. It was the first balanced federal budget since 1960.

He predicted a $3,400,000,000 surplus for the 1969-70 financial year, and said the balance sheet for the current year, 1968-69, also would yield a surplus of about $2,400,000,000.

Johnson's projections — reversing a post-war record $25,200,000,000 deficit in 1967-68 — were based on plans to continue a 10-per-cent income tax surcharge, enacted last year to check growing inflation.

Total government outlays for 1969-70 were estimated at $195,300,000,000, up $11,600,000,000 over the current year and an all-time record. Budget receipts were projected at $198,700,000,000.

Johnson allocated $81,500,000,000 for total defence spending, an increase of $500,000,000. Foreign military aid is planned to stay at the current level, $375,000,000.

Johnson called on Congress to vote for new welfare programs costing nearly $8,000,000,000.

SOCIAL SECURITY HIKE

His most striking new proposal was for legislation to increase social security benefits an average of 13 per cent with higher payroll levies to pay for them.

There would be a basic 10 per cent increase for all 25,000,000 Americans now on Social Security, an increase to $80 from $55 in the monthly minimum payment, and a $100 minimum for individuals who have paid social security taxes for at least 20 years.

To finance this, the president recommended raising the taxable wage base to $9,000 from the present $7,800 and advancing by one year, to Jan. 1, 1970, the next scheduled jump in the payroll tax rate for both employer and employee to 5.2 per cent from 4.8 per cent.

Johnson proposed that Medicare be extended to 2,000,000 disabled persons, that an additional $2,000,000,000 be put into the state-run Medicaid program of health care for indigent families.

PEACE HOPES BRIGHTER

In a farewell to the Congress Tuesday night President Johnson declared that prospects for peace in Vietnam "are better today" than at any time since U.S. intervention more than four years ago.

Speaking of "challenge and opportunity" facing the United States, Mr. Johnson took pride in the domestic accomplishments of his more than five years in the White House. He coupled the pride with a warning that to break the unfulfilled promises of his administration "would be a tragedy for our country."

There was no partisan word, however, in the Johnson finale. There was praise by name for Republican and Democratic presidents and congressional leaders as the president recalled his first appearance in the halls of Congress as a doorkeeper 38 years ago.

There was good news for members of Congress, a recommendation for a salary boost from the current $35,000 a year to $42,500 plus "an adequate allowance for official expenses."

The one new domestic proposal was for creation of an urban development bank, a scheme

JAIL TERM FOR 2 CONVICTIONS

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson today indicated he is intensifying his crackdown on flagrantly erring motorists.

He said he has recommended to the federal government that the Criminal Code be amended to provide mandatory jail sentences for a second conviction of driving while a licence is under suspension.

Mr. Peterson said he also has asked the Motor Vehicles Branch to look into the possibility of increasing provincial penalties for similar situations.

French Forces May Aid Lebanon

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle and his cabinet met here today amid growing speculation that France might send a military force to Lebanon.

Such a move probably would prove highly unpopular with Frenchmen, many of whom are still indignant with the authoritarian way in which de Gaulle last week clamped a total ban on arms shipments to Israel following an Israeli raid on Beirut airport Dec. 28.

The French foreign office said that France "would not stay indifferent if Lebanon is threatened"—a statement interpreted by political observers in Paris as at least a moral commitment to help the Arab country in the event of an Israeli attack.

France administered Lebanon under a League of Nations mandate from 1920 to 1941.

Youth Jumps From Ferry

Search and rescue authorities have called off a search for a 16-year-old youth who jumped overboard from a B.C. Ferry between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay late Tuesday afternoon.

They identified the youth as David Chou, son of Dr. L. Y. Chou of Vancouver.

A B.C. Ferry Authority spokesman said the youth went overboard when the ferry was about two miles out of the Tsawwassen terminal. The vessel, Queen of Esquimalt, doubled back several times before proceeding to Swartz Bay.

Four ships, including the Coast Guard cutter Racer, and two helicopters joined the search but gave up after three hours.

Witnesses said the youth, a Grade 11 student at Shawnigan Lake School, stripped off his clothing, jumped overboard and began swimming towards the Tsawwassen pier.

He is presumed drowned.

25 Killed In Carrier Blasts, Fire

HONOLULU (Reuters) — The search continued in the Pacific today for possible survivors blasted overboard by fire and explosions which killed at least 25 men aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise Tuesday.

In Pearl Harbor, navy experts probed the damaged areas of the Enterprise under the glare of floodlight.

Capt. Kent Lee, 45, commander of the stricken vessel—the world's biggest warship—said 25 men were known to have been killed, about 85 injured and 17 other of the 4,600-man crew were unaccounted for after the fire which occurred at sea 75 miles southeast of Hawaii.

At least 15 aircraft were destroyed out of about 30 on deck at the time of the disaster, and others were damaged.

The ship's eight nuclear reactors were not involved in the accident.

Lee told reporters on returning to port that the fires began with an explosion in the vicinity of an F-4 Phantom jet on the afterflight deck, about 100 feet from the stern of the 1,123-foot long ship.

'CAVEMEN' LIVED THE LONGEST DAY

NICE (Reuters)—After five months of living in a deep cave, two Frenchmen surfaced Wednesday thinking the date was Nov. 15.

Without clocks or time checks with the surface, they adopted a 48-hour cycle as their routine "day" in the natural cavern 200 feet underground.

Experiment organizer Michel Siffre said the men were awake 36 hours and slept 12 in the belief all this was done in 24 hours.

They had contact with the surface by telephone. Most of the time they wore nine electrodes in contact with their bodies to register physical and psychological reactions which were recorded above ground.

Attendants carried food part of the way into the cave, the experimenters left their plastic tents to get it.

Siffre said he believes a 96-hour rhythm, including 74 hours of activity and 22 hours of unbroken sleep, can be attained.

Philippe Englander, 28, said he read 400 books. Blinking behind thick, smoked glasses against daylight, Englander said: "The worst was the humidity and the impossibility of talking with anyone."

His cavern mate, Jacques Chabert, 30, encamped 100 yards away, read about 100 books on sociology. He said "the certainty that the experiment will be useful to man helped me to go through with it."

Crew Errors Blamed For Jetliner Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — Crew errors were the probable cause of the crash of a Boeing 707 airliner at Vancouver last Feb. 7 that claimed two lives, the transport department announced today.

The report of transport department investigators said the aircraft captain, Albert Edward Burkhalter, 49, failed to evaluate weather information and to discontinue a landing attempt when visibility was too poor.

The airliner, a Standard Airways plane operated for Canadian Pacific, crashed on landing at Vancouver International Airport on a flight from Honolulu.

The report says there was "recorded evidence of dissension" between the captain and First Officer Thomas Harold Johnson, 37, during the approach and landing.

City Pilot Killed

COLD LAKE, Alta. (CP)—Searchers have found the body of CF-104 Starfighter pilot Lieut. R. B. Kaiser, 22, of Victoria, who crashed about 50 miles southwest of here.

The wreckage of the aircraft, on a routine training flight from Cold Lake, was found by a helicopter.

Toronto Advances Firmly

Industrials and western oils led a strong advance on the Toronto stock market today.

New York scored its second consecutive gain, but by the close its early advance had been whittled.

Industrials led the Montreal market upwards in active early afternoon trading.

AT TORONTO, final volume was 5,062,000 shares compared with 5,765,000 Tuesday.

In industrials, Weldwood gained 2¾ to 27½, Hand Chemical A 1⅞ to 26¾, Canadian Goldale 1½ to 32½ and Dylex Diversified 1½ to 25. Oshawa A lost 1¾ to 37¼.

Husky Oil was up 2½ to 24¼, Dome Pete 2½ to 85½, Asamera 2 to 24½ and Canadian Superior 1 to 61½.

Denison Mines advanced 2½ to 73, Pine Point 1⅝ to 45⅛ and Quebec Lithium 70 cents to $5.50. New Quebec Raglan fell ½ to 10½.

AT NEW YORK, during the morning the market, as measure by the averages, spurted in a resumption of the rally that developed Tuesday. As the session wore on prices eroded and the trading pace slackened.

Investors apparently were letting their early enthusiasm for favorable economic news lapse under the uncertain expectations of what the new Nixon administration would do in regard to economic policies.

AT MONTREAL, Famous Players climbed ¼ to 69, Alcan ⅞ to 31 following the announcement of a U.S. dividend of 27½ cents per common share, Radio Engineering ¾ to 45 and Velcro ½ to 48.

Eddy Match fell 2½ to 21½ and Canadian Marconi ¼ to 7¼.

Banks declined after a general rise following the announcement of an increase of base interest rates with Bank of Nova Scotia retreating ¼ to 25½.

Husky Oil advanced 2⅛ to 24. Denison 1½ to 72 and Coronation 15 cents to $3.75 in senior mines and oils.

Merrill climbed 90 cents to $5.15, Agassiz 5 cents to $1.14 and Tache 1 cent to 16 cents in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT VANCOUVER, Whonnock Lumber continued its meteoric rise, gaining $2.25 to $28,25.

On Dec. 9 the stock was trading at $12 and has risen steadily since then.

Magnum was the biggest gainer in the mines adding .55 to $5.10 on 50,000 shares. Churchill was up .50 at $9.95, Adera added .21 to $1.95 and was the heaviest trader at 276,000 shares. Copper Ridge put on .22 to $2.70 and Northwest Ventures gained .20 to $2.63.

In the industrials, E.D.P. lost .25 to $21 but Block Bros. added a like amount to $18.75.

Stampede gained .50 to $11.75 in the oils, Bata put on .10 to $6 but Plains Pete lost .04 to .70.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Some heavy liquidation developed toward noon in rapeseed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, wiping out substantial gains posted at the opening. Declines ranged from ½ to 3¾ cents under the previous close.

However, fairly good export interest maintained and prices appeared to be steady.

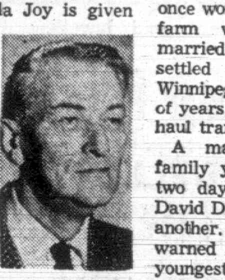
VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15, 1969 —PAGE 23

Bright eyes and roguish smile make it hard to believe that Florenda Joy Dick, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick, 355 Gorge Road, stands desperately in need of help. An operation to mend congenital heart defects has been scheduled for early March at famed Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. The question: Will Florenda be able to keep that date with life?

Arthur Mayse

In this pleasant city of ours, there lives a little girl whom I think you would like to meet.

Her name is Florenda Joy Dick. She has long, natural-blonde hair. Her eyes are blue, her smile is happy and she's as sweet a six-year-old as you'd find in a month of Sundays. If she lives to be 16, I expect she will break hearts.



But it's a mighty large "if." Unless Florenda Joy is given the help she so urgently needs, and which her parents are unable to provide, her own heart will fail her before she reaches her teens.

Her prospect . . . creeping senility, and death in her springtime.

Florenda Joy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick, who share rented quarters with their three children at 355 Gorge Road. She started grade one at Tillicum Elementary last September; she loves school, and is a bright and eager beginner.

Her heart needs mending, and soon, but today she feels fine and her world is bright.

I first heard about Florenda and the dark shadow across her life from a registered nurse who is a friend of the family.

She is Mrs. Edward Barbin of 546 Linden Avenue. This is what she told me:

"I know a very good, decent couple whose little daughter has a congenital heart condition. Unless the defects are corrected, she won't live to grow up. The doctors have recommended that she go to Mayo Clinic at Rochester for an operation that can give her a normal, healthy life. Her parents mean to give her that chance, even though it will keep them in debt for the rest of their lives."

★

I phoned Florenda's people, and on Sunday evening, went out to visit. David and Sadie Dick had just returned from evening service at Glad Tidings Tabernacle on North Park Street.

Florenda had been allowed to stay up past her eight o'clock bedtime. Shy with strangers, she regarded me solemnly from her father's knee. She looks like a perfectly healthy child; and so far, except for the fact that she tires easily, her heart defects have not impeded her.

It is hard to believe that she goes to Tillicum only on the understanding that an ambulance can be summoned for her at any moment of her school day.

Her father, who hopes to return to his job with a paving firm when the weather squares away, started her toward bed. Then he and Sadie Dick, a nurses' aide, told me about Florenda Joy and the terrible problem that has moved from the background to the forefront of their lives.

David, a coast man who once worked a small mainland farm with his brothers, married a Manitoba girl. They settled down not far from Winnipeg, and for a number of years, he worked as a long-haul transport driver.

A man with a growing family yearns for more than two days a month at home. David Dick traded that job for another. The couple were warned that some day their youngest would require an operation for which surgical skills were still in the development stage. Florenda, however, wasn't a "blue baby" — far from it. They had a generous allowance of time.

Sadie and David Dick have always done for themselves. They told me, while we sat in their neat living room, that they have never been on welfare, or asked help of anyone.

★

Something over a year ago, David brought his wife and children out to Victoria. Sadie fell in love with the city at sight. They both found work; but what with the needs and minor emergencies that confront any growing family, their expenses never much more than matched their income.

Then, last fall, they learned from a Victoria heart specialist that for Florenda Joy, time was running out. She had reached a peak of condition that she is unlikely to attain again. She could slope off from this peak at any time — and once the downward trend sets in, the end is predictable.

Sadie Dick, a quiet, brown-haired woman with worry on her face, spoke softly.

"We're a close family," she said, "and we'd do anything to save her. We always thought we could raise the money when the time came, but it looks now as if we won't be able to borrow a fraction of what's needed."

Florenda Joy, who had been getting ready for bed with numerous squeaks and giggles, trotted in. She wore flowered flannelette pajamas, and she looked like a pint-sized angel.

She kissed her mother, ventured a smile at me, then skipped over to her dad. David bent for a hug.

"Alright, Sam," he told her, "Away you go now!"

"Sam" is his pet-name for her. Like her brother and sister, this is a much-loved child.

But she is a child on the edge of trouble that only a generous city's love for all its children can avert and that's why I bring her case to you.

(Tomorrow: More about Florenda Dick, the child without a future, and the highly-complex open heart surgery that can give her one.)

CURTIS SIGHS RELIEF

Welcomes Authority Of Pollution Board

A cabinet decision to give the disputed jurisdiction over air and water controls to the Pollution Control Board was hailed today by regional board chairman Mayor Hugh Curtis of Saanich.

"If the Pollution Control Board, as it appears, is to be the determining authority then this is good news for taxpayers in the capital region, both from the dollar-saving and aesthetic points of view," Mayor Curtis said.

"We will undoubtedly have good standards to which we must conform in the disposal of sewage.

VINDICATION

"It's a vindication of the stand taken by the regional district.

"I'm very relieved and satisfied."

Mayor Curtis, supported by other civic leaders here, bitterly attacked Health Minister Ralph Loffmark's past statements that the health department would impose minimum standards for clean air and pure water to protect the public.

'TOO TOUGH'

The Greater Victoria mayors condemned Mr. Loffmark's attitude as too tough and repeatedly claimed the health minister was speaking only for himself and not cabinet.

The decision to reserve jurisdiction to the PCB was made at Monday's cabinet meeting.

Both Resources Minister Ray Williston, in charge of the PCB, and Mr. Loffmark confirmed that a long-prepared code for health department air and water standards had been shunted back for restudy as a result of the cabinet decision.

NO CONFLICT

But both also vehemently denied there had ever been internal cabinet conflict over the jurisdiction question,

Mr. Loffmark said he withdrew the standards he took to the cabinet meeting for consideration because part of his department including himself did not feel they should be adopted with further modification.

And Mr. Williston—in an obvious slam at a report in Tuesday's Times—said reports which "try to whip up conflict" between the health and resources authorities over pollution control are completely unjustified.

'ADMINISTRATIVE'

"This kind of conflict simply doesn't exist," Mr. Williston insisted.

"This is basically an administrative matter.

"The health department can come out any time it chooses with common standards for air and water purity for the guidance of health units and the municipalities they serve.

"But provincial standards can only be implemented through the Pollution Control Board."

DAVE CAMPBELL
. . . "can't sit around"

ONE-WAYS SAFER, FASTER

A city accident survey shows Yates and Fort Streets are carrying their one-way traffic not only faster but more safely.

Over-all traffic volume on Victoria's first paired one-way streets is up 20 per cent, traffic engineer Dave Campbell said today.

But a comparison of accidents last November with the same month a year before shows there were 12 mishaps each month. Not only has the increased flow not increased accidents but those since the streets became one-way have been less severe.

There were no head-on or angle collisions in November, Mr. Campbell said. Four of the crashes were rear-end collisions and five resulted from changing lanes improperly.

Fort became eastbound only and Yates westbound from Wharf Street to the Dardanelles last September with the intention of reducing downtown congestion, said Mr. Campbell.

LESS TIME

Studies show the change has done the job with travel time chopped 18 per cent on Fort and 20 per cent on Yates despite increased volumes.

While traffic on average is up 20 per cent, on Yates east of Cook it has jumped 100 per cent. An average of almost 11,000 vehicles go west there now in contrast to 5,440 both ways before the change.

Traffic counts the week before Christmas in the 700-block Fort showed another jump of 22 per cent in the holiday shopping rush. The same block on Yates showed a 10 per cent increase.

Mr. Campbell said the city faces a 7 per cent annually jump in traffic volume "and we just can't sit around and hope it will go away."

Fitness 69 Thrown Open To All Ages

Fitness 69 starts officially at noon Friday when cyclists take part in a three-mile ride through Beacon Hill Park and along Dallas Road waterfront.

The event will inaugurate the YM-YWCA-sponsored program for fitness among adults.

Some of the cyclists will be setting out on the first stage of the 750 miles they must pedal during the next six months to qualify for the prize, a silver teaspoon.

Meanwhile, registration in the other Fitness 69 activities, walking, jogging and swimming, is "going like a house on fire," Y physical director Art Burgess said.

By Wednesday upwards of 100 had paid their $1 registration fee at the YM-YWCA building.

●

Jan. 24 will see the walking event get into high gear, as members of the Silver Threads Service take part in a brisk stroll through the city. Walking has been included especially for middle-aged and elderly persons who could not be expected to undertake more strenuous forms of physical activity.

While walkers trudge out the 250 miles they must cover during the next six months, (it averages out to about 10 miles a week), joggers will be attempting to run 100 miles, while swimmers go to work on their 25-mile quota.

The Y fitness committee decided earlier this week that due to popular demand it will draw up a special mileage card to enable participants to enter more than one event. For example, someone whose basic activity consists of jogging will be able to convert the distance he swims or pedals into running miles.

●

Another new twist was added to Fitness 69 Tuesday when the fitness committee decided to throw the program open to the under-18 age group, following several inquiries from people who were "quite upset" that children had been excluded.

Mr. Burgess said organizers had originally felt Fitness 69 should be aimed at adults, who usually have a greater need for keeping fit.

"Adults are more concerned about fitness — kids haven't had time to wear out. Now we find some kids want to take part in the program because their parents are doing it."

Battle Starts Against Unique Insurance Plan

Labelled Threat To Tourist Trade

By JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Opponents of the compulsory driver insurance plan on a "no-fault" basis proposed by the Wootton Royal Commission today began public campaigning against its implementation.

Greater Vancouver Visitors' and Convention Bureau president Frank Bernard blasted the proposal as a threat to the tourist industry and indicated other groups are lining up to make their criticisms on the eve of the legislature's opening next week.

Mr. Bernard, in a telephone interview from Vancouver, told The Times his bureau has completed studies initiated immediately after the Wootton report's release last fall and is seeking an appointment with the provincial cabinet to express its opposition.

"It may be next week but we're not sure yet because it's a matter of timing," he said.

"There are so many other sectors of the ecomony which wish to make their points against it (the commission's report) and we have to decide whose turn will be first."

However, a public relations spokesman for the auto insurance industry in B.C. said studies they launched on the impact and methods of implementing the report still haven't been completed and it is not known when the industry will make a statement or if it will ask for a meeting with cabinet.

READY TO TALK

"But we are on record as being willing to meet with cabinet if they wish and are willing to co-operate in any study or discussions," the spokesman recalled.

Mr. Bernard said the visitors' bureau told deputy travel industry minister Ronald Worley that it opposed the report when it was released "just to get us on the record while we studied it."

As a result of the study, the bureau has attacked the principal and most controversial change proposed by the commission that insurance benefits be paid immediately after an accident to everyone suffering damage regardless of fault, leaving traffic courts to punish rule-breakers.

'AT OWN RISK'

A corollary of this recommendation was that out-of-province drivers be covered by the same provisions while in B.C. — protecting them from civil suits in accidents but also denying them the right to sue for more than the $20,000 death benefit per person or set scale of injury compensation.

"No other area in North America denies the right of a driver to sue," Mr. Bernard said.

"We would become an island of two million people in a sea of 200 million.

"In fact, we would have to say to the potential visitor: visit beautiful British Columbia—but at your own risk."

Keynote Talk By Ex-City Principal

About 250 B.C. high school students heading for teaching careers will hear of developments and trends in the profession at the University of Victoria Jan. 29 to Feb. 1.

It is the 11th annual Future Teachers' Conference and Uvic is hosting it for the second time. The program has been organized by the teacher undergraduates with the blessings of the education faculty and the department of education.

Among subjects to be discussed will be progress in education of B.C. Indians, visual aids in the school, the position of French in the school and individualized learning.

Keynote speaker at a banquet Feb. 1 will be B.C. Gillie, superintendent of schools in the Northwest Territories and a former principal at Victoria's S. J. Willis junior secondary school.

Michael Farr, third-year education student and conference co-ordinator, said the Education Undergraduate Society is trying to find billets for about 220 out-of-town students.

Three Areas Lose Garbage Collections

The privately-run garbage service in Langford, Colwood and Metchosin came to an end today.

A statement from A. W. Patenaude, who ran the service, said it is being discontinued "as of Jan. 15."

About 15,000 persons live in the unincorporated area. The statement said service to Sooke will continue.

The service was ended because of lack of necessary support from the community, the statement said.

FRANCHISE

It added that the only way it could be resolved was by the Capital Regional Board giving Mr. Patenaude a franchise and by full discussion on the disposal issue.

(The regional board, however, does not have authority to enter into the garbage disposal business. This is a municiapal responsibility, but Langford, Colwood and Metchosin do not have municipal government. A vote on this is being held Feb. 1.)

Mr. Patenaude could not be reached for further comment this morning. He was working on garbage pickups in Sooke.

Last weekend, he said his service was running three to four weeks behind schedule because of recent snow and flu.

But what worried him, he said then, was where garbage will be dumped (see story on page 21) and some guarantee to enable purchase of new equipment.

He has 1950 and 1956 trucks for garbage collection. Pickup cost was $1 a month for those who wanted it.

Colwood Plaza, meanwhile, has three large containers for public garbage dumping.

Malahat Study Gets Response From Drivers

Greater Victoria and District Safety Council's study of what causes accidents on the Malahat is receiving good public response.

General manager Dennis Wagner said criticisms and suggestions have been flowing from the public and a preliminary report will go to safety council executive Feb. 4.

Ask The Times

Q. In 1906-7 Rat Portage, now Kenora, Ont., had a seven-man hockey team that won the 1907 Stanley Cup in Montreal. What was the name of that team? I should also like to know if Tommy Philips, the "Iron Man of Hockey," is in the Hockey Hall of Fame.—J. B. L.

A. In 1907 the Kenora Thistles defeated Montreal 4-2 and 8-6 with Philips scoring seven goals. (He also played with Montreal AAA in 1903 when they won the Stanley Cup.) Yes, he is enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Philips died in Toronto in 1923 at the age of 43.

'Worst In Canada' Label Hung On Waiting Lists at Hospitals

By PETE LOUDON

A national survey of hospital waiting lists gives Victoria the title of "worst in Canada" a Victoria doctor claims.

And he lays the blame on the regional hospital board for "dragging its feet or being ineffective."

Oak Bay alderman, Dr. G. Scott Wallace, said a survey of 82 Canadian hospitals, each with more than 200 beds, was recently carried out. Sixty hospitals replied.

"Of them, we have the worst waiting list in Canada, the longest wait for (treatment of) elective conditions —10 months for some of them in Victoria.

"HELL OF A MESS"

"It proves the hell of a mess we're in."

Dr. Wallace said the survey, which was circulated among doctors at a Victoria Medical Society meeting, puts Victoria third from the top of the list as to the number of people per thousand of population who are waiting hospital admission.

"The regional hospital district board doesn't seem to be convinced of the desperate urgency. A referendum was passed in October approving creation of 600 extended care beds (to relieve pressure on acute care beds at Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals).

"Early proposals were for 200 at Mount St. Mary's Hospital, 200 at St. Mary's Priory, 150 at Gorge Road Hospital. (Twenty were for Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges and 30 to be planned later. Subsequently, Health Minister Ralph Loffmark asked the board to decide the allocations after the vote was passed.)

"Not one of these hospitals has been extended a nickel for planning. The board hasn't done a darn thing," said the doctor.

"The regional board has sidetracked issued of importance. Mayor Hawes (Oak Bay's delegate to the regional district and the regional hospital district) says the board must first decide ownership of the hospitals.

"This has nothing to do with it and it's a waste of time to debate it." Dr. Wallace said that regardless of ownership all acute care hospitals in the past have operated on public funds.

DR. SCOTT WALLACE
. . . frustrated

He said the provincial health department has issued a booklet citing basic requirements for extended care units which would qualify for operational grants "but not one scrap of planning has been permitted at any one of the three hospitals earlier mentioned as logical sites for extended care beds.

Dr. Wallace said the regional hospital district board met last on December 18 and does not meet again until Jan. 29.

"This is a public scandal that elected officials should adopt this attitude. They are devoid of any sense of urgency. Three thousand people are waiting beds and it is in the nature of a crisis."

Dr. Wallace said he has spent the most frustrating 13 months of his life serving on council. He was motivated by a desire to help solve the hospital bed shortage "the most pressing, critical problem of the community."

But he had been able to accomplish nothing. Only the mayor in Oak Bay is serving on the regional district board.

Dr. Wallace went on to say the regional hospital district board has chosen to ignore recommendations by the Greater Victoria Hospitals' Advisory Board which is made up of hospital administrators and doctors.

NO MENTION

Instead the hospital district board has set up its own advisory committee drawn from elected board members, aldermen and mayors.

He said Oak Bay Mayor Fred Hawes gave a "6½-page New Year's address without once mentioning the hospital situation" . . .

Dr. Wallace said he could hardly fault the people of the capital region for turning down future referendums for acute care hospital beds on the basis "of this lack of performance."

Dr. Wallace was speaking in an interview and said his views were the personal opinions of a doctor and an alderman.

CURTIS ISN'T ALARMED

'He's an Explosive Alderman'

Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis, as chairman of the regional hospital board, today practised some verbal surgery on Dr. G. Scott Wallace.

"He has established a reputation for being an explosive alderman in Oak Bay. And I read his comments in that context," said Mayor Curtis.

Commenting on Dr. Wallace's charges that Victoria has the worst hospital waiting lists in Canada and the hospital district is dragging its feet, Mayor Curtis said:

"This (the survey) is not new information. I've not seen it but I'm aware of its findings.

"The regional hospital district has just celebrated its first anniversary. The record of our first year is not something to be ashamed of.

"We picked up a crash program which already was in progress and carried it through and it is just seven or eight months since we received the Agnew, Peckham study (on local hospital needs).

"We took it to a successful referendum when some hospital people were expressing grave doubts it could be done in the same year as the study.

"Dr. Wallace, since he is not a member of the hospital district board, is not aware of what steps we have taken. I'm not yet alarmed over the amount of time passed since the referendum was voted."

Commenting on Dr. Wallace's statement that the district board is ignoring the professionals of the hospitals' advisory board by naming its own sub-cimmittee as an advisory board, the mayor said;

"He's reading something into that (action) that doesn't exist."

Mayor Curtis said the timing of the appointment of the advisory sub-committee might indicate a down-grading of the professional committee. But this is not intended.

The sub-committee was set up as a checking device to save time for the board.

"We have to rely, must rely on the professionals in the field.

"Dr. Wallace's comments were not unexpected. He's an explosive individual."

Pampered Pussums Joins Saver Crew

By PENNY SAVER

Pussums arrived yesterday with a long list of instructions and a book . Pussums is the pampered pet of some friends who asked if we would mind taking care of her while they tour Europe. The Savers were chosen for this manifest honor because Pussums likes us all — even the dog. The only member of the family she hasn't met is George the lizard and I am afraid she may like him a little too much. Actually, Pussums is quite a nice sort to have around. I have spent several orientation sessions with her and she is quite willing to follow my instructions with only the usual amount of questions. For a cat Pussums is very well trained, and quite affectionate—she only bites when being bathed. Her "parents" had a long talk with her before they left, explaining just why she must be as nice as possible with "Aunt Penny," then let her enter the house by herself, the instructions and book poised delicately between her jaws. She didn't even puncture the paper.

The instructions I read immediately, in case I needed some extra supplies for dinner, but the book I saved until I had a moment to spare with Pussums purring on my lap. It is How to Live With a Calculating Cat by Eric Gurney and has given me the first sign that Pussum's owners have any sense of humor regarding their pet. This paperback volume deals with cats and is liberally, and humorously, illustrated. The patter between the pictures is just as humorous, as it gives the history of cats, training hints and a rundown of a cat's human associates, both the pro-catters and the anti-eatters. Just one thing bothered me, though it was clear from her contented smile that Pussums, who was reading over my arm and occasionally stopping me from turning the page until she was finished, thought it was very fine—the cat always seemed to win! This book, which costs $1.25, is a bundle of fun for any cat-owner.

Pot Drainer

No more scalded fingers for me! For years I have suffered through the pot-lid method of draining boiled vegetables. As every housewife knows this method has several built-in liabilities. First, the hot steam rises up and scalds your fingers, assuming, of course, that you haven't already set an unwary finger on the hot metal of the pot or the lid. Then, in reaction to your pain, the lid slips, spilling the vegetables into the sink along with the liquid. For $1.39 I have solved both these problems. This small sum bought me a pan drainer, which does just as well for pots. This is a half-round of metal with slits to let the liquid, and only the liquid through. Crimping along the edge of the metal makes it easy to fit against the edge of the pot or pan. A wooden handle keeps the heat from conducting to your fingers and by the way it is placed protects you from most of the steam. Who ever invented this handy device deserves the housewives' medal of honor.

Ironstone-ware lovers will be glad to hear of the items I saw in this durable material recently. Full dinner sets are available in a pattern known as white wheat. Each piece is creamy white with a wheat-sheaf design embossed on, rather than painted. Flaired tops and sculptured effects give a slightly baroque effect without destroying the match-everything simplicity of the design. The price is right too, with small pitchers at $1.35 and $1.95. A coffee mug with a flaired top that lifts it out of the ranks of the ordinary is 85 cents while for 90 cents there is a cup and saucer set large enough for a hearty cup of java. The most expensive item in the set is a large coffee pot for $8.50.

If you would like to know where to find these items, please call 382-3131.

Hardy Amies Goes Gypsy

LONDON (Reuters) — A Gypsy look is the offering of Hardy Amies to swinging youth for the summer of 1969.

These gypsies are the happy Tziganes of Andalusia, clad in bright reds, yellows and greens, with flaring skirts breathing the spirit of the Flamenco.

Some of Amies' Gypsy girls will be wearing long dresses in gaily-printed chiffon with full, flared skirts and a V-shaped yoke made of multi-colored red, yellow, green, brown and beige painted wooden beads fitting high round the neck.

Others will wear pants suits with wide flared pants legs which look like skirts. For evening wear these culottes come in printed silk or chiffon featuring designs in circles, stripes or diamonds and a variety of color ranging from black on white to grey combined with yellow or pink.

Hospital Auxiliary Elects New Head

Mrs. Arthur Cownden was elected president when the Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital held its annual meeting Tuesday in the auditorium of the nurses' residence.

She was presented with her president's pin and gavel by retiring president Mrs. W. W. Rogers, and conducted her first business of the year by setting the date of the annual bridge tea.

Also elected were Mrs. A. D. Blair, first vice-president; Mrs. N. Ware, second vice-president; Mrs. Ian Douglas, secretary; Mrs. A. H. Marriott, treasurer, and Mrs. Frank Stuart, Mrs. G. R. McKenzie and Mrs. T. Pye, councillors.

Retiring secretary, Mrs. Ron Kay read the annual report, which included summaries from membership secretary, Mrs. N. Ware; the sick committee under Mrs. M. Beesley, treasurer's report, Mrs. A. D. Blair; baby shop, Sister Mary Malachy; the mobile store, Mrs. L. Barraud and Mrs. A. J. Shipley, and the bazaar, Mrs. N. Ware and Mrs. Arthur Cownden.

Among the guests at the meeting were Dr. E. G. Q. Van Tilburg, the hospital's executive director; Patrick B. Blewett, assistant director; Dr. J. Thompson, assistant director (medical); Sister Mary Doris, assistant director (nursing) and W. Stone, director of public relations.

Mrs. Rogers, acting on behalf of the auxiliary, presented Dr. Van Tilburg with a cheque for $5,000. This money will go to buy infant warmers and phototherapy machines valued at $2,100 for the newborn nurseries; a defibrillator with oscilloscope, valued at $1,200 for the operating room, and an electrocardiograph valued at $1,150.

In expressing his thanks, Dr. Van Tilburg noted that during the past year the auxiliary had donated $8.500 to the hospital. He thought this was the largest amount ever given in a single year.

He assured the members that before the hospital decided to purchase new equipment a committee screened all requests from doctors to determine which had priority.

In congratulating the auxiliary on the 38 new members it gained during the year, Dr. Van Tilburg said he felt that the moral support the group gave the hospital was as important as the funds it raised. He asked them to become ambassadors to the community to explain the plight of the acute care facilities.

Retiring president, Mrs. Rogers was presented with a gift from the auxiliary members. Mrs. C. Baker made the presentation.

Following the meeting, the members and guests attended a tea convened by Sister Mary Malachy.

Survey Dispels Theory Of Parental Carelessness

NEW YORK — The greatest cause of death among babies during their first year of life — known to the medical profession as "infant sudden death syndrome" (SDS) — has now been found to be the result of a real illness rather than of parental carelessness.

For generations, parents who have put an apparently healthy infant to bed at night only to find him dead of "suffocation" in the morning, have bitterly blamed themselves for the death of their child.

Now, as the result of a three-year study by a research team headed by Dr. J. Bruce Beckwith, of the University of Washington, such parents can be freed of the terrible burden of guilt that has frequently tortured them throughout their lives.

Infant crib deaths are not predictable nor, perhaps, preventable, according to the findings of the team.

Present evidence indicates that infection causes spasms of the vocal chords which then shut off the air supply and the baby suffocates quietly in his cot.

Deaths of this type frequently lead to family tragedy, said Dr. Abraham Bergman, a member of the team.

The parents condemn themselves for giving the child improper food, for failing to "spot" an illness that should have been reported to the doctor, or for permitting the infant to be suffocated by his bed linen.

Actually, in their study of 118 cases of true SDS, the researchers found that the lungs contained ruptured blood vessels which indicated blocked air passages.

The throats were swollen or inflamed, pointing to the presence of an infection.

The lungs also were congested, and there was an unusually high frequency of viruses present.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Advances Firmly

Industrials and western oils led a strong advance on the Toronto stock market today.

New York scored its second consecutive gain, but by the close its early advance had been whittled.

In industrials, Weldwood gained 2¾ to 27½, Hand Chemical A 1⅞ to 26¾, Canadian Gotiale 1½ to 32½ and Dylex Diversified 1½ to 25. Oshawa A lost 1¾ to 37¼.

Husky Oil was up 2½ to 24¼, Dome Pete 2½ to 85½, Asamera 2 to 24½ and Canadian Superior 1 to 61½.

Denison Mines advanced 2½ to 73, Pine Point 1⅝ to 45⅛ and Quebec Lithium 70 cents to $5.50. New Quebec Raglan fell ½ to 10½.

AT NEW YORK, during the morning the market, as measure by the averages, spurted in a resumption of the rally that developed Tuesday. As the session wore on prices eroded and the trading pace slackened.

Investors apparently were letting their early enthusiasm for favorable economic news lapse under the uncertain expectations of what the new Nixon administration would do in regard to economic policies.

AT MONTREAL, Famous Players climbed ¼ to 69, Alcan ⅞ to 31 following the announcement of a U.S. dividend of 27½ cents per common share, Radio Engineering ¾ to 45 and Velcro ½ to 48.

Eddy Match fell 2½ to 21½ and Canadian Marconi ¼ to 7¼.

Banks declined after a general rise following the announcement of an increase of base interest rates with Bank of Nova Scotia retreating ¼ to 25½.

Husky Oil advanced 2⅛ to 24. Denison 1½ to 72, and Coronation 15 cents to $3.75 in senior mines and oils.

Merrill climbed 90 cents to $5.15, Agassiz 5 cents to $1.14 and Tache 1 cent to 16 cents in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT VANCOUVER, Whonnock Lumber continued its meteoric rise, gaining $2.25 to $28,25.

On Dec. 9 the stock was trading at $12 and has risen steadily since then.

Magnum was the biggest gainer in the mines adding .55 to $5.10 on 50,000 shares. Churchill was up .50 at $9.95, Adera added .21 to $1.95 and was the heaviest trader at 276,000 shares. Copper Ridge put on .22 to $2.70 and Northwest Ventures gained .20 to $2.63.

In the industrials, E.D.P. lost .25 to $21 but Block Bros. added a like amount to $18.75.

Stampede gained .50 to $11.75 in the oils, Bata put on .10 to $6 but Plains Pete lost .04 to .70.

GRAIN

However, fairly good export interest maintained and prices appeared to be steady.
